IL DUCE AGAIN BLOCKS LEAGUE PEACE EFFORT

Committee of 5 Fails to Find Formula.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10.—The latest effort by Europe's harassed statesmen to persuade Premier Mussolini to accept Ethiopia as a gift from the league of nations instead of sending his army in and taking it collapsed today and Geneva has once more worked itself up to a first class crisis.

The fireworks exploded in the league council's committee of five [France, Britain, Spain, Turkey, and Poland] when its chairman, Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, reported that Mussolini's delegate, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, had refused to say yes or no to the compromise which the committee tentatively evolved yesterday.

Drop All Negotiations.

Consequently the committee decided that further attempts to negotiate a settlement of the dispute were useless and that there was nothing to do but work up a solution of its own and submit it to the council at the end of the week.

At the same time the British delegation, taking advantage of the failure of the committee of five and the consequent hue and cry in the press about the Italian intransigeance, prepared to launch a big diplomatic offensive.

Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, had two long talks with Premier Pierre Laval of France. They discussed the speeches they will deliver before the league assembly, Hoare tomorrow and Laval Thursday. It is understood the conversations hinged chiefly on problems of European security.

Britain Raises German Threat.

The British foreign secretary is reported to have raised once more the old threat that if France does not back up Britain against Italy it cannot count in the future on Britain's support against Germany. At the same time it is reported that Hoare promised new and more definit pledges to fulfil British security obligations under the Kellogg pact, the Locarno treaty and the league covenant if Laval did support him.

It is said tonight that Hoare and Laval are in complete agreement and that this entente probably will be reflected in their speeches.

In its consequences, this new crisis may be grave, for the little powers are boiling with indignation and the throwing of the conflict back from the committee of five to the council may provoke a public explosion.

Warns of Troop Movements.

Also, it is not certain that when the Italians realize they have been put on the spot again, Mussolini will abide by the bargain he made with the French to postpone military operations in return for France sponsoring a league mandate over Ethiopia which Emperor Haile Selassie would not accept. Then, the Italians figured, the league would permit them to invade Ethiopia.

The emperor sent a short, ominous telegram to the league this afternoon warning that troop movements on the frontier of Eritrea foreshadowed an imminent Italian offensive.

On the other hand, there is a good deal of artificiality in this crisis. Already there is an outburst of indignation over Italy's refusal "to recognize" the committee of five or to answer its letter calling upon Italy and Ethiopia to refrain from aggression. This outburst was made despite the fact that the Italians already had made it clear they would not give any undertaking to keep the peace and that they would neither recognize nor contest the jurisdiction of the committee—they would just ignore it.

Duce in Rôle of Listener.

The Italian position is to listen to everything and not commit themselves to anything until the league has handed down some official decision. Then they will announce what they are going to do.

Last evening Madariaga saw both Tekla Hawariate, Ethiopian delegate, and Aloisi and submitted to them the tentative scheme proposed at yesterday's meetings, which amounted to an international mandate over Ethiopia and represented an advance over the recent Paris offer in that military control in some form was implied.

Ethiopia's answer, curiously

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Louisiana tonight was preparing to pay its last tribute to the man who ruled it with a rod of iron for eight years. Senator Huey P. Long, who died this morning of an assassin's bullet, is to be given the most impressive funeral the state ever has seen on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At the same time tonight there were indications that the one-man empire carved out of a supposedly Democratic commonwealth is already crumbling; crumbling because there was only one Huey Long; only one dictator. And now there appears to be no lieutenant strong enough to lift the scepter the dead hand let fall.

While Long's followers regarded him as a superman, there were many who saw in his scepter merely the phantom weapon of a motley clown. They didn't live in Louisiana. Bayonets are sharp. Troops are big and tough. Jails are strong. And Louisiana submitted.

The King Is Dead.

But tonight the king is dead. There won't be another if Long's opponents can prevent it. Even the dead chieftain's followers seem to have lost heart. Where guns bristled all around the 5 million dollar palace Senator Long built for a statehouse, tonight visitors see none. They are free to come and go as they will without questions by arrogant police and guardsmen; without a mauling if their answers aren't quick and satisfactory.

Nobody is being searched for weapons at every official door any longer. Doctors are free to give out information again. Political opponents dare raise their heads and make pleas for united action against the régime that held them under foot.

Legislature Now Lacks Pep.

Huey Long's legislature plodded along dispiritedly today on the newest batch of legislation the senator had demanded. But it seems to have less meaning without Huey's strong hand to guide its enactment. The legislature was supposed to end its special session at noon tomorrow. It may do so without even passing some of the most pressing measures before it—those attacking President Roosevelt's administration of federal affairs in the state.

In fact, it became apparent tonight that some part of the mass of legislation passed at Long's behest in the last eight years carries little force without him.

His control of the state resulted through the support of elected officials—Long elected—from whom a figure of lesser personal power will probably not be sure of absolute obedience, or even consistent coöperation.

Laws May Lose Force.

It was considered by some who have observed Louisiana affairs for years that most of these laws, even if not repealed, will slowly lose their dictatorial dynamite and die.

Various boards and commissions, composed of elected members, are expected to revert to the established democratic practice of individual expression, now that they are free again.

Of all Long's lieutenants, Oscar Allen, the governor, is the logical man to take up the toga. But Allen, an ex-Sunday school teacher and a peace-loving individual, has tried to retire from political activities for years. He announced today at a conference of Huey's aids shortly after the senator's death, that the "work would go on," but nonpartisan observers doubted that his heart was in it. He was pledged the coöperation of the other members of the "inner circle," but how much strength they have is yet to be seen.

Body to Lie in Capitol.

The gloom hung heaviest tonight about the capitol where the body of the senator will lie in state for 27 hours, from 1 p. m. tomorrow until 4 p. m. Thursday. After the body has been removed from the rotunda it will be buried in the shadow of the towering 33 story statehouse.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, followed by interment on the capitol grounds.

A picked detail of Louisiana Na-

Early Vote to Restore Greek King Planned

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris came out flatly for a monarchy today to replace Greece's 11 year old republic. Heartened by this step, monarchists held a massmeeting in Constitutional square and cheered the prime minister.

[Former King George II., who for months has been preparing to return to Greece, arrived today on a visit to King George of England at Balmoral castle, Scotland. The former monarch since his dethronement has been divorced from his wife, former Queen Elizabeth, a sister of King Carol of Rumania.]

The capital was quiet after a night of disorder when monarchists and republicans fought outside the doors of the cabinet chamber. Two republican leaders were stabbed with bayonets by guards.

Cabinet to Set Date.

Tsaldaris said in his statement:

"I attribute the nervous tension at present existing in public ranks and the army to general anxiety concerning the question of a constitution. I consider democratic royalty as the natural régime for Greece and ask the people to vote for it in the impending plebiscite."

The cabinet was called into session to set a date for the plebiscite.

Last night's disorders took place when Gen. Panagiotacos, anti-monarchist leader, led a group of republican officers into the cabinet meeting to protest against Tsaldaris' position. Gen. Panagiotacos and his brother, a republican deputy, were bayoneted when monarchist guards sought to arrest them upon orders of Gen. George Kondylis, minister of war. The brothers were taken to a hospital.

Gen. Panagiotacos was forced to resign his command of the First army corps in favor of Gen. Papagos. Later Pericles Rallis, minister of the interior, resigned.

Monarchists in Control.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Restoration of the Greek monarchy is imminent, it is believed from dispatches received here. Monarchists now are in full control of the electoral machinery and thus in a position to secure a favorable verdict even if they do not command a majority of the votes of the Greek people.

Ex-King George of Greece paid a visit today to Balmoral castle, where the British King George is on a holiday.

It was asserted the visit had no political significance but was arranged months ago. However, the visit gives color to the stories of British intrigues to restore the Greek monarchy. These arose following the marriage of the British king's fourth son, the duke of Kent, to the Greek Princess Marina.

COUSINS MARRY; SO DO THEIR CHILDREN; YOU FIGURE IT OUT

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—These people are in-laws, but you figure it out.

Years ago in Russia, Hyman Sugarman and his cousin, Mary, were in love. She came to this country, settling in Syracuse, 32 years ago. Hyman remained in Russia. She married. A son, David, was born.

Hyman came to the United States 12 years ago. He had married in Russia and was the father of a daughter, Sonia, and a son, Max.

A short time ago Mary and Hyman met again. Her husband was dead. His wife was dead. They fell in love again. Romance also blossomed for Sonia and David.

Tonight Sonia became the bride of David.

It all sums up:

The Sugarmans, cousins, are now husband and wife. Mrs. Sugarman's son is her husband's son-in-law as well as step-son. Sonia became Mr. Sugarman's daughter-in-law as well as step-daughter.

David is a step-brother to his wife Sonia. She is her husband's step-sister. They are also distant cousins.

PROPELLER KILLS STEWARDESS OF CHICAGO PLANE

Miss Meta Joan Barch, 23 years old, a stewardess employed by the American Airlines, was killed last night at Chicago airport by the whirling propeller of a plane from which she had just alighted after a flight from Detroit. Miss Barch assisted the passengers in getting off, then she started toward the front of the ship and walked directly into the propeller, witnesses said. The blades fractured her skull. She was pronounced dead at the Holy Cross hospital. Miss Barch lived at 5143 Kenwood avenue.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Red ink—the "mercury" of the business thermometer—is not being purchased in the quantities it was a year ago, George H. Green, stationer, declared today.

Jewish Youth Barred from Nazi Schools

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The law of the ghetto was today ordered applied to Jewish school children, beginning in the spring of 1936, in a decree issued by Bernhard Rust, minister of culture. Rust ruled that "complete racial segregation of German pupils in all schools must be enforced."

"It will be necessary," he said, "to open separate schools for Jewish children. In these schools all children of Jewish parents and children with either a Jewish mother or father will be united. So-called 'quarter Jews,' those with only one Jewish grandparent, will not be included."

Reason for Segregation.

"Racial segregation is necessary," Rust said, "to create a Nazi community of classes on the foundation of German national ideals."

The minister ordered all schools to prepare lists of Jewish or half-Jewish children. Similar decrees will be enforced in private schools, he asserted.

Anti-Jewish agitation in the universities has reduced the number of Jewish students to 656 of a total of 91,480 German students, it was revealed today. Another 660 students were ranked as Jews because they "are not allowed to belong to student associations."

Jewish Doctors Hit.

The Nazi promise to exempt Jewish "front fighters" from penalties has been broken at Munich. The town council has deprived Jewish war veteran physicians of the right to earn a living as social insurance doctors despite the fact that Munich has only 14 such physicians compared with 700 gentile doctors.

In the social insurance building in Munich huge posters denounce the Jews and warn women:

"German women, you dishonor your people when you entrust your body to a Jewish doctor."

The Nazi juridical weekly announces that the supreme court of the Nazi party has ruled that any lawyer will be excluded from the party if he dares to represent a Jew in court or in state offices because "the party finds it is undignified for Nazis to defend Jews."

Slug and Rob Motorist Below Michigan Avenue

As Charles Daly, 433 Briar place, was parking his automobile at Wacker drive and Michigan avenue on the lower level yesterday he was attacked by two men. One of them slugged him with a blackjack, and, as Daly lay helpless, the two stripped his pockets of $200 in cash and fled.

Kelly Suggests 'L' Removal to Cut Loop Noise

Mayor Kelly expressed the belief yesterday that most of the elevated lines' structure in the loop could be removed and the "L" passenger trafic could be accommodated by a street car and bus system with transfer privileges. Elimination of the elevated structure and rerouting of trains would be one means of reducing appreciably the noise in the shopping area, the mayor said.

He declared that the elevated lines could keep on operating in Wells street or that it might be just as feasible to discontinue this service entirely in the loop with the addition of the suggested transfer service. The transportation committee of the city council is now investigating the possibility of removing the "L" structure.

Home Rule Bill Opens Way.

There are two possible methods by which the tracks could be eliminated. One is provided for under the Chicago utility home rule bill which was passed by the legislature and was signed by Gov. Horner on July 1. This measure gives the city new power to control the transportation systems operating in its streets. It will not become law, however, until it is approved in a referendum to be held at the time of the primary election on April 14, 1936.

If the measure is approved the city will have the authority to decide what sort of transit service it will have and where such service must be given. It may require operation of street cars, or buses, or both, in a given street or area. The Illinois commerce commission retains the power to govern rates and financial setups.

New Ordinance Another Medium.

An alternative method of doing away with the loop elevated lines would be by means of the new local transportation ordinance which is now being drafted by aldermen. This ordinance is expected to result in a unified elevated and surface system.

A committee of the city council is studying means of abating noise, in addition to the possibility of removing the loop tracks. This committee is expected to report shortly on what can be done to prevent indiscriminate honking of automobile horns and boat whistles. In New York City an ordinance will become effective on Oct. 1 making it an offense to blow an auto horn between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Aldermen in Gotham.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A group of Chicago aldermen, headed by James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council's committee on local transportation, has been making a "quiet, first hand study" of New York City transportation facilities and problems for the last three days, it was learned tonight.

"Lots of good ideas" have been gleaned for possible application to Chicago problems but pending compilation of a final report on the junket, Ald. Quinn was not prepared to discuss them in any detail.

The committee includes besides Mr. Quinn, Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], chairman of the local traction plan subcommittee; Ald. John Healy [6th], and Engineers Philip Harrington and R. F. Kelker.

Tomorrow the committee plans to study Newark's transit systems. Later it may go to Boston.

Ickes, Hopkins Go to Hyde Park.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—During the prolonged and violent debate on President Roosevelt's 4 billion 880 million dollar work relief appropriation bill Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.] prophesied that it would result in a "national scandal."

With the works program demoralized and events shaping themselves toward fulfilment of that prophecy, President Roosevelt today summoned to Hyde Park Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes, who are engaged in a bitter feud over who should spend the most money. The deadline for the filing of applications, set by the President, is Thursday, so that tomorrow's conference at Hyde Park will be a final showdown in the Ickes-Hopkins controversy.

Ickes Furious at Situation.

At his press conference today Mr. Ickes was apparently furious because Mr. Hopkins, head of the Works Progress administration, had turned down 1,908 PWA projects aggregating 375 million dollars. PWA, under Mr. Ickes, closed its books to new applications yesterday, but it still has pending 2,500 applications aggregating approximately half a billion dollars.

To date, however, PWA projects finally approved by the President total only 151 million dollars, and Hopkins has declared that PWA would not get more than 250 million dollars. Hopkins ignores the "earmarking" of 900 million dollars in the appropriation act for PWA grants and loans to states, counties and municipalities.

Secretary Ickes said that every project turned down by Hopkins was a "good one," that the average man-year cost was less than $958, as against the $1,140 maximum set by the President.

"I am following the President's program," he declared. "There is nothing in the President's executive order which gives anybody the right to veto another department's project. All that was contemplated was the attachment of certain information for the guidance of the allotment board."

Chairman of Allotment Board.

Mr. Ickes is chairman of the President's advisory allotment board, but before his PWA projects reach that board they must clear through Hopkins' Works Progress administration. In the last analysis the President decides.

While Hopkins is determined to cut Secretary Ickes down to a quarter of a billion, he is equally determined to spend two billion on his own works projects of the small, "quick action, direct labor" type, ranging from the rebuilding of sewers to recreation work for the white collar class and art projects for the esthetes. He says he is keeping the average man-year cost down to around $750.

The only difference between this form of relief and the straight dole is what Hopkins terms the "morale factor." Republican and conservative Democratic senators fought to cut the appropriation down to a straight dole proposition of 2 billion dollars, but administration leaders replied by quoting the President's message:

"All work undertaken should be useful—not just for a day or a year, but useful in the sense that it affords permanent improvement in living conditions, or that it creates future new wealth for the nation."

Ask Status of Boondoggling.

Critics of the spending program now ask what contribution boondoggling will make to the wealth of the nation. Relief officials concede that the works program contemplated by Hopkins will not differ materially from the CWA program of 1933-'34, which in itself was "a national scandal."

Officials in some departments whose projects appear doomed express the belief that President Roosevelt plans to hold up about 2 billion dollars of the appropriation so long as private business gives evidence of continued improvement. They point out that he would then have the 2 billion to spend as he saw fit if business conditions should slump just before the election next year.

If the President stands by his Sept. 12 deadline for the filing of applications with the division of applications and information, the fate of other ma-for projects for which allocations were earmarked in the act will remain in doubt. Among these are 100 million dollars for rural electrification; rural rehabilitation, 500 millions; highways and grade crossing elimination, 800 millions; housing, 450 millions.

Applications to Date.

To date the works administration has received applications aggregating 3 billion 620 million dollars for public works and all other federal departmental projects except Hopkins' WPA activities. Approvals to date aggregate $607,831,955 for WPA and 1 billion 444 million for all others. Aside from these final approvals, aggregating 2 billion 52 million, disbursals from the 4 billion 880 million dollar fund follow:

National youth movement	$ 27,999,918
Procurement of office supplies	3,000,000
U. S. employés' compensation commission	28,000,000
Allotments for direct relief	710,000,000
FERA administration expenses	5,000,000

Besides his controversy with Hopkins Secretary Ickes also is engaged in a controversy with Rexford Guy Tugwell, chief brain truster and head of the Rural Resettlement administration, whose plans for suburban housing activities are construed as an encroachment upon the PWA housing campaign. Ickes has clashed frequently and publicly with other New Dealers, but heretofore the President has either sided with him or else devised a compromise that gave him a draw. This time Mr. Hopkins seems to have the inside track.

PROJECTS REJECTED

A list of Illinois projects approved by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, head of the federal Public Works administration, but vetoed by Harry L. Hopkins, head of the federal Works Progress administration, was disclosed last night. The 71 projects rejected called for PWA loans and grants totaling $42,705,161, according to Carl H. Bauer, PWA director for Illinois, who issued the list.

In the group were five Chicago and Cook county projects: Chicago waterworks filteration plant for south side, $20,392,857; Chicago school construction, 35 new schools and alterations, $1,200,000; Cook county school construction and rehabilitation, $216,714, and project for 30,000 pounds of laundry to be done daily for county hospital, $374,285.

Confer on Row Today.

The announcement of the rejected projects here reflects a struggle between Ickes and Hopkins at Washington over powers in the spending of the four billion dollar appropriation given to President Roosevelt by congress for shifting persons from relief to made work. The two spending officials have been summoned to "iron it out" today in the President's home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Officials here said last night that some hope remained for the projects. They awaited further word from Washington and expected to file supplementary applications for government funds to meet the objections raised to the original plans.

From Washington came only a succinct explanation that the projects had been rejected because the "man year" cost was too high, because there was insufficient relief labor available, or for "miscellaneous reasons." The man year cost is set at a maximum of $1,140 and 90 per cent of the labor on each project is to be drawn from the relief rolls, according to orders from Hopkins.

ISLAND AIRPORT AND FAIR PLANS SENT TO CAPITAL

$15,000,000 Asked of WPA for Two Projects.

Two lake front projects that sponsors believe are essential to the progress of Chicago—the airport and the permanent exposition—were approved late yesterday by Robert J. Dunham, federal works progress administrator for Illinois, and were sent for confirmation to national WPA officials at Washington. Jobs on the two projects are expected to take 12,000 from the relief rolls.

In sponsoring the airport the city's department of public works asked for an outright WPA grant of $8,577,000. Its prospectus to the Illinois officials of WPA said that the island airport would provide an airplane landing field adjacent to the central business district of the city. The airport would consist of a 200 acre island of made land 1,600 feet off shore between Roosevelt road and 23d street.

Envision Big Saving.

The prospectus asserted that the proposal had the approval of the United States department of commerce and was favored by the aeronautical forces of the army and navy.

Through the new airport, it was estimated, economies to be effected in the handling of mail would result in savings of approximately $40,000 a year to the postoffice in Chicago.

The City Exposition authority, headed by Walter L. Gregory, asked for $6,455,777 in federal funds and offered to furnish in addition $293,500 toward the work of building a permanent fair on the lake front in Burnham park. The project approved yesterday provides for groundwork in 180 acres on Northerly Island and the adjacent mainland, which the exposition authority is expected soon to lease from the Chicago park district. Provision for buildings would be made later.

Work on the lake front fair will consist of bulkhead and jetty construction, macadam roads and walks, sewage disposal, comfort stations, parking areas, bridges connecting Northerly Island to the mainland, and general excavation, grading and landscaping.

Details of Fair Landscaping.

"It is proposed to create a richly wooded area," read the Exposition authority's request to WPA. "In this area of trees, shrubs, flowering plants and lawns it is proposed to locate in an organized landscaped plan an architectural scheme of structures and open areas which will contain facilities for open air symphony concerts and opera, social games, a few selected mechanical amusements, a superior bathing beach and exceptional facilities for dancing, dining and other recreational diversions.

"Connected by a causeway to the south, and related architecturally across the lagoon from the recreational park area, it is proposed to locate an exposition area. The nature of the whole enterprise must have the character of a refined and beautiful park where dignified recreation will be stimulated in a wholesome atmosphere."

Send Fifty-five Proposals East.

Fifty-five other Illinois projects, asking total federal funds of $23,831,472 and offering local contributions amounting to $2,703,123, were also sent to Washington during the day as WPA officials hastened to get under the deadline set for tomorrow on submission of projects to national officials.

Included in the day's grist were requests from the city of Chicago for $4,304,114 in WPA funds for rehabilitating the city's water system and $3,300,260 to repair and replace broken and sunken sidewalks. The Chicago park district asked $1,239,252 to excavate spoilage from the banks of the Sag canal west of 132d street and Western avenue and to use it in leveling and grading Calumet park at 95th street and Lake Michigan.

Dispatches from Washington announced during the day that Presidential approval had been received for an allotment of $2,500,000 for bank improvements and channel dredging work in the Illinois river and for the construction of locks at Peoria.

LEAGUE SEEKS WPA FUNDS TO EMPLOY JOBLESS LAWYERS

The Lawyers' Security league yesterday completed a group of projects upon which it is proposed that needy attorneys be employed through federal Works Progress administration funds. The league, headed by Attorney Landon Chapman, was organized recently to provide jobs for members of the profession.

The projects will be submitted to Washington officials by Attorney Hart Baker, executive secretary of the league. Baker will seek an audience with Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator.

Among the proposals are public defenders and conciliators in police courts, codification of various federal and state laws, legal clinic for persons on relief and unemployed, clerical assistance for police, classes in commercial law, political science, taxation, citizenship and labor laws, revision of the criminal code.

RUMANIANS PLAN MARCH; PROTEST ROYAL SCANDAL

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Leaders of the National Peasant party, at a secret meeting tonight, decided to make another determined effort to eliminate Magda Lupescu, red haired Jewish mistress of King Carol, as an influence in the Rumanian government.

The party chiefs drafted a plan for a farmers' march on the capital next month to give a "visual demonstration" of asserted dissatisfaction in rural sections with the trend of affairs in Bucharest.

One leader said the farmers would camp in Bucharest until the government resigned. Some of the leaders said 200,000 farmers would participate.

WORK TO RESUME ON OUTER DRIVE BRIDGE IN 14 DAYS

South Approach Dock Job to Be Let Tuesday.

Construction of the outer drive bridge will be resumed within the next two weeks, Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, indicated yesterday when bids were opened by the park board for building a dock and bulkheads for the south approach of the bridge. The Fitzsimons & Connell Dredge and Dock company was low bidder on the work against four competitors. The bid was $230,890. The contract will be awarded at the board meeting next Tuesday.

William I. Bell, acting chief engineer for the park district, said he will be ready to advertise for bids on the next unit of construction on the south approach, the caissons, by Sept. 16.

Funds Released for Work.

"We hope to have the bridge ready for use seventeen months after work is resumed," Bell said.

Resumption of work on the bridge has been made possible by five park refunding and financing bills passed at the last session of the state legislature. The park refunding plan released, according to Dunham, an aggregate revolving fund of $6,700,000 set up by the old Lincoln park and south park districts out of the sale of outer drive bridge bonds. He said that until the refinancing of park accounts was permitted the revolving fund was used to maintain park district credit.

During its meeting yesterday the park board approved contracts under which the Illinois Central railroad agrees to share certain expenses in the construction of the south dock and approach to the bridge.

Michigan Avenue Transfer.

Mr. Dunham said that the board is awaiting the consent of 50 per cent of the property owners on Michigan avenue from Randolph street to Wacker drive before accepting the city ordinance which gives the park district full jurisdiction of that section of Michigan avenue.

"As soon as the property owners signify their consent we will place park policemen at the intersections," Dunham said.

The section referred to remains the only part of Michigan avenue not under park jurisdiction at the present time.

Postmaster General Farley Will Resign Next January

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—James A. Farley will resign as postmaster general at the time of the meeting of the Democratic national committee to be held here in January and be succeeded by Frank C. Walker of New York, director of the National Emergency council and head of the division of applications and information of the work relief program. The latter has finally consented to serve as postmaster general until after the 1936 presidential election.

Mr. Farley is looking forward to devoting his entire time to the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee, including the direction of the primary contests and the campaign of President Roosevelt. The time of his resignation from the cabinet and other plans for the campaign were agreed to by the President at the conference Mr. Farley had with him at Hyde Park last week when he reported on political conditions in the west.

The first problem that Mr. Farley will tackle in his solo capacity as committee chairman will be the working up of sentiment for revocation of the two-thirds convention rule that has obtained in the Democratic party for more than 75 years. He advocated its abrogation during the temporary tieup in the 1932 Chicago convention but was overruled by the present secretary of state, Cordell Hull.

It is argued by Democrats who favor its repeal that this is the only time since the rule was inaugurated that the party can safely consider ending it for one requiring only a majority of the delegates in convention to name the presidential candidate.

Since President Roosevelt, by all accounts, will have little or no opposition for renomination, his leaders say that the national committee can recommend the rule be dropped.

EXPECT WINDUP OF SUIT AGAINST MacVEAGH TODAY

Counsel in the $2,500 breach of contract suit brought by Miss Louise Hagen, 47 year old New York artist, against Eames MacVeagh, 60 years old, a leader in Chicago society, indicated yesterday that the hearing probably will be concluded today in the Municipal court of Judge Joseph H. McGarry.

The hearing was continued Monday to allow State Senator James J. Barbour, attorney for MacVeagh, to attend a committee meeting in Springfield yesterday.

Unless MacVeagh's testimony today takes an unexpected turn, Attorney Hermann P. Haase, counsel for Miss Hagen, said she will not be called as a witness.

VOTE TO INDICT POLICEMAN AS COCHRANE KILLER

Pal Who Confessed Held as Material Witness.

The grand jury was reported late yesterday to have voted a true bill charging Jeffery O'Donohue, 28 years old, a probationary policeman living at 7705 Union avenue, with the murder of David K. Cochrane Jr., 27 years old, 4734 Ellis avenue. Cochrane, an attorney, was shot to death when he intervened in a sidewalk scuffle in front of Elsie's tavern, 721 East 75th street, early on the morning of Aug. 20.

O'Donohue, who was attached to the Stockyards police station, confessed yesterday he shot Cochrane after Walter Breen, another probationary policeman [attached to the Englewood station], and his companion on the night of the shooting, had made a confession to Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police. Breen went to Prendergast's home and told him that he had accompanied O'Donohue to the tavern on the night of the shooting and that it was O'Donohue who shot down Cochrane.

Breen Held; Not Indicted.

Breen was being held as a material witness, although the grand jury is reported to have taken no action against him yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash had announced late in the afternoon that he would not lay the Cochrane murder before the jury at once because O'Donohue's gun had not been found. O'Donohue, in his confession, said that he had tossed the weapon, a police revolver, into the Sag canal near 95th street and Keane avenue, in Willow Springs.

After making this statement, however, Nash suddenly decided to take the two probationary policemen before the jury because the necessary witnesses were present. This he did immediately, presenting both O'Donohue and Breen, together with their confessions signed earlier in the day. Nash said that a diver will be sent to the Sag canal location this morning to search for the missing gun.

Beating Victim Testifies.

Among witnesses who testified before the jury were Joseph Zakar, 7400 Exchange avenue, said to have precipitated the fight when the two policemen sought to take a gun from him after a dispute over closing the tavern for the night. Zakar admitted having a gun, but he said that it was empty. Cochrane, according to previous stories of witnesses, went to Zakar's assistance when the two men started beating him outside the tavern.

Other witnesses were David K. Cochrane Sr., father of the victim, and Gustav Andreen Jr., 456 Surf street, and Maurice Johnson of Crystal Lake, friends of Attorney Cochrane, who were in the tavern with him at the time of the shooting.

Retells Story of Slaying.

O'Donohue repeated his story related to police earlier in the day, that he and Breen were in the tavern at 1 a. m. the morning of Aug. 20, and when ordered to leave they demanded that the tavern be closed in compliance with the mandatory 1 a. m. closing regulation.

A scuffle ensued when they tried to take a gun from Zakar, he said. Attorney Cochrane tried to stop the fight after the trio had gone outside, and was slain. O'Donohue disposed of the gun, and later told Howard C. McWilliams, policeman of the Central station, that his gun had been stolen, and borrowed another from McWilliams.

Both O'Donohue and Breen, neither of whom had acquired a civil service rating, lost their police badges yesterday and Police Commissioner James P. Allman repeated a previously expressed warning that policemen on duty must not frequent taverns. Both men were in custody of state's attorney's police last night.

Bride Tells of Dixie Experience

Robert V. Richards, 34 years old, strode out of the county jail and homeward to 2827 Fullerton avenue yesterday after the grand jury on Monday had refused to indict him for the slaying Aug. 31, of Leif Larsen, 35 years old, 2319 North California avenue. Richards killed Larsen, he had admitted, because Larsen was keeping company with his wife.

"It's the luckiest break I've ever had," Richards declared, as he was leaving the jail. "I didn't do anything that didn't need to be done. All I want to do now is go home and take care of my wife and children."

His 31 year old wife, Jean, greeted him with shining eyes in their basement flat. To all questions about their plans for the future, she replied merely: "I'm just terribly glad to have him home again."

Huddled in Lifebelts

George W. Weatherby III. and his bride, Mrs. Lorraine Donkel Weatherby, returned to Chicago yesterday from a honeymoon marked by three days of excitement on the steamer Dixie as it lay stranded and beaten by hurricane lashed waves on a coral reef off the Florida coast. They are at home in an apartment at 7552 Essex avenue.

Mrs. Weatherby described the scene when the ship struck the reef the night of Sept. 2. The passengers huddled together in life belts in the ship's music room, the first few hours of terror being followed by hysteria and singing, she said.

The Weatherbys were among the last to be removed from the ship. Waves halted the rescue work at intervals. During this period the ship's water supply was shut off. "We lived on oranges and apples, kippered herring, and hardtack," Mrs. Weatherby said. "There was some whisky mixed with muddy water."

"We were aware of impending death all during those days," she added. "George took some clothing and tied us together so that if we were forced to leave the ship we'd go down together."

Mr. and Mrs. Weatherby were married in Chicago on Aug. 29 and departed shortly afterward for New Orleans, whence they sailed on the Dixie.

GIRL DIES, 8 HURT IN COLLISION OF TRUCK AND BUS

Family Party and Penal School Group Crash.

A girl was killed and eight other passengers on a truck were injured yesterday in a collision between the truck and a bus containing twenty-two inmates of the St. Charles school for boys at 1st and North avenues, north of Melrose Park. A few of the boys incurred minor cuts and bruises.

The dead girl was Evelyn Barica, 16 years old, 1500 North Springfield avenue. Edward Hndzel, 19 years old, 1486 West Erie street, her cousin, driver of the truck, was taking members of the two families from the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield, where they had spent the day, to the Barica home.

Drives Past Stop Sign.

Hndzel was driving north in 1st avenue. West bound in North avenue was the bus, returning from Wrigley field, where the boys from the St. Charles institution had attended a baseball game. Witnesses told state highway police that Hndzel apparently failed to heed a stop sign and crashed into the bus, which tipped over as Clarence Johnson, 34 years old, the driver, sought to swerve it.

Miss Barica died at the West Lake hospital in Melrose Park, where three of the others were taken. They are Hndzel, his mother Harriet, 50 years old, and Miss Barica's brother Henry, 9 years old.

The others injured, who were treated by physicians near the scene of the accident, are Hndzel's sisters, Eleanor, 20 years old; Jeanette, 15 years old, and Lillian, 13 years old; Miss Barica's sister Lillian, 9 years old, and Elizabeth Lobek, a friend. Highway police held Hndzel and Johnson for the inquest.

One Victim Unidentified.

One man was injured fatally and another was hurt seriously yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding struck a safety island at Broadway and Ainslie street and then caromed 30 feet into a light pole. The injured man is Allen Britton, 25 years old, 1207 Leland avenue, but his companion, who died en route to the Edgewater hospital, 5700 North Ashland avenue, has not been identified.

These deaths and two others increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 647. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 503 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 11,580 injured. The other victims:

Mrs. Anna Mikell, 72 years old, 5949 West North avenue. Killed when struck by an automobile as she was crossing North avenue at Mason street. She was the mother of Policeman George Mikell of the accident prevention squad. The driver of the car, William Page Jr. of Crete, was held for the inquest today.

Ray Paulsen, 9 years old, 1830 North Sawyer avenue, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital from injuries incurred Monday when he fell under the wheels of a truck at Bloomingdale road and Sawyer avenue.

EXEMPLARY BOYS AT ST. CHARLES SEE BALL GAMES

"Good" inmates of the St. Charles School for Boys, committed there for juvenile delinquency, are given special privileges such as attending baseball games in Chicago, under the régime of William T. Harmon, who was appointed managing officer of the school a year ago by Gov. Horner. This was disclosed yesterday by an accident just outside Chicago involving a busload of school inmates who were returning to the institution after viewing the baseball game at Wrigley field.

When Harmon took over direction of the St. Charles school he announced that it would be conducted under rigorous military discipline to cut down the large number of escapes which have alarmed residents of St. Charles and other Fox river towns. The escapes, however, have continued.

Mr. Harmon was ill yesterday, but his wife explained his system of rewards for boys who behave themselves at the school.

"For recalcitrant boys, incorrigibles, there is strict discipline," declared Mrs. Harmon. "But the good boys, whose records are exemplary, felt they should have some compensation. Mr. Harmon accordingly has instituted a system of awards for merit, which this summer, through the cooperation of the two Chicago baseball clubs, has included several ball games. About 150 boys have attended games."

Mrs. Harmon said she did not know whether the merit system would include attendance at football games this fall.

LOEB, LEOPOLD COMPLETE 11TH YEAR IN PRISON

Eleven years ago yesterday Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb were sentenced to life and 99 years each in Joliet prison for the murder of Bobby Franks. Eleven years ago today they began serving their terms.

Both men are still hopeful that they will some day go free, prison officials said yesterday, but W. C. Jones, chairman of the state parole board, said that 1977 is their earliest hope for parole. They must serve at least 20 years on the life sentence, and 33 years on the 99 year term, giving them 42 years yet to serve, Jones pointed out.

RACKHAM FUND GIVES 5 MILLION TO MICHIGAN U.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A gift of $5,000,000, the largest for educational purposes in the last five years, has come to the University of Michigan for enlargement of its graduate school. That was announced here today. The gift comes from the Horace H. and Mary A. Rackham fund, based on the bulk of the estate of the late Horace H. Rackham, Detroit philanthropist.

One million dollars will be spent to purchase a square block of land adjoining the present campus and for a new building. The remainder will be employed as an endowment. The income will be used to promote research. The gift is to be used to supplement, not replace, the funds appropriated by the university to administer the graduate school.

"The purpose of the gift is twofold," Dr. Mark S. Knapp, director of the fund, said. "First, to create a memorial, and, secondly, to place the university on a firmer foundation as one of the greater universities in this country. It will provide means for original research, funds for which have been lacking."

Options have already been taken on the property to be acquired. Building plans will be started immediately for the offices of the school, classrooms, an auditorium, and offices for the administration of the fund.

By the terms of the agreement the school will be known as the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies. Mr. Rackham was interested in the university during his lifetime and gave more than $400,000 to it. Of that amount nearly $300,000 was used for archæological research in Egypt. In his will he left $100,000 for a student loan fund, organized in early 1934, gave the university $159,481.85 last year, and up to Sept. 1 this year the fund had given $149,200 additional.

The latest gift is the second largest the university has ever received. The largest was the total of nearly $6,000,000 given by the late William Wilson Cook for the building and equipment of the law quadrangle and the Martha Cook dormitory, as well as the additional bequest of Mr. Cook which in 1932 was valued at $8,711,116.

MUSSOLINI AGAIN BLOCKS LEAGUE'S PEACE EFFORTS

Committee of Five Fails to Find Formula.

enough, is not known, but there is reason to believe it was very reserved. Aloisi's answer was a refusal to give any answer or to suggest any alternatives, which was exactly in keeping with the policy announced publicly by him last week.

Laval Prevents Open Break.

Today, when the committee met, Madariaga reported that the Italian attitude was so completely negative that there did not seem any further possibility of conciliation. Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister; Tewfik Rustu Arras, Turkish foreign minister, and Capt. Anthony Eden of Great Britain agreed with him. It was decided that the committee would draft its own report to the council, offering suggestions to be imposed by the council owing to the Italian refusal to coöperate. Madariaga wanted the committee to publish at once a communique announcing the collapse of its efforts at conciliation and its decision to report to the council.

Laval, still determined to prevent any open break with Italy, insisted that no formal decision be taken until Thursday and that only an innocuous communique be published. This finally was accepted by the committee. Likewise at Laval's insistence it was agreed that the committee of five would continue studying the Italian memorandum and other documents in the case without interruption. It is expected that the committee's report will go to the council Friday or Saturday.

Advise Americans to Leave.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Sept. 10.—(AP)—United States legation officials said today Americans who remained in Ethiopia did so against the advice of the state department.

The Ethiopian government assured Cornelius Van H. Engert, United States chargé d'affaires, that all Americans in Ethiopia who wished to leave were free to go. Nevertheless, most of the Americans were staying.

Italian officials expressed astonishment at the decision of Emperor Haile Selassie not to permit Italy to send troops to Addis Ababa as a legation guard. The emperor gave no reasons for his decision.

The Italians contended his refusal was unfair, since the British were allowed to bring in 129 sikhs only a few days ago to reinforce their legation guard.

Build Bomb Shelters.

Following the example of the Germans and the British, other legations—but not the American—were building bomb proof shelters. Official employés of the radio station on the outskirts of Addis Ababa were also completing subterranean shelters. The state department at Washington has not yet alloted funds for such protection of Americans here, interested persons said.

The Italian minister, Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, protested to the government that Ethiopian authorities in areas where the Italians were closing their consulates had declined to allow the Italians to take along their Italian-protected Ethiopian servants on the ground that they had not received orders from the capital to permit such natives to depart.

EX-COURT TUTOR DOUBTS POWERS TO AID ETHIOPIA

Doubt that England or France will back up their formal protests with actual intervention if Mussolini invades Ethiopia was expressed last night by Prof. F. Ernest Work of Muskingum college, New Concord, O., speaking at a session of the 20th annual meeting of the Association for Negro Life and History in the Wendell Phillips High school.

Prof. Work was tutor to three of Emperor Haile Selassie's children from 1930 to 1932 and assisted the emperor in research for the drafting of Ethiopia's constitution. He is the author of "Ethiopia, a Pawn in European Diplomacy," published last week.

"England most likely will continue to seek some way to settle the present difficulty short of war," Prof. Work said. "But Mussolini knows this is largely for English home consumption. When he proceeds to take over Ethiopia, England, like Maria Theresa of Austria who wept over the partition of Poland but continued to take her share, will say to Mussolini: "It is too bad but we will not oppose you provided you give us a share of the booty in the form of control of Lake Tsana and the Nile water supply.'"

FORMER ENVOY LAUDS EMPEROR OF ETHIOPIANS

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was hailed as "one of the greatest humanitarians of our time" by H. Murray Jacoby, former special ambassador to Ethiopia. He spoke today before the United States Naval Academy Graduates' association at the Luncheon Club of Wall Street.

The emperor and his advisers, Mr. Jacoby declared, "have done more in the last ten years to abolish slavery and other abuses than all their predecessors in 5,000 years put together."

Mr. Jacoby declared Italy's threat of invasion was prompted solely by a desire to solve that nation's problems of overpopulation.

"In the interest of progress and world peace," he added, "we must all sincerely hope that this question of Italian overpopulation can be reconciled with the continued independence of Ethiopia."

MUSSOLINI CALLS ANOTHER 50,000 MEN TO COLORS

New War Move Goes Back to Class of 1900.

ROME, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Four separate mobilization decrees were published tonight, adding at least 50,000 men to Italy's army. One decree went as far back as the military class of 1900.

All four decrees were signed by King Victor Emmanuel and were published in the official gazette.

In the first measure Premier Mussolini, as minister of war, demanded that all noncommissioned officers of the infantry, artillery, and engineers who have retired from the classes between 1900 and 1910, inclusive, present themselves for a 23 day period of instruction.

Informed circles said this decree affected men who have served in Italy's recent wars and who are exempt from conscription except in the direst circumstances.

Seen as Sign of Long War.

The fact that they were called was taken as an indication that Mussolini was determined to be prepared for a long war, either in Africa or Europe, with the nation's most experienced men.

The other three decrees specified immediate and indefinite mobilization of various types of specialists in the classes of 1912 and 1913.

Military circles said the decrees issued a call to arms for enough men to fill the gap in Il Duce's program calling for the adding of 200,000 men to the nation's armed forces this month.

About 150,000 men had already been notified to appear for service in September prior to Mussolini's speech to his troops at Bolzano, in which he promised an additional 200,000 men for the nation's present force of about 800,000.

Army of 1,000,000 Ready.

Observers estimated the new decrees will provide the last draft necessary to make effective Il Duce's promise to create an army of 1,000,000 men before October.

Specifically the last three decrees call for the mobilization of radio telegraphic operators of the class of 1910, engineers and noncommissioned officers and troops of specialized branches of the class of 1912, mobilization of all sanitary corps and ambulance corps, specialists and noncommissioned officers of the class of 1912, and mobilization of all conscripted men of the class of 1913 who have been able to avoid military service because of peacetime exemption clauses, as well as those of the class who served less than three months.

These four decrees followed swiftly upon the heels of an order opening the large port of Genoa to troop transport in an effort to pour into the Italian colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, in Africa, as many thousands of men as possible before the "zero hour" sounds.

Orders Big Mobilization.

Mussolini also ordered a nationwide mobilization of Fascists, involving 6,000,000 persons, to test the nation's ability to spring to arms at a given moment.

No date was set. The mobilization will be announced by sirens and church bells.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt., Sept. 10.—Francis M. Rickett, the British promoter who secured the oil and mineral concessions in Ethiopia which the American owned Standard-Vacuum Oil company later canceled at Secretary of State Hull's request, sees no reason why the concessions should not be carried out.

Rickett, who arrived here aboard a French ship en route to London, pointed out that his negotiations with the Ethiopian government were the result of talks dating back as far as November, before the Ualual border incident occurred between Italy and Ethiopia. He insisted the concessions are legal and valid.

"I think Secretary Hull has been a little hasty in requesting the company to stand down before he has had the whole convention and facts leading to the signing placed before him by the directors of Standard-Vacuum," Rickett said. "Upon my return to London I expect to resume negotiations with Standard-Vacuum where they were left off."

Asked whether he would offer the concession to any other interests, he replied:

"It is not my method to go about hawking concessions. What is to be done with them is for Standard-Vacuum to decide."

ENVOY TO BRITAIN TALKS ON ITALY TO ROOSEVELT

"No Intervention," Says Bingham.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Turning his attention to European affairs, President Roosevelt today received at the summer White House Robert Worth Bingham, American ambassador to Great Britain, and talked with him for several hours.

Preoccupied as he has been with the mass of legislation passed by the recent congress and with plans for his coming speech making tour of the nation, the President has not had time to study the muddled European situation nor to consider the rôle the United States must play in the event of an invasion of Ethiopia by Italy.

Has Neutrality Powers.

Under the neutrality bill he recently signed, the President must decide when a state of war exists between the two nations and issue a proclamation to that effect. The law then makes it mandatory upon him to proclaim an embargo upon implements of war with regard to the warring countries.

A war in Africa also would upset the President's vacation plans, it was pointed out. He wants to return from California on a cruiser via the Panama canal. He probably would not take such an ocean cruise in the case of hostilities. Instead of such a voyage he would return to Washington to be in close touch with developments.

U. S. Won't Intervene.

Ambassador Bingham declared that there was positively no chance of American intervention in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. He added he did not think any one in the United States believed there should be. He praised the recent efforts of Secretary Hull in the oil lease cancelation.

Ambassador Bingham plans to return to London soon. He was said to have expressed grave concern to the President over the possibility of the Italo-Ethiopian affair.

Roper Talks About Ships.

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce, was another visitor today. He and the President discussed shipping and business conditions. Although the usual denials were issued that politics was mentioned under the unique rule set down by the President recently that he never talks politics even with Postmaster General Farley, it was deemed probable that unholy subject came up as Roper's political judgment is respected by the President.

ETHIOPIAN RULER TO SEND WOMEN TO BATTLE FRONT

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today accepted the offer of a women's legion to go to the front and fight for Ethiopia in event of hostilities with Italy.

The women, part of an organization called "For Love of Country," with a membership of several thousands and branches throughout the country, were dressed in red capes, khaki breeches, leather puttees, and Sam Browne belts. They were armed with Mauser automatic pistols and medieval sabers.

Head of the African amazons' organization is Wayzaro Abebath Charkoze, a wealthy home owner, who abandoned her home, land and riches to defend Ethiopia. She is 34 years old.

Five New Air Squadrons to Guard West England

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The air ministry tonight announced the formation of five new royal air force bombing squadrons for western stations in England. A bombing squadron comprises 11 planes. They will be stationed at Boscombe Down, Worthy Down, Upper Heyford, and Mildenhall. The aircraft carriers Glorious and Courageous arrived at Alexandria, Egypt, near the Suez canal, with a heavy complement of airplanes. Three British warships are expected to arrive at Gibraltar shortly. Unconfirmed reports spread that the government is quietly loading airplanes and munitions at ports in England for shipment to the Mediterranean.

G. A. R. VETERANS KEEP REPORTERS IN THEIR PLACE

Interviewers Learn to Watch Step.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Believe me, neighbors, you have to watch your step if you are reporting this 69th National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, an organization that held its first national encampment in Indianapolis in late November, 1866, and where the youngest member to come to the current Grand Rapids jubilee is 85 years old.

They are kindly, polite old gentlemen and full of fun but truculent as bantam cocks if you miss your step.

First of all, they will not be patronized and they don't like to be sympathized with and they get pretty sick of repetition of the word "old." The volcano in them only slumbers, as you shall see.

Bristles at Question.

My colleague, Kendrick Kimball of the Detroit News, was this morning interviewing young John V. Mills, aged 87, of Wichita, Kas., who fought with the 122d New York infantry and was in the battle of Cedar Creek where Gen. Sheridan gave old Jubal A. Early an awful licking for himself, being nearly exterminated. That was the immortal "Sheridan's ride" battle.

Well, anyway, in an unfortunate slip of his step Mr. Kimball asked Comrade Mills, "How old are you sir?"

With everyone of his abundant hairs bristling Mr. Mills said, "You mean, what's my age! Well, I'm 87, one of the youngest men here, and they want to talk right to me."

"If by 'they' he means me," said Brother Kimball, "you can be sure I'll 'talk right' to him in the future."

Confederate Veteran There.

The least truculent veteran on the scene is a rebel veteran who began fighting Yanks at the age of 15 in Maryland. He is Charles M. Heald, aged 87, former president of the Pere Marquette railway and reputed to be the politest in the lower peninsula. Well, this morning A. P. Johnson, world war veteran and a journalist who was one of the valiant band that tried to save the old Chicago Record-Herald from death when it was losing a thousand dollars a day, said "Come on, Mr. Heald; I want to take you around and introduce you to a gathering of these Union veterans."

"No, no," said Mr. Heald, "perhaps better not, A. P., for, you know, I hate to think I ever pointed a gun at one of these boys."

In short, Mr. Heald is the most thoroughly reconstructed rebel I ever encountered—except old Gen. Fitzhugh Lee many a year ago. Of course, today Mr. Heald is in mufti.

Wonderful Looking Man.

Now I must tell you about the most wonderful looking man at this encampment, for he just told me how to live to be 97 years old.

He is Judge John Ferguson, aged 97, from Iberia, Mo., past commander of the department of Missouri G. A. R., who fought with the 3d Missouri Volunteer cavalry, Company M.

He was born in Dumfries, Scotland, and when he spoke of his mother he pronounced the word as mither and when he said that his daily passing of the tomb of Robert Burns was one of his boyhood memories he put about four rolling r's into the poet's last name.

The judge, full bearded, looks for all the world like an old fashioned steel engraving of our poet, William Cullen ["Thanatopsis"] Bryant, although William J. Etten, former Chicago journalist, insists that he is more like Walt Whitman.

Good hearing, good eyesight, and good health are Comrade Ferguson's blessing at 97 and he said these are the reasons:

His Longevity Prescription.

"I have always taken good care of this firebox down here (tapping his stomach) and I've always taken good care of this telegraph office up here (tapping his head in the region of the brain box). I don't let myself worry about anything. Just let the world wag along, I say. I've never been sick except for a cold, and I've been judge of the court in our town for 50 years. Three years from now when I shall be 100 years old the people say they are going to celebrate the anniversary and after that I think I'll ease off a little and give up the office."

Two Big Controversies.

Two big arguments to be finished on the convention floor tomorrow—or next day—are shaping up.

No. 1—"Shall the confederate veterans be invited to come to next year's national G. A. R. encampment, which will almost certainly be held in Washington, D. C., and if they come shall they be allowed to march down Pennsylvania avenue under the stars and bars while the Union veterans are carrying the Stars and Stripes?"

Number 2—"Shall a demand be made on congress that all Union veterans of the civil war now receiving a pension of $75 a month be paid $100 a month, and every widow of a Union veteran $50 a month, provided she had lived with her husband for 5 years before his death and had properly cared for him?"

[That last clause, say the veterans, is aimed at ruthless gold diggers who might marry a union nonagenarian merely for the sake of the prospective widow's pension, meanwhile not "treating him right."]

Would Move Memorial.

Number 3.—The Rev. J. King Gibson, aged 89, from Dayton, O., national chaplain in chief of the G. A. R., will make a report urging the removal of the memorial to Capt. Wirz which southern women erected in Andersonville prison park a few years ago. One of the chaplain's brothers is buried there. Wirz was charged with having inflicted cruel and unnecessary treatment on Union prisoners in Andersonville prison and he was condemned to death by a court martial of Union officers and was hanged.

The south considers him a martyr and as such it honors him. The chaplain will say to the convention tomorrow: "I think that memorial in Andersonville prison park ought to come down and I hope the south itself will remove it."

A proud chance—not.

Congress Pays Hotel Bills.

The reason the next national encampment is pretty sure to be held in the national capital is that congress has appropriated $15,000 to pay the hotel bills of Union veterans who attend it. The appropriation was not made on condition that the encampment be held in Washington.

Many persons born since the civil war are asking what the "Woman's Relief corps," and the "Ladies of the G. A. R.," and the "Daughters of Union Veterans," and the "Sons of Union Veterans," and the "Daughters of the Grand Army"—which all meet simultaneously with the G. A. R.—transact in the way of actual business; what they do besides talk.

Well, they do a lot.

They report on charity work for the last year and plan more of it for the future. They lay out further measures for the education of indigent grandchildren of Union veterans. They appropriate money for patriotic memorials in bronze and stone. They keep their archives in order. They pass blistering resolutions against communism and go home pledged to fight it.

Last year, so today's report shows, the Woman's Relief corps spent $350,000 on charity work among Union veterans and their kin, looked after Union veterans' graves beautifully, and erected numerous patriotic memorials—all out of the ladies' own money and time.

Yesterday the W. R. C. unveiled a Lincoln memorial tablet at the Michigan Soldiers' home in the environs of this city, where only four Union veterans are living—all bedridden. Soon it will be a home for Legionnaires. And several of these women auxiliaries last night presented Papa Stacey with purses containing a good many hundreds of dollars which that good old soul, you may be sure, will spend on his comrades, although the ladies said, "Now, commander, you are NOT to give this away, but spend it on yourself!"

FOULOIS RETIRES FROM U. S. ARMY AT YEAR'S END

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The war department confirmed today that Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, will retire Dec. 31.

Brig. Gen. Oscar Westover, assistant chief, is expected to succeed Foulois.

Foulois, the department anounced, will retire on his own application as a major general after more than 36 years' service. His voluntary action is expected to end friction between congress and the war department resulting from Secretary Dern's refusal of congressional demands for Foulois' removal.

Foulois learned to fly with the Wright Brothers as his instructors in 1908 and was the army's first flyer. He has served as chief of air corps for four years.

LONG'S 'EMPIRE' CRUMBLES; BODY IN STATE TODAY

Funeral Tomorrow; Burial in Capitol Grounds.

tional Guardsmen, members of the military unit which so frequently was called upon by Senator Long to serve him in life, will serve him in death.

The detail, under the personal command of Adjt. Gen. Raymond H. Fleming, will escort the body from the funeral home to the capitol, stand guard while it lies in state, and again at the bier.

Crowds Flock to Capitol.

Hundreds of persons from every section of Louisiana and many from without its borders streamed into the city by train, bus, automobile, and even by air. They will be joined by other hundreds tomorrow as the senator's body is borne to the statehouse.

Already hotels were filled to near capacity. Some were turning anxious room seekers away tonight and it was likely those arriving tomorrow and for the funeral Thursday afternoon will encounter difficulty in obtaining quarters.

Only a perfunctory legislative action, one which the senator's loyal lawmakers are eager to perform—adoption of a concurrent resolution by the house of representatives—remains before a committee will begin the task of selecting the burial spot.

Already the senate has officially voiced its unanimous approval of the resolution. The house will not have an opportunity to act on it until it convenes again at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Long Gives Consent.

Before the resolution was introduced in the senate Mrs. Long and the three children, Rose, Russell, and Palmer Reid, had granted their consent for interment on the capitol grounds.

The verdict of an East Baton Rouge parish coroner's jury after an inquest today was that Senator Long "met his death through gunshot wounds of a homicidal character."

The widow, who married Long when he was 19 years old, after her alibi testimony saved him from charges in a shooting scrape, was dry-eyed as she was led from Our Lady of the Lake hospital, but she showed the tense strain she was under. She had been at the bedside in constant vigil since Sunday night.

Long's place as dictator of his empire and in the United States senate was the subject of much conjecture. There was talk that Allen might resign as governor, Lieut. Gov. James A. Noe would succeed him and then appoint Allen to the senate.

Foresee Allen's "Drafting."

The combination of Allen's denial of this, his previous statement that he wished to retire, and his known aversion to politics, led some political observers to believe the governor would have to be drafted for the leadership of the Long organization.

"I'm sorry the senator has died," said Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, titular head of the anti-Long forces and one of the senator's bitterest enemies.

President Roosevelt, who issued a statement yesterday, led numerous members of the national house and senate as well as others high in public life in denouncing the use of bullets in an attempt to settle a political battle. Louisiana newspapers editorially deplored the assassination.

TWO FLEE PRISON; BROTHER OF ONE REPORTS THREAT

Two convicts who escaped yesterday from the state prison farm at Stateville were sought in Chicago last night following information that they had been seen in Chicago. The convicts are Bruno Orlek, 22 years old, and Edward Kientz, 23 years old, both of whom had been serving terms of 1 to 20 years for robbery. Chicago police were told that the two—driving a car and wearing civilian clothes—appeared at the home of Orlek's brother, Edwin Orlekowski, 1200 North Ashland avenue, demanding money. When it was refused Orlek cursed his brother and the two drove away. Orlekowski reported the happening to police.

ROB CHAIN STORE MANAGER.

Two robbers yesterday entered the National Tea store at 5829 Irving Park boulevard and took $10 from Henry Hahn, the manager.

HUEY LONG ABLE TO BEAT OFF ALL ATTACKS BUT ASSASSIN'S

HUEY PIERCE LONG survived every attack but that of an assassin. He seemed to thrive on opposition. His many enemies more than once announced, "Long is through." Each time he was back again soon, stronger than ever. He said, and there were many who believed, some who feared, that he was on his way to the Presidency of the United States when he died.

A small incident serves to show how he could turn adverse circumstances to his own benefit:

In the fall of 1933, while on a visit to New York, he went to an evening party at a Long Island club. According to all accounts he had been drinking, made himself generally objectionable, and, finally, in the washroom, committed an act of impropriety which caused the offended man to knock him down. A flood of ridicule poured upon him. Long countered with the assertion that he had been set upon by several New York gangsters.

Those who disliked him anyway continued to believe the story upon which all others in a position to know agreed. The adherents of Long, however, took his black eye, on his word as further proof that he was the friend of the poor, so hated by city slickers that they would hire thugs to beat him.

He Defies Roosevelt Power.

When politicians reckoned mighty were bowing to the will of President Roosevelt, Long opposed him, and for every victory or thrust on one side there would be one on the other.

The Louisianan turned against the President and his allies a gift of phrases exemplified on March 26, 1935, just after former President Hoover had called for a militant Republican party to combat Roosevelt. This enabled Long to strike at the President and his predecessor at the same time.

"Hoover is a hoot owl," he said, "and Roosevelt is a scrootch owl."

"A hoot owl bangs into the roost and knocks the hen clean off and catches her while she's falling. But a scrootch owl slips into the nest and talks softly to her and the hen just falls in love with him, and then, the next thing you know, there ain't no hen!"

Could Use Good English.

The use of the "ain't" was typical of Long's language. He could, and would, when he considered it safe, use the best of English. But he knew the effect on the great body of "plain people," who use "plain talk," of appearing to be of, as well as for, them. For public consumption he studded his talk with "I seen," "they was," and the like.

For instance, in 1930 a German cruiser visited New Orleans at the time of the Mardi Gras festival.

When its officers, in full formal regalia, came to pay their respects to the governor of the state, Long, then holding that office, received them dressed in green pajamas. The German captain asked for an apology for this slight. He got it, but Long's description of how he prepared to make amends made him seem the hero of a true American Democrat's pampering the whims of a decadent European courtier.

Borrows Shoes and Pants.

"I borrowed a pair of patent lether shoes from a fellow who worked in a barber shop," he said, "and the assistant manager of the hotel lent me a pair of striped pants, and I got a boiled shirt off a waiter at the hotel, and a preacher up the avenue who used to be from my home town lent me a swizzeltail coat, and I got a collar so high you had to stand on a stool to spit over it. Then I went on board and shook hands with his nibs, and they give me a twelve gun salute, just like the President."

Despite a multitude of such occurrences, however, Long was by no means merely the "plausible punchinello" which one of his opponents called him. His antics, which he undoubtedly knew them to be, may have served more than one purpose. They certainly kept him in the limelight, where a politician must remain. More than that, they may have been useful in diverting attention from other activities which he didn't wish to have so publicized.

It may have been valuable to have people so interested in the borrowing of that swizzeltail coat from the preacher that they forgot to notice what Long was doing in his metaphorical political shirt sleeves.

Seventh Child of Nine.

The future Kingfish was born on Aug. 30, 1893. He was the seventh child in a family of nine, and his father was a poor farmer in the unproductive region of Winn Parish, La. As soon as he was big enough, he was put to plowing cotton in his father's fields.

He was only 10 years old when he began to profit by his persuasiveness. A peddler had sold a set of books of a relative. There were a large number of volumes, and a large number of payments was expected. The relative, it became obvious, was not going to be able to keep up with the payments, and Huey took over the books. He went about the neighborhood, selling them, one by one, and finally emerged from the transaction with a profit. He continued for awhile in this occupation, selling sets of Shakespeare, illustrated Bible stories and other such aids to culture to the bayou folk. At the age of 12 he got a job seting type in a newspaper office. Three years later he threw up that job and further high school study to be a salesman again. He toured the state, and impressed himself upon thousands of country folk.

Marries His Shooting Alibi.

One piece of ballyhoo for the products he was selling was a cake baking contest, and through one of these he met Miss Rose McConnell of Shreveport, whom he married in 1913. The year before the wedding she was able to do him a service. He was accused of having been mixed up in a shooting scrape, and Miss McConnell came to his aid as an alibi witness. She insisted that at the time of the shooting he had been with her at a theater. She produced two ticket stubs for the evening in question, and got her future husband out of trouble. To them three children were born, Rose in 1915, Russell Billiu in 1919 and Palmer Reid in 1923. It is evidence of the carefully staged nature of Long's stunts of self-exploitation that his family kept very much in the background. He might instruct the white jacketed men of the bar in how to mix a Ramos gin fizz, but he never dragged his wife's cooking into politics, as many a crowd pleaser has.

Immediately after their marriage the couple saved some money and borrowed some more, so that Long might scramble through a three year law course in the actual time of three months in the law department of the University of Oklahoma and about seven months of cramming in the law school of Tulane university. When he had done this he discovered that there wasn't to be another bar examination for a year, so he rounded up a quorum of judges and persuaded them that he knew enough law for them to issue him his license to practice forthwith.

Career Starts After War.

It was immediately after the war that he began edging his way into politics. First he got on the railroad and public service commission by insisting to the people that they were the victims and that the big interests were grinding them down. In 1924 he ran for governor and lost.

Long was elected governor in 1928 and at once began replacing many state employés with his own men.

In 1930 Long ran against Joseph E. Ransdell, veteran United States senator, in the primary, and beat him. Victory in the Democratic primary means election in such a one-party state as Louisiana, and Long was sent on to Washington.

His entry into the senate was in contrast to the usual quiet and attentive arrival of a "freshman," but his conduct was nothing to what it was to be after the Roosevelt administration came into office. He started off by refusing to associate with the other senator from Louisiana, Edwin S. Broussard, and in the fall election Long contrived to have John H. Overton, one of his men, defeat Broussard.

Then the New President.

There came the crucial session after President Roosevelt's inauguration. Many who did not agree with the President went along with him then; it was the high tide of hope in him. Long, however, was in opposition even then, and insisted on a hearing for his ideas. The first emergency recovery program passed, however.

The administration retaliated for his his opposition to it, threatening to withhold relief funds from Louisiana, and withholding patronage. Postmaster General James A. Farley was the active instrument in much of this punishment, and Long fought back bitterly.

Opposition to him in his own state was apparently ineffective. It flared up in different places, and one of the most constant campaigns was kept up by a committee of women, headed by Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond. Once 100 members of the Square Deal association actually took up arms, but the National Guard dispersed them. The troops extinguished the first flarings of more than one revolt.

Name Calling Attracts U. S.

In March, last, there was an interlude of name calling which attracted the attention of the nation. Hugh S. Johnson, ex-NRA administrator, in a speech which succeeded in its purpose of calling attention to his forthcoming biography, attacked Long and, at the same time, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, "radio priest" of Detroit. He called them "mad pied pipers," "a couple of Catilines," and many other unpleasant names, applying the phrase, "plausible Punchinello,' to Long.

Both answered quickly and in kind. Long said Johnson was "a hired hand" of Barney Baruch, to whom he attributed the motto: "Presidents—you make 'em, we break 'em;" dubbed Johnson a soldier "who never heard a cap snap," and applied many other epithets to him. When he and others who entered the fray were through several new phrases had been added to the dictionary of abuse, and nothing else seemed to have been accomplished.

Significant indeed is his choice

It is said that he wins his case before entering the courtroom—a tribute to his brilliant and thorough preparation. And he is equally penetrating about his whiskey. U.D.L. whiskey is independently tested and judged by the famous Ekroth Laboratories whose authorized emblem appears on the "Pre-judged" tag affixed to every U.D.L. bottle. Look for that tag. SENATE'S BEST SHOWMAN TAKEN AWAY BY DEATH

Huey Always the Idol of the Galleries.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The senate of the United States will not be the same with Huey Long missing. His death removes from that body its greatest showman and the most embarrassing and most irrepressible critic of the Roosevelt administration. No other senator enjoyed less influence inside or excited more curiosity outside than Huey P. Long.

Huey was the idol of the galleries. Announcement in the early editions of afternoon newspapers that he would take the floor created a problem for the gallery guards and the capitol police. They came in thousands and stood in queues blocks long awaiting their turn for a few minutes of standing room to see the terror of the bayous in action.

Invulnerable to Attack.

Playing to the galleries, Long was one of the drollest and most bizarre ever to cross the American scene. But his colleagues regarded him as something more than a demagog; they were aware of his forensic ability, his devastating sense of humor, his amazing resourcefulness, and his utter lack of a sense of shame, which rendered him virtually invulnerable. They were loath to clash with him, and when they did they used a broadax, such as when Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas informed the galleries that they had just witnessed a "disgraceful performance," heard "the ravings of a madman."

Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], and James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.], are the only two members of the senate who ever embarrassed Long, the former by the art of subtlety and the latter by genteel ribaldry. Senator Ashurst read a carefully prepared and learned treatise on the strange marine life cast up from the waters of the deep by storms at sea. He drew the analogy between these phenomena and the grotesque products of "economic storms," while Huey's jaw dropped in astonishment.

Lewis Asks Fewer Asses.

Senator Lewis interrupted Huey while he was discoursing on the "morasses" of the depression.

"What the senate needs is fewer asses, not more asses," said Senator Lewis. Huey actually blushed at this.

Long is estimated to have consumed at least two months of the senate's working time during the eight months of the last session. During the first three months he spoke almost daily, never less than an hour and sometimes for three hours, denouncing Postmaster General James A. Farley with all the colorful billingsgate at his command.

He accused Farley of printing government stamps and giving hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth to his friends; of manipulating government contracts and feathering his own nest; of soliciting contributions from federal employés, in violation of the law; of interfering with government loans and the processes of justice.

Only Six Vote for Quiz.

Although many senators said privately that the charges should be investigated, Long's resolution commanded only six votes, a good indication of his influence.

Huey's 15½ hour filibuster against the NRA is the second longest one-man filibuster on record and it was far more remarkable than the 18 hour achievement of the elder La Follette because the latter was assisted by frequent quorum calls, which permitted five minute resting spells. His last filibuster was against the third deficiency bill, which he killed along with social security grants and funds for the setting up of half a dozen New Deal agencies under the "must" legislation.

Long's colleagues recognized him as an able but not too scrupulous lawyer. He was complimented by the Supreme court on his argument which established pipe lines as common carriers. He predicted from the outset that not a single justice would uphold the constitutionality of the NRA, yet his filibuster secured the passage of the original Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage and railway pension acts, both of which were held unconstitutional.

Original Roosevelt Backer.

At the instance of Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Rad. Dem., Mont.] Long was an original Roosevelt man and an influential factor in the latter's nomination at Chicago in 1932. He brought along a rump and palpably illegal delegation which the Farley-Roosevelt machine seated after a three hour speech by Long. After his election, however, the President refused to deal with Huey in Louisiana patronage matters, and that is regarded here as one of his serious mistakes.

NEWSPAPERS LASH KILLING AND LONG'S METHODS

Editorial comment by newspapers throughout the country on the death of Senator Huey Long generally condemned his assassination while voicing little approval of the type of political control which he introduced in Louisiana. Some excerpts follow:

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION [Dem.]—Perhaps Senator Long's chief characteristic, and the one undoubtedly responsible for his assassination—was his ruthlessness. To him the end seemed to justify the means, causing him to resort to unfortunate extremes when his purpose might have been accomplished by less drastic methods.

BALTIMORE SUN [Ind. Dem.]—In Louisiana, of course, the consequences of Long's assassination are certain to be momentous. It would be remarkable if Louisiana's struggle back to political order were not a protracted one, for the normal political judgments of the people can hardly have been sharpened by their experience with demagoggery, mass bribery and terrorism.

CHATTANOOGA TIMES [Ind. Dem.]—The use of assassination to rid the political scene of a leader who may be feared or hated is not an American habit. Few will fail to deplore the act of an overwrought young man who was willing to lose his own life if by his death he could destroy what he regarded as the malevolent power of his victim.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER [Ind. Dem.]—The assassin's bullet is not the American or the democratic answer to false reasoning or false political methods. We rely on the ballot, not violence, for redress.

DALLAS NEWS [Ind. Dem.]—For another quarter of a century it may be impossible to obtain an unbiased view of the man who emerged from nowhere to challenge public attention and create a national problem.

DES MOINES REGISTER [Ind.]—It is not good, in a country consecrated to such ideas as ours is, for bullets to supersede ballots. The end does not justify the means. Of course Huey Long in Louisiana did some good things. He built schools and he built roads, but his method was wrong, vicious. It was the method of a cunning but cruel and vicious dictatorship. It gave to the people roads, and it took away from them that which was infinitely more important than roads—the principle of freedom.

HARTFORD COURANT [Rep.]—Huey Long was not the typical political boss with an eye solely to political gain. He was, on the contrary, an ambitious demagog, skilled of tongue and shrewd of manner. He knew how to capitalize the discontent of various submerged elements for his own advantage. Benefits they might have received from him, as the people of Louisiana did, but every gift would have come at the cost of fundamental liberties.

KANSAS CITY STAR [Ind.]—A spectacular figure has been taken from the national scene. But his untimely removal cannot be mourned as a national loss.

LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL [Rep.]—It was the manner in which Long was taken from the public service that is to be regretted. In that a blow was struck at law and order and the interests of society as a whole. The vengeance meted out by Long's personal guards seems to have been equally vicious and unnecessary. Assassination has made a martyr of Long and brought support to Long ideals.

LOS ANGELES TIME [Rep.]—Death by an assassin's hand of Senator Long is generally taken to mean the collapse of the empire which he was in process of erecting there. . . . A political philosophy, even an unsound and demagogic one, is not brought to an end by bullets. Sober thoughts will end it if it is fallacious, but to martyrize its chief proponent is likely to extend its life.

NEWARK EVENING NEWS—The Bible, which Huey Long forever quoted with more cunning than reverence, says that those who live by the sword shall perish by the sword. That should be the Louisianan's epitaph.

NEW YORK NEWS [Ind.]—Huey Long was a political genius and an evil genius in our opinion. We have to discuss him in his political aspect; and in his political aspect we can find nothing good to say of him. . . . Long had, with full intent of the will, made the ballot a joke in Louisiana. He paid the price.

NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM [Ind.]—Law loving Americans are shocked at the assassination of Senator Long. No measure of desperation can justify this man's enemies in taking up the weapons of murder. Louisiana should not emulate Russia or Germany; it should be a land of ballots, not of bullets.

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER [Rep.]—Huey was a fighter and he fought in the open. Whether he be viewed as tyrant, benefactor, or personification of the spirit of protest, as the most enigmatically colorful figure of his day he contributed an absorbing chapter to American history.

PORTLAND, ORE., OREGONIAN [Ind.]—Long went about like Capone, escorted by guards; he subdued the government of New Orleans by the use of bayonets; force showed behind his every act of dictatorship. That was the method he used for attaining power, and that was the method used by a citizen in bringing him low. Force breeds force.

ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS [Ind.]—The tragedy of Huey Long is that of great ability misdirected. He chose to make of Louisiana an example of perverted politics, showed for the first time how the free institutions of an American state can be twisted into dictatorial form, made a joke of democratic government to suit his own appetite for power, and reaped as his reward an assassin's bullet.

WASHINGTON EVENING STAR [Ind.]—So far as the national political picture is concerned, Long's death is not important. Assassination, repugnant to every American ideal, has too often crept into public life in this country. Better far had Senator Long lived. Sooner or later the people of his own state and of the nation would have taken his measure at the polls.

BRITISH PAPERS REGRET KILLING BUT NOT VICTIM

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper, the Evening Standard, said today there was "regret" for the Huey Long assassination, but not much "sympathy" for Long himself.

The paper used the trans-Atlantic telephone to get in touch with Dr. Vidrine at Baton Rouge.

The paper, which called attention in an editorial to the old quotation, "All they that live by the sword shall perish by the sword," said:

"Long did not live by the sword in any literal sense," but in his home state, "which he had made his own he ruled in defiance of the wishes of the people and by methods which constitutional though they might have been, all honest men condemned."

HOUSE OF LORDS TO TRY PEER FOR MANSLAUGHTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Lord De Clifford will be tried in the house of lords for manslaughter as a result of the killing of another motorist in an auto accident. This was announced at Old Bailey today when the case against him for dangerous driving came up. It was decided to postpone this trial until after the house of lords trial in October. The law is that a peer must be tried by the lords for a felony, but by an ordinary court for a misdemeanor. The lords act as judge and jury. Once a peer is found guilty, he is subject to the same penalties as a commoner.

FUMES FATAL TO WOMAN.

Coldwater, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Miss Marion Loring, 57, died in a hospital here today as the result of inhaling gas several days ago.

LITTLE IS KNOWN OF HUEY'S WEALTH; LONG CONSIDERED RICH MAN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Although Senator Huey P. Long generally was regarded as well to do, little was known here as to the amount of his fortune.

He told the senate last spring that his income for 1934 was $25,000. It was during debate on a measure to repeal the publicity provision of the income tax law.

"Well," observed Senator Tydings [Dem., Md.], "the senator's salary was only $9,000. Where did the rest come from?"

"It was paid by people who didn't have the sense that I have and hired me as their lawyer," Long answered with a grin.

In response to a query by Senator Neely [Dem., W. Va.] as to what he did with the money, Long said:

HERE ARE MEN LONG LEFT TO CARRY ON FIGHT

Figures on Both Sides of Louisiana Fence.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The political picture in Louisiana, cut to pieces like a cross-word puzzle by the death of Senator Huey P. Long, contains the faces of these men:

Gov. O. K. Allen—Aristocrat, born to plenty and a lover of regularity. Dislikes disputes and whirl of political life. Health has forced him to strict habits of abstinence. Likes light literature in quiet place. Said today "we are going to follow the principles of Huey P. Long."

Lieut. Gov. James A. Noe—Rotund lover of life who makes money in quantities and spends it freely. Love of politics is love of fellowship and joy of being in midst of activity. Gave blood for first transfusion in effort to save Senator Long's life.

Robert Maestri—Commissioner of conservation. Stood close to Huey Long personally and politically. Always ready to lend his purse and time to advancement of Long cause. Jolly, friendly, and substantially wealthy from real estate operations.

Allen Alender—Speaker of house. Generally credited as ambitious to be governor. Comes from French country of Louisiana. Lawyer and farmer.

Abe Shushan—Large, jovial wholesale merchant. Went into politics with Huey Long because of fun of it. Loves jokes and good time and takes life serenely.

George Wallace—Regarded by many as brains of Long lieutenancy. Legal and legislative adviser to the late senator. An able constitutional lawyer and deadly cross-examiner. Quiet and retiring in manner.

Seymour Weiss—Suave, smart and generally said to be ambitious to be second Huey Long. Credited with being "unofficial treasurer" of the Long organization. No relative to family of doctor who assassinated Senator Long.

There are many outstanding opponents of Senator Long's machine. Most prominent among them are:

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans—Brought up in an atmosphere of culture and education. Said he entered politics "in hope of raising it to a high plane." Hanging by his teeth politically when Long died. Has been militant leader of anti-Long group but many followers in New Orleans recently deserted him when Long cut off the greater percentage of the city's revenues through laws passed by the state legislature. Senator's death places him strategically in situation.

Eugene Stanley—Former district attorney of New Orleans and second to Walmsley in anti-Long leadership. Resigned when Long legislature passed law making office subservient to that of attorney general. Recognized as honest and fighter.

Col. John M. Sullivan—One of New Orleans leaders and anti-Long. Stands more than 6 feet, weighs more than 200, and is an epicure and patron of entertainment. Lawyer.

Edward Rightor—Lawyer, influential in New Orleans politics for many years. Small, thin, close lipped. A man who does not draw intimate friends easily. Has worked with Sullivan politically many years.

DOCTOR AT SIDE DESCRIBES LAST HOURS OF LONG

BY DR. E. L. SANDERSON.

[Superintendent, Shreveport Charity Hospital.]

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10.—I happened to be one of the witnesses to the tragedy of our age as one of the physicians to care for Senator Long.

I saw a fight for life which was a losing one from the beginning, but which was so heroic on the part of Senator Long that none of us can ever forget it.

He was conscious during the first hours except during the period of rest produced by narcotics. During his periods of wakefulness he made some remarks which will perhaps be not forgotten in Louisiana during this generation.

Wonders About University.

In one he referred to the Louisiana State university when he said:

"What will the boys and girls do if I should die?"

Several times he asked us how long he would be in the hospital and always made the same remark that "the time doesn't count just so I am assured that I will recover."

When his wife entered the room a few hours before death he said:

"Here is my sweetheart."

As she stooped over to kiss him, he said:

"O, Lord, don't let me die for I have a few more things to accomplish."

Last Words About School.

I really believe his last words were those pertaining to L. S. U. He may have made some incoherent remarks later. At no time did he show any shrinking from the pain or any fear of death.

When he passed away it was like the snuffing out of a candle. There was no struggle whatever.

It was the unanimous opinion of all the physicians in attendance that the cause of death was shock and loss of blood due to gunshot wound in the abdomen.

One of the things agreed on in the beginning was that there would be no overtreatment.

ASSASSINS CUT MANY SCARS IN POLITICAL SCENE

Serious Crises Caused by Murders.

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The assassin's weapon has struck down many a notable political figure, caused serious political crises.

Three Presidents of the United States succumbed to killers' bullets: Abraham Lincoln, April 15, 1865; James A. Garfield, Sept. 19, 1881, and William McKinley, Sept. 14, 1901.

An assassin fired the tinder that roared into the world war conflagration: Archduke Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary and his wife, Countess Sophie Chotek, were slain June 28, 1914, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, by Gavrilo Prinzip, a Jugo-Slav student.

Assassins failed in attempts on the lives of President Theodore Roosevelt, who was wounded in Milwaukee, Wis., and of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the target for Giuseppe Zangara, on Feb. 15, 1933, at Miami, Fla.

Cermak Death Recalled.

The bullet intended for Franklin D. Roosevelt struck Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, who died March 6 of his wound.

Other notable Americans who were victims of assassins were Mayor Carter H. Harrison Sr., of Chicago, Oct. 28, 1893, and Gov. William Goebel, governor of Kentucky, Jan. 30, 1900.

In 1908 Edward W. Carmack was shot to death in Nashville about a year and a half after he left the senate.

Many crowned heads were struck down by political killers. They included:

Abdul Aziz, sultan of Turkey, June 17, 1876; Czar Alexander II., of Russia, March 13, 1881; Nasr-ed-in, shah of Persia, May 1, 1896; Empress Elizabeth of Austria, Feb. 18, 1898.

King Humbert of Italy, July 29, 1899; Alexander and Draga of Serbia, June 11, 1903; King Carlos of Portugal and Crown Princess Louis Philippe, Feb. 1, 1908; Prince Ito of Japan, Oct. 26, 1909.

King George of Greece, March 18, 1913; Czar Nicholas of Russia and his family, July 16, 1918; Nadir Shah of Afghanistan, June 6, 1933.

Toll Is Large.

King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia was killed by an assassin's bullet at Marseilles last Oct. 9. Louis Barthou, foreign minister of France, was fatally wounded in the same fusillade.

Presidents, premiers and dictators have bowed before bullets, bombs and dirks.

LONG DEATH BED DRAWS HIS THREE BROTHERS TO HIM

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The death bed of Huey Long brought together for the first time in years the four Long brothers, who at times differed bitterly over politics and personal affairs.

Most noticeable around the bed, was Julius Long, the oldest brother, who loaned Huey funds to get his law education and became his law partner in Huey's early days.

In recent years Julius and Huey broke off all relations, Julius branding Huey a political "madman." Julius even testified before the senate investigating committee against his brother, but when Huey was dying this morning, Julius came and mingled his tears with the others.

Earl Long, the youngest brother, in recent months had been reunited with Huey in his politics after several years' separation.

Dr. George S. Long, a third brother, journeyed from Oklahoma for his farewell. George had been an admirer, although Huey had refused to aid him in his campaigns for office.

LONG'S REPUTATION BUILT LARGELY ON HIS RURAL PHILOSOPHY

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Huey Long's reputation was built largely on his rural philosophy, expressed in "corn pone and pot likker" epigrams. For example: "Unconstitutional? Hell, when I want something done, I do it, and tell my attorney general to dig up a law to cover it."

"When I was a kid we got up early, worked till dark, ate, listened to the whippoorwills and went to bed."

"Properly played, the Jew's harp expresses the deepest feelings of the human soul."

"They can impugn my sagacity and slander my name, but I won't stand for nobody slamming my pot likker recipe."

"I'm the constitution of Louisiana."

"I'm the kaiser in this state."

"I know damn well they're good laws—I wrote 'em."

"I can sell anybody anything."

"It is rank heresy and a stigma to this fair state to crumble your corn bread in your pot likker. It had ought to be always dunked."

"This [his filibustering speech ending the last congress] may be my swan song."

"It don't make no difference if there's more voters than there is names on the census polls. A lot of people live on boats and the census takers never find 'em."

"There ain't but one thing I'm afraid of and that's the people."

"Never let a man smarter than you work for you."

Flags on Washington Buildings at Half Staf

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Flags on the capitol and senate and house office buildings fluttered this morning to the top of their poles and then were lowered to half staf as a sign of mournin for Senator Huey P. Long.

WOMAN, 73, KILLED IN FALL.

Mrs. Anna Jung, 73 years old, was killed yesterday in a fall from a second story window of her home at 1714 Belmont avenue. Mrs. Jung was trying to pry a screen from the window.

LONG MOURNED BY GIRL HE MADE STATE OFFICIAL

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10.—(AP)—While Senator Huey P. Long was fighting vainly for life, a young woman, pretty and petite, with eyes dimmed by tears as the end drew near, hovered close to his hospital room for latest news of his condition.

She was Miss Alice Lee Grosjean—in private life Mrs. W. A. Tharpe—Louisiana's supervisor of public accounts and former secretary of state, whose political career partly paralleled Long's own in meteoric character.

Once his private secretary, she rose to control of the collection of the state's numerous special taxes, the checking of financial records of practically every state department, and the handling of more state money annually than any department but the state treasurer's and the Louisiana highway commission.

In 1930, two years after Long was elected governor, Long surprised the state by appointing Miss Grosjean, then only 25 years old, to the office of secretary of state.

To the last she was possibly as officially close to him as any member of his political organization.

Milwaukeean Arrested for Coin Box "Racket"

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Charles Ziglinski, 33, 1954A South 5th street, who discovered that a wad of tissue paper in the coin box of a public telephone kept people from getting their nickels back when the line was busy, today was arrested in the court house, where patrons of the pay stations complained that hardly any one ever had a nickel returned. Deputy Sherif Louis Kunz caught Ziglinski removing tissue paper from the coin box, releasing the money. Kunz said he admitted plugging other telephones in similar manner. He will be charged in a warant tomorrow.

DOCTOR REMOVES OWN TONSIL; WAGS THINK IT STRATEGY

Hammonton, N. J., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Dr. A. L. Esposito sat in a chair before a mirror in his own office today and removed his left tonsil. He said he was going to remove the right one after the primary election on Sept. 17.

Dr. Esposito is a candidate for the Republican nomination for coroner of Atlantic county.

Political wags said he removed his tonsil because he did not want to make any campaign speeches. Dr. Esposito has a reputation locally as being very unloquacious.

HUEY'S DREAM OF PRESIDENCY TOLD IN HIS NEW BOOK

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's dream of the presidency, embodied in his book, "My First Days in the White House," brought him to Harrisburg just ten days ago.

In his fancy's flight the senator chose President Roosevelt as his secretary of the navy and former President Hoover as secretary of commerce.

Then there were Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, secretary of state; Senator James Couzens of Michigan, secretary of the treasury; Smedley D. Butler, secretary of war; Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown of Tennessee, secretary of the interior.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York had the place of budget director and John D. Rockefeller Jr., Andrew W. Mellon, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank, were fancifully described as helping to draft the "share the wealth" plan, the "key" to the "administration."

ST. LOUIS VOTES FUND FOR SHAFT TO JEFFERSON

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—(AP)—A proposal to construct a gigantic 30 million dollar memorial to Thomas Jefferson on the historic Mississippi river front here received final indorsement at the polls today.

Voters in a special election approved by more than two and a half to one majority a 7½ million dollar bond issue to raise the city's share in the project. The remaining 22½ million dollars will be provided by the federal government.

Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann wired President Roosevelt an invitation to attend the American Legion convention here Sept. 23, when the wrecking of the first building for the site of the memorial will take place.

The memorial will necessitate the razing of a 37 block business section in which the world's largest raw fur and wool trade is housed. Its construction is expected to provide employment to 5,000 men for three years.

LOCKPORT STEPS OUT TO SEE ITS BARITONE GHOST

Several hundred courageous residents of Lockport, north of Joliet, assembled in the village cemetery last night to ambush a ghost which at least twenty of them swear they have seen. This singular apparition may be the shade of a man, for it has a baritone voice, but witnesses say it wafts about in woman's garb.

Be that as it may, last night automobiles and feet carried entire families with baskets of lunch and innumerable couples and venturesome small boys to the graveyard. That is the favorite haunt of the haunter, witnesses testify.

But the wraith felt too spiritual to endure such a county fair atmosphere. While urchins hooted and spotlights swept the cemetery, Mr. Ghost—or Mrs. Spook—left the crowd waiting. Everybody went home disappointed.

Some even said there was no ghost.

NAZIS CELEBRATE TREATY 'LIBERTY' AT PARTY PARLEY

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 10.—The "sword of empire" was presented to Reichsfuehrer Hitler here today in the first ceremony of the Nazi party's seven day convention of "treaty liberty" to the tune of pealing bells rung in all the historical churches of this medieval born city.

The sword, a replica of an ancient weapon used by the emperors of old Germany, was presented to Hitler by Mayor Willy Liebel of Nuremberg as "fuehrer of all Germans, who has reunited Germany and made her strong and free."

Many Foreign Guests.

Many foreign diplomats—not, however, including the ambassadors of America, Britain, France, and Russia—arrived in a special train for the convention, which is designed to celebrate Germany's freedom from the "bonds of the Versailles treaty." Other guests of honor made the trip in 150 new automobiles provided by the automobile industry for the greatest show of Nazidom.

The diplomats, as well as special guests from foreign lands, will be taken on extensive excursions through south Germany during the convention week. This precaution was adopted presumably lest the continued marching and parading of tens of thousands of uniformed men—evidences of Germany's new military equality—lose its impressiveness through repetition.

Officials of all Nazi propaganda organizations are working overtime in steering around foreign visitors, who include editors, teachers, and artists, on personally conducted tours and seeing to it that they have a superlative time.

Hitler's Guests of Honor.

Baron Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, and B. W. von Buelow, secretary of foreign affairs, were among Hitler's guests of honor, together with other German ministers and ambassadors who were able to leave their posts to attend the party conclave. Since Von Neurath and Von Buelow are not Nazi party members their presence was given special emphasis.

North Germany celebrated Nuremberg's "day of honor" with a ceremony at Kiel, where the new cruiser Nuremberg made its first test cruise today. It was the sixth new 6,000 ton cruiser built under the provisions of the moribund Versailles treaty.

Streicher Arranges Show.

For the benefit of the hundreds of thousands who are visiting Nuremberg Julius Streicher, governor of Franconia and leading Nazi Jew baiter, arranged two exhibitions—"Freemasonry is Jewry" and an "art exhibition" purporting to show that "Jewish art is degeneration."

Streicher also borrowed a painting by Von Kaulbach from the Munich royal gallery called "Destruction of Jerusalem," showing wild hordes laying waste to Jerusalem. The Fraenkische Tageszeitung, Streicher's newspaper, describes this as "of great inspirational value and as a signpost pointing toward the liberating deeds of the leader Streicher in the war against the everlasting Jew."

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD preparation and not something good for a number of other things as well.

It opens the bowels, combats the infection in the system, relieves the headache and fever and tones and fortifies the system. Don't be satisfied with anything less than that. 'JEWISH LEGION' ESTABLISHED TO FIGHT OPPRESSION

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The constituent congress of the new Zionist organization voted tonight to establish an armed "Jewish Legion"—an international army—to combat oppression of Jewish people throughout the world.

The new Zionist group, sponsored by the Zionist Revisionist organization, was organized recently under a constitution declaring it to be the representative of all Jews everywhere.

Plans for the defensive force remained nebulous. The resolution which the congress adopted provided for the formation of an armed force along lines "legal in the various nations."

Jacob Dehaaf, heading the American delegation, said the formation of a special armed force would be almost inconceivable in the United States, which "is a democracy and opposes warlike activities." Prof. Isaac Sciaky of Milan strongly sponsored a fighting Jewry, saying "if we permit them to be killed without self-defence, it is suicide and contrary to our religion and morality." The congress claims to speak the sentiments of one million Jews who "feel obliged to form a movement distinct from the world Zionist organization."

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.] — International relationships have never been at such a low ebb as at present, Secretary of State Hull told a delegation of European students at the state department today.

The students represented the Confederation Internationale des Etudiants and came principally from Great Britain, France, and Belgium. Their tour in this country was arranged by the National Students' federation.

"Relationships between people in a community for the purpose of promoting their individual welfare and their community interests and of making themselves an effective unit of civilization," Mr. Hull said, "are in many respects no more important than proper international relationships."

LEHMAN ASKS JUDGE FOR FULL BREMEN REPORT

Wants Brodsky Remarks on Nazi Emblem.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today, complying with the request of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, called on Chief Magistrate Jacob Gould Schurman Jr. of New York for all the facts in connection with the statement of Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky in freeing five of the six men arrested during a riot aboard the North German Lloyd liner Bremen.

Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, had protested to the secretary of state because of the statement of Magistrate Brodsky that the Nazi emblem, the swastika, which was torn down from its mast on the Bremen, was the same to those who committed that act as "the black flag of piracy."

Stirred by Remark on Flag.

Mr. Hull in his letter to Gov. Lehman said Ambassador Luther protested particularly "against Judge Brodsky's reported derogatory expressions with regard to the German flag."

"I am enclosing herewith," Mr. Hull wrote, "a clipping giving Judge Brodsky's remarks in court as reported in the press, and I would be very grateful if you will be good enough to have the official facts in this connection assembled and forwarded to me at your earliest convenience."

Sends Request to Judge.

The governor's letter to Chief Magistrate Schurman cited the Bremen flag incident and added:

"In accordance with the request of the secretary of state, it is my duty to ask you as chief magistrate to furnish me for transmission to the state department all the facts in connection with this matter."

CHANDLER WINS NOMINATION FOR KENTUCKY RACE

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Albert B. [Happy] Chandler rode to victory tonight in his race for the Democratic nomination as governor of Kentucky on a crest of votes apparently swelled by his denunciation of "dictatorship," "bayonet rule," and the state's 3 per cent sales tax.

Scorned by his political foes as a "crooner" and "roadhouse song boy," the smiling, hard hitting 37 year old lieutenant governor overcame one of the most formidable political organizations in the state's history to defeat Thomas S. Rhea, 64 year old veteran politician. Chandler will be opposed at the Nov. 5 election by King Swope, 42 year old Lexington jurist, the Republican nominee.

Chandler, who demanded repeal of the sales tax and charged that his opponent threatened Kentucky with a "military dictatorship," defeated Rhea, regarded one of Kentucky's most astute political organizers, by a majority of 35,049. Unofficially compiled returns from 4,211 of the state's 4,219 precincts gave Chandler 260,424 and Rhea 235,375. The returns were complete except for one Breathitt and seven Mercer precincts.

Orders Ex-Wrestler Brown Arrested Over $62 Alimony

Master in Chancery Isadore Brown, who is hearing divorce motions for Circuit Judge Joseph Burke, issued an attachment yesterday for the arrest of Wesley A. Brown Jr., 26 years old, an Evanston policeman and former Big Ten wrestling champion at Northwestern university. The attachment order was signed when Brown failed to appear for a hearing on the $62 alimony claims of his divorced wife, Mrs. Rebecca L. Brown, of St. Louis.

PICKETS, POLICE CLASH ON WALKS; STRIKERS SEIZED

New York Scene of Rioting.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Flying squadrons of striking members of the Ladies Apparel Shipping Clerks' union roamed through the garment district today attacking strike breakers attempting to make deliveries.

Fist fights between strikers, strike breakers and private detectives, engaged to guard shipments, were of almost constant occurrence. One of the most serious disorders resulted in the arrest of six strikers.

Try to Clear Jam.

A group of 25 pickets, led by Michael Goldenberg, began parading up and down before the entrances. A crowd of about 2,500, many of them strikers, gathered to watch.

Suddenly the pickets, led by Goldenberg, charged the police. There was a short, sharp tussle. One policeman slipped a handcuff over Goldenberg's wrist. Goldenberg dropped to the pavement, kicking and yelling.

His comrades rushed to his assistance. More police arrived. Goldenberg was dragged into a lobby.

A patrol wagon arrived. As Goldenberg was led out to be placed in it, there was another attempt to rescue him. The police arrested five.

Turn Gas on Rioters.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—(AP)—For the second straight night, pickets staging a demonstration at the plant of the Flour City Ornamental Iron company here clashed with police, who used tear gas and fired shots into the air to disperse the crowd.

The police charge came shortly before midnight after several hundred persons had milled about the plant for more than two hours.

Tear gas was hurled from armored police autos, while patrolmen on foot fired guns over the heads of the rioters before they finally broke up the demonstration. Ten policemen and several pickets received minor injuries, mostly bruises from clubs.

The iron company plant has been picketed almost continuously since the start of labor troubles there nearly two months ago.

MAIL SHIP FAILS IN SPEED TESTS; PAY IMPOUNDED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Speed tests for ships carrying ocean mail were disclosed today to have forced withdrawal of one vessel from service, with the government seeking a $400,000 refund from its owners.

Tests, officials said, demonstrated that the Margaret Lykes, operated by Lykes Brothers on a mail route from Galveston and Port Arthur to Santo Domingo, could not make the speed specified for its class.

They said the ship had been withdrawn from service and Controler General J. R. McCarl had ordered the collection from Lykes Brothers of $400,000 paid for hauling mail in the ship and impounding of money due the firm.

IS YOUR SON GOING TO COLLEGE WITH THE OTHER FELLOWS?

He's only a little boy now but before you know it he'll be finishing high school, a sturdy, manly chap, the apple of your eye. When that time comes, he will want to go to college with his pals—are you going to be able to send him?

Besides the cultural and social advantages it brings, college pays. U. S. Bureau of Education figures show that over a man's average earning period, 4 years of college are worth $72,000 more than a high school education and $105,000 more than 8 years of elementary school in actual earnings. But college costs money—$750 to $1000 a year. That's a lot all at once—but you can spread the cost thin with the help of the Fidelity Plan, just as thousands of other wise parents are doing. Why not start NOW, so you'll have his college fund when you need it? The first step is the coupon—mail it.

THE BONUS AND THE WORKS FUND.

The Young Republicans, who at their convention at Portsmouth voted down a resolution for payment of the bonus, seem typical of those opponents of that measure who are so set in their opposition that they refuse even to discuss it.

Arguments against facts are a losing proposition and these are facts respecting the bonus.

It is a recognized obligation of the United States, due in 1945, and no one has suggested that it be repudiated. As a practical matter, it is virtually a fact that it will be paid before 1945. While the payment drive was forestalled in the last session of congress, it is doubtful that it will be stopped in the next.

The bonus involves a debt, roughly, of two billions of dollars. The Roosevelt campaign and work relief fund has laid on the nation a debt of four billions of dollars. The obviously wise course is to pay the bonus out of the work relief fund. Instead of a debt of six billions we will then have one of only four.

As a "pump priming" measure the bonus payment would be at least as efficient as the work relief payments give any promise of being. And so far as unemployment relief is concerned, payment of two billions for direct relief should accomplish as much as four billions for work relief.

It is an actuarial fact, which is sure to be ignored practically, that payment now of the full sum of the bonus would give the veterans something more than it was intended they should get when the adjusted compensation certificates were issued. To the extent of that theoretical overpayment it could be argued that federal funds would be wasted. It can hardly be argued, however, that the resulting loss to the taxpayers would be any greater than that which will be incurred through graft and burocratic incompetence in the expenditure of an equivalent sum on the works program.

Another factor enters the situation. There are indications already that, marvelous as is the capacity of the Roosevelt administration for wasting money, the work relief fund is something beyond that capacity. Mr. Roosevelt himself may, in time, welcome the bonus payment as something to do with his four billions of dollars.

OVERNIGHT SERVICE TO NEW YORK.

Last January the Chicago and North Western railway amazed the transportation world by placing a train in service between Chicago and the Twin Cities that was operated on a schedule of four hundred miles in four hundred minutes. Later the running time was shortened by a half hour, making it necessary for the train to average nearly sixty-three miles per hour between Chicago and St. Paul.

Other lines offering service between these centers also had preparations well under way, and the Twin Zephyrs of the Burlington route as well as the Hiawatha of the Milwaukee road, offering better than mile a minute transit, followed in quick succession. Public interest in railway travel was revived, the speedy trains securing capacity patronage from the start, much of which was strictly "new business." What is more important is the evidence of continued and even increased popularity—the month of August showed better returns than the month of February.

In the interim our two principal eastern lines, the New York Central and Pennsylvania, reduced the running time of all their crack trains to New York, but the fastest schedules being offered by the Century and Broadway are still below the mile a minute standard first attempted and then bettered by the western lines. There is no logical reason why the older eastern lines cannot run mile a minute trains just as well as the western lines. Density of population along the route has been offered as an excuse, but it will not hold water. The North Western, as an instance, makes its best time—sixty-eight miles per hour—along the lake shore between Chicago and Milwaukee, a territory as highly developed as any line between Chicago and New York.

The eastern trunk lines would display modern salesmanship if out of a clear sky they should announce overnight service between these two greatest centers of population. Any plan of nibbling at the schedule will not arouse public acclaim. Overnight service of fifteen hours or better will compete with air line service. Afternoon departures that interrupt a business day will not.

RESPONSIBILITY IN '32 AND IN '35.

By the beginning of 1932 the Republican case was apparently hopeless. There had been the hysterical prosperity of the Coolidge days. When the crazy bubble blew up grief fell as a dead weight upon the Hoover administration. Only a miracle could have saved the party, and '30, '31, and '32 were not to be years of miracles.

The Republicans were much to blame. Government had become addicted to the high hat, a consequence of the landslide habit, which persuaded the burocracy it could do no wrong, while prohibition persuaded the people that it could be damnable. No wizardry could be pulled out of the high hat. On or off the head it was no good in a panic. Hard times bit deeper and the office getting machine of federal patronage and public funds was stalled at the foot of the hill.

There might have been some premonitions of what would happen when the Republicans went out. If the Democratic party had made an understandable statement of what it intended should be done to it and what it intended to do to the country the premonitions might have been clearer. That was all concealed. The hard times are still here, but now they have political reasons. They fell on Hoover's head. They are held in Roosevelt's lap.

Where the Republican party sinned once the Democratic party has sinned ten times. It has broken all its promises. It has broken the law. Its program has gone from one expensive failure to another. Its policies blow up. It has been a greater debt maker than great wars. Even if the spending can be stopped the treasury will not recover for a generation.

When the Democratic party gives Mr. Roosevelt again to the country it will have more to answer for than any party at any other time in the history of the country.

STANDING UP THE TAXPAYERS.

The advantages of requiring every motorist to obtain his license plates before the first of the year, instead of several months thereafter, are so obvious, both from the standpoint of efficient revenue collection and for police identification purposes, as to require no argument.

Yet not only is there no attempt to make early purchases mandatory in Illinois but Secretary of State Hughes actually penalizes those motorists who volunteer to buy their plates early by his refusal to relieve them of needless delay and discomfort. His excuse, that he has no appropriation to set up the substations where licenses could be purchased without long waits in line, is a poor one. In return for the exorbitant fees which they pay Chicago motorists deserve some consideration at the least, from the tax collector.

Earlier this year the secretary of state's office hampered police authorities of the state appreciably by its tardiness in getting out lists of license numbers. Because it would have destroyed a petty racket of dispensing special numbers to political friends a proposal for modernizing the license numbering system was killed. With the latest disregard of public convenience these incidents make one more count in the indictment against the competence of the present state administration.

AFTER THE SHYSTER.

The announcement that the American Bar association intends to offer assistance to the State Bar associations to bring about the elimination of unethical practitioners, shysters, is another evidence that the profession is taking its responsibilities in the field more seriously. There has been too much laissez faire in respect to the practices of irresponsible lawyers. Reputable lawyers are busy men, and it takes personal sacrifices and irksome activity to censure malpractice. But a sense of the serious discredit to the calling of the law for which a small class is responsible has grown and much work is being done to weed out undesirables. The national association can help practically in many cases, especially to awaken state and local associations to effective action. Its prestige should give weight to its influence for inspiring vigorous and persistent effort and tone up the professional morale to a militant treatment of the lawyer criminal evil.

Editorial of the Day

THE POTATO REBELLION.

[Hartford Courant.]

Although the potato control law does not go into effect until December, it is already clear that its enforcement will present a problem to the government. At least one open rebellion against the measure has broken out in New Jersey, where a group of thirty-five farmers have boldly announced that "we shall produce on our own land such potatoes as we may wish to produce and will dispose of them in such manner as we may deem proper." If they produce and sell more than five bushels of potatoes apiece the embattled farmers will each be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000; if they repeat the offense they may be imprisoned for not more than a year. Moreover, if they or any one else in the country refuse when questioned to tell an official about a potato bootlegger of whose activities they have knowledge, they may be fined $1,000 and be imprisoned for a year. And, as if the act had not threatened to fine and imprison enough persons the purchaser of illegally produced potatoes is equally guilty with the seller.

Other farming communities may not defy the government as openly as has the New Jersey group, but there is no question but that the rebellion will proceed virtually wherever potatoes are grown and sold. The small farmer is not likely to accept willingly the quota imposed by the secretary of agriculture, nor, if he is ineligible to grow potatoes, is it probable that he will restrain his impulse to plant them if the spirit moves. No more is the housewife likely to insist on properly packaged and stamped potatoes when right around the corner or down the lane is a farmer who will sell her a sack without the stamps for a lower price.

If the government attempts to enforce the act, particularly outside of the regions where potatoes are cultivated on a large scale, it is likely to be forced to recognize its impotence in the face of popular rebellion on a matter which, to the common citizen, seems to be no concern whatever of the government. The humble potato may yet achieve the position that tea once held in the popular imagination, though in the case of a government as sensitive to popular indignation as is ours there is no probability that the potato rebellion will go as far as did that in which tea was involved.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

LOOKING BACKWARDS on this day, Sept. 11. There is not much in Sept. 11 to inspire pleasant conversation at the dinner table. If there is a picture of the late Oliver Cromwell in the room you might arouse interest in the battle of Drogheda by hitting Mr. Cromwell's picture with the poker from the fireplace or a chair or anything else handy. Of course, your hostess as owner of the picture would ask you why you did that and you could then tell all about Drogheda and how Mr. Cromwell, after his troops had taken the town, ordered his soldiers to kill everybody in it. He spared a very few, and these would have been better off if they had been killed, because the gentle Mr. Cromwell had them immediately shipped off as slaves to the Barbadoes. But it takes such strong language properly to express how one feels about Mr. Cromwell and his conduct at the taking of Drogheda that perhaps the subject had best not be introduced at all as a subject of conversation at a really polite and well mannered dinner party. Yet that was the most important event in connection with Sept. 11, so you had best not mention the day at all, but fall back on the ordinary topics of conversation at dinner parties, the weather, the movies, how to know the wild flowers, your new car, and what a pleasant time you had at the White mountains last summer. After these important and interesting topics are run through, the hostess can gather up the ladies and beat it and the men can light their cigars or cigarets and get busy with the brandy and after the butler has tiptoed over and discreetly shut the door the host can tell the story he heard down at the club yesterday.

Lest there be spoiling and the loss of savor,
Lest there be anguish and a sudden end
Such as will hap while friendship comes by favor
And goes by chance, I will not call you friend.
Nevertheless, I greatly like the border
Of levity that marks your mind about
With suaver lines than hearts of staider order,
Once knowing, can afford to do without.
Let us be gay and watch the world together
Stacking the cards against its little game,
And, knowing all the worth of wine and weather
And love and hate and soup and stars and fame,
On rainy days, while fools and children weep,
We will be cheerful, you and I, and sleep.

AND THE CONGRESSMEN now back home are a little afraid to go out and mix with their constituents because every time they talk on the political issues of the day somebody will say: "Oh don't make a speech, congressman; sing 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart.'" The congressman may insist he didn't join in singing that beautiful ballad at the close of the last session, but nobody will believe him, and it's going to be tough, for think of a fat, bald headed, red faced congressman past fifty and with a perfectly good wife and many children standing up on the platform and trying to sing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." It looks like the day is coming when the best tenors and bassos in the district will be the only ones eligible or willing to run for congress.

I acquiesced—the hour was late—
But why did you appropriate
My last cigar?
And leave the end—

A friend you are.

You rolled it lightly on your tongue,
You struck a light, and then begun
Your wordy war.
I watched you puff each fragrant cloud
And suffered much. (You talk so loud.)
My last cigar!

While you've discussed my puny rimes
I've meekly bowed, these many times.
(Alas, your judgment I mistrust.
I am undone—you have discussed
My last cigar.

I grieve not at your diatribes—
Scan my measures, hurl your jibes;
But why did you, when it was late,
And I was broke—appropriate
My last cigar?
And leave the end—
the butt—
the stub—
This awful fragment? There's the rub.
My last cigar!

"I HAVE DYSPEPSIA."

Part II.

In yesterday's article a few of the symptoms which are commonly attributed to dyspepsia were described. It was pointed out that there is really no such thing as dyspepsia, and that whenever symptoms of indigestion show themselves an attempt should be made to ascertain the cause.

Nausea and vomiting are not uncommon and many individuals may be slightly nauseated on waking in the morning. This is a symptom that must not be overlooked or passed off lightly. Too much alcohol will cause the condition, as well as a long standing, chronic, inflammatory state of the mucous membrane of the stomach itself. Diseases of the liver and gall bladder, tuberculosis, anemia, and some other basic organic difficulties are associated with the symptom. Whenever nausea and vomiting persist a prompt investigation should be made. Some cases clear up rather quickly as soon as the hemoglobin and red cells of the blood are restored to normal. Sometimes it is merely a signal that there is a lack of hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice.

Other persons complain of pains in the late afternoon or just before dinner at night. When the stomach empties too rapidly or remains empty for too long a period hunger contractions occur, sometimes associated with pain. There is often a feeling of sinking, emptiness, or hollowness rather than pain. These pains when they occur may resemble those that accompany peptic ulcer. As a rule the symptoms are dispelled by taking some food, such as a glass of milk. Occasionally they come on because of the excessive use of tobacco, and many patients will be entirely relieved on cutting in half their daily tobacco consumption. If the pain does not vanish on taking food, investigation of the gall bladder and of the stomach itself must be made by means of a series of test meals and X-ray plates.

We must not forget the condition known as "nervous indigestion," which is often complained of by thin, undernourished people who are constipated and whose abdominal muscles are flabby. There are others who are not thin, but who have a sensitive, sympathetic nervous system that is responsible for intestinal contractions which start on the slightest provocation. Numerous cases have been cited, especially of young women, who are unable to participate in excitement or hilarity without vomiting or rumblings in the abdomen. At times the effect is that of active contraction of the intestine, or there is a definite spasm of the sphincters of the stomach, the rectum, and even the throat, tying up these orifices and preventing the normal passage of food or intestinal contents. These symptoms may be so severe that they simulate bowel obstruction. All are relieved when the nervous symptoms pass away and digestive functions reassert themselves.

The old expression, "The food looks so good that my mouth actually waters," means that the sight and smell of food bring about an excessive secretion from the salivary glands, and it has long been known that the flow of gastric juice is greatly increased under such conditions. We may call this a psychic secretion, but it is a result of nervous influences stimulating the salivary and gastric glands.

Conversely, in fright or embarrassment the mouth may become unusually dry. How many times have we seen public speakers when beginning to flounder in a discourse reach for a glass of water, take a few swallows, and regain their poise. This is because fear has stopped the normal flow of saliva. In "Henry VI." Shakespeare has the king say:

"I feel such sharp dissension in my breast,
Such fierce alarums both of hope and fear,
As I am sick with working of my thoughts."

The remedy for nervous indigestion is, of course, the relief of tension from whatever source it may arise, and diet is of first importance as soon as confidence between physician and patient has been established. One of the worst things that can be prescribed is a straight milk diet. Milk alone has a tendency to constipate and the residue in the intestine is entirely too bulky. The best type of diet is one that contains only a small amount of fiber, seeds, skins, or gristle.

We shall be glad to send suggestions for such a diet upon request accompanied by the usual stamped, addressed return envelope.

SCARS.

Mrs. G. E. M. writes: My brother was injured in an automobile accident a few weeks ago. His head about the hairline was cut and his ear had to be stitched. What might be used to lessen the possibility of scarring?

REPLY.

After the wounds heal gentle massage may be employed, using some bland ointment such as cocoa butter.

YELLOW NAILS.

R. L. writes: The nails on my two large toes are turning yellow. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably ringworm infection.

FATTY TUMOR.

J. R. writes: My brother has a soft swelling on the left shoulder. His doctor states that it is a fatty tumor. Is this serious?

REPLY.

A fatty tumor [lipoma] is not malignant. Therefore it is not serious. The skin over the swelling, however, may become irritated and it is sometimes wise to have such tumors removed.

STIES.

V. S. writes: What is the cause of sties?

REPLY.

Infection of the Meibomian glands that lie along the edge of the eyelid. Bacteria gain entrance to these tiny glands. The outlets are closed by the inflammation that results; a small abscess then forms.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have always understood that all moneys in an estate must be paid to the heirs soon after the expiration of one year from probate. 1. It seems there is an extra thirty days allowed in some counties before inheritance tax hearing is held. 2. When report is approved by all concerned and tax hearing has been completed, is there a time limit as to when executor's attorney pays personal estate to the heirs, or may he too take his own time about it? 3. Have read your statements that executor gets 6 per cent of personal estate. 4. Does this mean, if he is an heir, that he collects 6 per cent above his share and that his attorney also collects an added 6 per cent? 5. How much is attorney allowed in the liquidation of the real estate?

I. S. R.

1. We see no reason why the inheritance tax hearing should not be held before the expiration of the year. It seems probable that the parties have been dilatory and are trying to excuse their delay.

2. The distribution ought to be shortly after the expiration of the year, but we would not consider an additional thirty days unreasonable.

3. We are confident that we have made no such statement. Six per cent is the statutory maximum.

4. In our opinion, the attorney's fee ought to be paid out of the executor's allowance, but this point is open to question. Of course, the allowance is additional to the share as a beneficiary.

5. Depends on what services he has performed. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PURCHASE DEPOSIT.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I paid a deposit of $10 on a car. I changed my mind and did not want automobile for reasons too long to explain. Party refused to refund deposit. I did not receive anything in exchange for my $10. I have receipt for said $10. The machine is now sold to some one else. Will appreciate information on this. The machine was not held over 24 hours.

A. O.

As we understand it, the purpose of your deposit was to protect the dealer against your changing your mind. If he was able to affect a resale without incurring any expenses and without paying a commission, then apparently you would be entitled to a refund, but it seems probable that he would claim expenses or other charges. In any event, the amount involved is not enough to make court proceedings worth while.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father passed away before an estate, wherein he was an heir, had been settled. After that my mother died. I am the only child of my parents, but there is one other [1] half-sister of our mother's by a former marriage. We both have children under age and there are two children past 21. 2. If my sister and I are perfectly agreed upon arrangements [3] will it be necessary to administer the estate in order to sell properties? 4. In order to collect certain dividends from the estate inherited by my father, which is as yet unsettled, will it be necessary to administer on my mother's estate? 5. What would a stepdaughter's share of such property amount to? 6. What would be the approximate cost of administration?

H. P. B.

1. This implies that she is your aunt.

2. This seems inconsistent with the above. We will assume that she is your half-sister, and thus is an heir of your mother.

3. The administrator of your father's estate could refuse to pay without probate of your mother's estate.

4. See 3.

5. Ordinarily a stepdaughter does not inherit, but you would share in what your mother received.

6. Depends largely on the attorney whom you employ. We advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.

ADVICE TO LAWYERS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—I read your article in today's TRIBUNE entitled "Idle Lawyers Seek a Share in United States Work Cash." It so happened that I attended the meeting held by these lawyers at the rooms of the Chicago Bar association last night when this Security League for Illinois Lawyers was organized.

The legal profession has some good men in it and we shall always need some good lawyers. Not all lawyers are crooks, thieves, and liars, but most of them I have known are. I am one of them myself and therefore ought to know what I am talking about. It is not at all necessary, however, that any of them should be such, but unfortunately a large number of them are. It is the fault of those who are not lawyers just as much as it is the fault of the lawyers themselves. It is a fact known to all lawyers that too many people are allowed to study law and the state bar examiners admit more than they should admit. The Supreme court is also to blame for so many people being admitted to practice law. Of course, it is true that no one knows who will or who will not make a good lawyer, and that is perhaps the reason so many are given a chance to try.

I have but little sympathy for the lawyers who have failed. There is a good reason for their failures. Some of them never should have left the farm. Others should be shoeing horses or painting fences instead of attempting to separate clients from their hard earned money. If some of them are forced to accept relief I do not sympathize with them, for I fail to see that they are any better than other men. My advice is, therefore, to lawyers who are in distress, no matter what the cause may be, accept relief just as other persons do who are unable to take care of themselves and say nothing whatever about it.

Frank W. Brown.

OF CATS AND BIRDS.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—I remember a letter bemoaning the fact that so many birds are eaten by cats in Cook county, and calling attention to the number of chinch bugs which the birds would have eaten had they lived.

In the first place the number of birds eaten by cats is infinitesimal compared with the number killed by various natural causes, such as wind, rain, hail, snow, heat, cold, and the like. Something should be done to stop the elements. Birds also eat one another.

In the second place, look what people do. They eat practically anything that runs around on two or four legs, anything that flies, and anything that swims. They have gone even further and developed a huge industry out of slaughtering on a wholesale scale.

Not only that, people kill for the love of killing. Witness the buffalo, which were shot from car windows [of trains] and left to die or suffer. Witness also the fact that wild game is practically extinct in all its various forms, except rabbits, which even people cannot down.

Cats should be exterminated, but merely because they are of no particular use, at least those which have no homes. Incidentally, if people would feed their cats the cats would not have to eat birds.

A BREATHING SPELL.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—So Mr. Roosevelt has decided to give the business man a breathing spell. "Spell" is interpreted to mean a short space of time. In other words, the American business man is going to have a short space of time in which to breathe. How we rejoice! In this "short space of time" no doubt Mr. Roosevelt will arrange a few minor details getting ready for his reëlection. Well, Mr. Roosevelt, you are not going to be reëlected. You have been kidding the radical, you have been kidding the liberal, you have been kidding the conservative, and now you are just kidding yourself.

C. W. Howe.

AMAZED.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 7.—I am amazed that an offer of a "breathing spell" to business comes from a President of these United States. From a Hitler, a Mussolini, a Stalin, it would not be unexpected, but that an American President would admit he has been strangling business and would give it a "breathing spell" before beginning again is almost unbelievable.

And also think of free men being grateful for this gesture. I. S. Clark.

PROMISES.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—After the way Roosevelt double-crossed us before, who can rely on his promises now?

There's a Chinese saying to this effect: If you fool me once, shame on you. If you fool me twice, shame on me.

Common Sense.

BOMBARDMENT.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—This is Friday evening. The near north side bombardment is in full blast. It will continue tomorrow and Sunday with a grand, baby terrifying, ear splitting climax about 1 o'clock Monday morning.

Those of us, male and female, who have to go back to work a few hours later will groan and whole-heartedly curse Mussolini and all his compatriots, as we do almost every week-end from spring to late fall.

The police know better than to interfere with the innocent pastime of splitting the neighbors' ear drums, though if you honk your horn now you can count on an arrest slip.

Who in heaven's name is responsible for letting this insane racket go on and on, year after year? Could any other group, religious or otherwise, get away with it?

C. W.

PARKING ON THE SIDEWALKS.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—If you want to see every code, statute, law, rule, and ordinance violated in every conceivable fashion, please observe the condition of Wabash avenue any night around 10 o'clock when the patrons of the Coliseum are inside watching the show. I know of no other place in town where cars are permitted to park all over the sidewalks in the manner they are here. I know of no place in town where a car owner would be allowed to park alongside a fire hydrant for three hours without notice, hindrance, or reprimand. I know of no other place in town where a gang of pirates can take over vacant property and operate a parking lot. As operator of a legitimate parking lot I protest.

THOUSANDS ASK CONSTITUTION RALLY TICKETS

Clubs Seek Blocks of Seats for Tuesday Night.

Julius H. Miner, general director for the Chicago Constitution day committee, announced yesterday that the beginning of the distribution of tickets for the Constitution celebration in the Chicago Stadium next Tuesday night has disclosed a large demand from organizations which have been waiting for the word that the tickets were ready.

"The requests today," said Miner, "total several thousand and it is probable that more than half the seating capacity will have to be allotted to organizations wanting to send large delegations. We hope to be able to gratify them all. Their applications, as well as those of individuals, should be sent to Room 1405, at 100 North La Salle street, the committee headquarters."

Clubs Ask Tickets Early.

Among the first applicants for blocks of seats were the Rotary club of Chicago, the National Council of Jewish Women, the American Croatian Standard club, the State Republican Women's clubs of Illinois and the Republican County Central committee.

Director Miner acknowledged by letter to Gov. Horner the committee's appreciation of the state executive's issuance on Monday of a Constitution day proclamation.

"It is extremely gratifying to our committee," said Miner, "that Gov. Horner has joined this nonpartisan movement to affirm allegiance to the constitutional principles which have guided our government in its development. It is our sincere hope that Mayor Kelly also will act favorably on the resolution calling for city-wide commemoration of Constitution day."

Mayor Plans No Action.

When he was told that Mayor Kelly had said that he did not intend to issue a proclamation and that he did not intend to accept the invitation extended to him by the committee because he understood it was a general one, Director Miner said there apparently was a misunderstanding.

"The committee," he said, "invited as its guests of honor a relatively small number of our leaders in public life. It was specific in saying that those invited thus would be guests of honor of the committee. Mayor Kelly was sent a letter to this effect. We hope that he will reply to it favorably.

Hayes to Address Reveres.

Two more organizations announced that they will observe Constitution day. Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, former national commander of the American Legion, will be the guest speaker at the Constitution day exercises of the Paul Reveres at the Hotel La Salle the evening of Sept. 20. It is a public meeting.

The Rotary club of Chicago will have Dean Ralph E. Heilman of the Northwestern university school of commerce as its luncheon speaker in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman on Tuesday, Constitution day.

CIRCUIT AND SUPERIOR COURTS HAVE 84,500 CASES ON FALL DOCKET

After a nine weeks' summer vacation during which only emergency courts were operated in the county building, the Circuit and Superior courts will open the fall term Monday with 84,500 cases pending. The 17 judges of the Superior court will find 50,000 cases awaiting them. About 34,500 cases are pending before the 12 judges of the Circuit court. In the Illinois Appellate court, which also starts the fall term Monday, there are 544 cases pending.

A shortage of courtrooms in the county building has made it necessary for Judge Ray D. Henson of Johnston City, Ill., to hear his trial call in the county board assembly room on the fifth floor. Judge Henson, sitting in the Superior court, is one of the "country" jurists assigned to hear cases here while some of the elected Cook county judges are transferred elsewhere, usually to the Criminal court. The country judges receive $20 a day.

Included in the Superior court calendar are 3,028 "dead timber" suits in which no order has been entered for two years and which will probably be dismissed for want of prosecution.

Fortune Teller Is Right and a Romeo Goes to Cell

Two weeks ago Mrs. Frank Marrow, 2122 Polk street, told her husband a fortune teller had warned her that he was having an extra-marital romance and would "get in an awful fix." Yesterday Judge Leon Edelman, in the Domestic Relations court, sentenced Marrow, who is 45 years old, to three months in the Bridewell for contributing to the delinquency of a 16 year old girl whom Marrow had installed in a west side rooming house.

VETERANS' GROUP TO PROTEST 256 FLORIDA DEATHS

"U. S. Negligence" to Be Hit, Illinois Leader Says.

A vigorous protest over the action by the Roosevelt administration in sending war veterans to the Florida keys, where 256 perished in the hurricane last week, will be made at the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in New Orleans from Sept. 15 to 20. This was the prediction yesterday of F. E. Polly, adjutant of the organization in Illinois.

Polly said that all state delegations would join in the protest, declaring that the veterans had long been dissatisfied with the treatment accorded to them on relief and relief work problems by the administration.

"Our organization will undoubtedly demand to know why these men were sent to this isolated, dangerous spot," said Polly, "and then why they weren't removed from the area when the storm began to sweep in."

An "Act of God?"

According to dispatches from Washington, investigators for the President have reported that the disaster was an "act of God."

Polly, who was superintendent of homes for the Cook county relief transient bureaus until a year ago when he resigned in a controversy on relief for veterans, declared that many relief case workers were not sympathetic to the needs of men with a military record.

"Nearly all the case workers have come from some university where they get pacifistic ideas," he declared. "They look with suspicion on any veterans."

The Veterans Relief administration of Cook county, 1850 Washington boulevard, is in the midst of a struggle with the Illinois officials of the Federal Works Progress administration over employment for veterans. The organization represents, in the order of their seniority, the following: Grand Army of the Republic, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

Quotes Refusal of Jobs.

Two weeks ago the administration asked Robert J. Dunham, state WPA administrator, for a decision on jobs for veterans unemployed but not on relief. A reply, sent by Charles E. Miner, Dunham's administrative assistant, said:

"We find it necessary to adhere to the policy of considering as eligible to certification to WPA work only those who have received relief from federal funds or extraordinary state or local funds."

Another complaint made by the veterans resulted from a Washington mandate that only veterans on relief or those who would give $25 a month to a near relative on relief would be eligible for service in civilian conservation corps camps. The CCC enrollment period ended Aug. 31 and Illinois was 2,500 men short of its quota because of the stringent regulations for enlistment, it was said.

Judge FitzHenry's State Reported 'Fair' by Doctor

The condition of Judge Louis FitzHenry of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, who is ill of kidney ailment and high blood pressure, was reported to be "fair" yesterday by attending physicians at the Passavant hospital. Judge FitzHenry, who is 65 years old, was brought to the hospital on Sunday from Petoskey, Mich., where he was on vacation. His home is in Bloomington, Ill.

HALT COAL TRUCK HEADED FOR CITY WITHOUT BRAKES

A coal truck without any brakes was halted by state highway police in Harvey yesterday while it was being driven to Chicago with a load from Wilmington, Ill. The driver, Gus Bieber, 4926 Chicago avenue, was arrested and his vehicle was not permitted to continue the trip until equipped with brakes.

Bieber told Sergt. Charles Zak, in charge of a detail of state police on safety inspection work, that an axle of the truck broke in Chicago Heights and that he replaced the axle but not the brakes.

Sergt. Zak's squad inspected 2,500 cars during the day at 159th and Halsted streets, Harvey, issuing sixty tickets for mechanical deficiencies.

County Judge Jarecki issued capiases for the arrest of four drivers who were notified by state police to have their brakes adjusted, but failed to report the work done. The defendants are C. Roegner, a driver for the Arthur Dixon Transportation company, 1317 South State street; Martin Loftus, a driver for the Richardson company, Maywood; Bud Stanford, 462 Duane street, Glen Ellyn, and A. L. Busse, 1950 Birchwood avenue.

SHORT WEIGHT CHARGES BRING FINES IN COURT

Three coal dealers were fined $25 each yesterday by Municipal Judge Mathew D. Hartigan on charges of making deliveries without weighmaster's certificates. They are John Czarnecki, 33 years old, 3119 West 25th street; Frank Demsar, 42 years old, 4734 South Keeler avenue, and Bert R. Hoff of Naperville. The Harrison Wet Wash Laundry, Inc., 516 South Kolmar avenue, was fined $25 for listing a 34 pound laundry package as 40 pounds, and Solomon Gross, grocer at 2505 Division street, was fined $10 for short weighing an order of smoked fish.

TRAVEL INDUSTRY WILL CARRY ON, WAR OR NO WAR

World Cruises Scheduled by Four Lines.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

War or no war, the travel industry this winter will carry on. No matter what may become of Mussolini's projected "colonial expedition" into Ethiopia, or what Great Britain and the leagu of nations may decide to do, the touring program promises to be the most extensive in years.

Heading the program will be the world cruises. There are to be at least four such conducted tours, in addition to numerous independent tours. The Franconia, the Empress of Britain, the Reliance, and the Stella Polaris will each embark on what is usually regarded as the supreme experience in travel. Added to these are the bi-weekly sailings of the Dollar liners and the unescorted, go-as-you-please trips arranged by the Canadian Pacific, the Hamburg American-North German Lloyd, the N. Y. K. line, and others.

Advance Bookings Set Record.

The number of persons circumnavigating the world grows each year. The desire to explore strange lands is apparently even stronger today than it was in the days of Marco Polo, Fernando Magellan, Christopher Columbus, and Sir Francis Drake. That the prospect of trouble in Ethiopia will not curb this desire, so far as Americans are concerned, was indicated by statements made to THE TRIBUNE yesterday by Chicago travel agents. They united in declaring their advance bookings for world cruises this year were greater than ever before.

"Last March, when Hitler denounced the Versailles treaty, and it looked as if his action might lead to a new European war, many of us were afraid that the rumpus would kill the summer trans-Atlantic business," said President Fred V. Robinson of the Bons Vivants, the Chicago organization of steamship and travel men. "Yet it turned out to be the greatest season we had ever had, with many of the lines unable to take care of all the business offered them. It was the same way several years ago, when people were timid about going to the orient on account of the Chino-Japanese affair. The storm blew over and business to the orient has been the same as ever. This year we are profiting from the lessons we learned then. We are going ahead with no thought of war."

Varied Itineraries Provided.

The winter cruises around the world are designed to carry the travelers to the most attractive countries at the most opportune times. The itineraries are as varied as the countries visited.

This year the Hamburg American Line-North German Lloyd was planning to send its Resolute to the far corners of the earth, but at the last minute the liner was sold to the Italian government and its sister ship, the 20,000 ton Reliance, was substituted. The Reliance will leave New York Jan. 11 for an eastbound voyage, embracing 38,000 miles, and 39 ports in 29 lands. The trip will last 4½ months.

The Canadian Pacific's Empress of Britain will set sail from New York Jan. 9 for a 130 day trip to 31 ports of call. Eight Mediterranean cities, the Holy Land, Egypt, India, Siam, Java, Bali, the Philippines, China, Japan, Hawaii, San Francisco, the Panama canal, and the West Indies are all on the liner's schedule.

On Jan. 27 the Franconia will steam out of New York for its annual cruise to distant horizons. Its trip of 144 days will take in both the northern and southern hemispheres, with every continent, a dozen islands, and thirty ports included. This calls for more than 34,000 miles of travel. The trip is being arranged by Thomas Cook & Son in coöperation with the Cunard-White Star line.

Cruise to Strange Lands.

The Stella Polaris cruise, sponsored by Raymond-Whitcomb, will begin in New York Jan. 21 and go to places most people have heard about but few have seen. Cocos Island, the Galapagos, the Marquesas, the Society, the Samoan, and the Fiji Islands, along with New Guinea, Sumatra, Bali, and Java will be visited before the trippers head for Singapore, Penang, Rangoon, Burma, Calcutta, Madras, Ceylon, Cairo, and Naples. The 6,000 ton yacht will come to a halt April 28 at Monte Carlo, where connections are to be made with Italian liners for the return journey.

Raymond-Whitcomb also has scheduled a four months' conducted tour starting from New York Jan. 7 and ending in San Francisco May 6. The tourists will leave on the Rex, transfer to another ship at Naples, and continue eastward in leisurely fashion.

Cruises operated by the Dollar Steamship lines will follow the sun. They leave San Francisco and Los Angeles every two weeks, take in the orient, and return by way of the Mediterranean. The passengers can do it in 85 days, or they can take two years, stopping off wherever they please.

YOUNG MEN WITH OLD IDEAS

One of the most eccentric of the Indian dances, it is offered as entertainment for visitors from the United States. The participants go through it while seemingly crippled by rheumatism.

Columbus Day Plans Here Announced by Committee

Plans for the celebration of Columbus day in Chicago on Oct. 12 were announced yesterday by an executive committee composed of Americans of Italian descent and leaders of fraternal groups. The program will include a parade in Michigan avenue and the dedication of a bronze tablet at the Columbus monument in Grant park. This is the first year that the anniversary of the discovery of America will be celebrated by national proclamation in accordance with a joint resolution passed by congress last year.

ALLMAN REPEATS ORDER BANNING STREET POSTERS

Posters and signs cannot be hung from light poles or placed on any other public property along the city streets, Commissioner of Police Allman emphasized yesterday in reissuing an order to his subordinates to see that the ordinance prohibiting such unsightly decorations is obeyed.

The original order was issued some time ago but the commissioner has received complaints that it is being violated. He noted one violation himself on Monday and immediately called it to the attention of the commanding officer of that district.

"The ordinance will be enforced," the commissioner said emphatically.

SOUTH AMERICA TOUR INCLUDES SIX COUNTRIES

Optional Itinerary Goes Across Continent.

Six foreign countries and eight Spanish-American cities, along with a trip across the continent in this country, are included in a rail and water circle tour program to be carried out this winter by one of the steamship lines running to South America. The season will open Jan. 1 and end March 14.

The water route itinerary from New York calls for the first stop at Puerto Colombia, whence there will be a seventeen mile extension trip up the Magdalena river to Barranquilla. At Cartagena, the oldest Spanish city in South America, there will be an eight hour daylight sightseeing tour to the fortifications and old world wonders.

Trip Through Panama Canal.

From Cristobal there will be a daylight journey through the Panama canal to Panama City and Balboa. Then will come a Pacific coast cruise embracing stops at Puntarenas, in Costa Rica, and La Libertad, with a drive to San Salvador. A day will be devoted to an inland journey through the tropical jungle from San Jose de Guatemala to Guatemala City, with visits to the Indian villages. The tourists will arrive on the fourteenth day at Mazatlan, from which point there is to be an extension tour to Mexico City. Arrival in Los Angeles is scheduled for the seventeenth day.

If the passenger elects to take the rail route he can go from Chicago to San Francisco and Los Angeles over any one of the main transcontinental lines, with optional excursions to such points as Boulder dam, Crater lake, Rainier National park, the Royal gorge, Carlsbad caverns, and the Grand canyon. From the Pacific coast ports his cruise will take him to the same places covered by the water route from New York.

Along South America Coast.

The steamship line operating these tours also operates cruises down the west coast of South America. Following the trip through the Caribbean and the canal the tourist is taken to the ports of the Andes. These ports are coming into such favor with the traveling public that the coming winter is likely to become their greatest season. Stops are made along the way at Buenaventura, Guayaquil, Talara, Salaverry, Callao, Mollendo, Arica, Antofagasta, and Chanaral.

A typical stopping place is Valparaiso. Founded 400 years ago by the Spanish, who named it "Vale of Paradise," it has a population of 200,000 and resembles Hongkong. It stretches from a promontory jutting out into the sea and it is flanked by a 1,400 foot mountain.

Immediately behind the breakwater is Old Valpo, which connects with the steep upland streets to the new city perched on tiers. As the houses on the upper tiers rise above the city blocks they become peculiarly individualized in shapes and colors. Between the hill streets are the new boulevards of roaring trafic, shops, and government buildings. The buses and trams go in circles and terminate at a plaza, from where views of the houses hanging on the hillsides present an optical illusion of a city cascading down a hill.

EX-SENATOR GLENN SPEAKS AT OUTING OF YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Former United States Senator Otis F. Glenn addressed 2,000 members of the Young Republicans organization of Illinois at their annual outing yesterday at Harms Woods in Glenview. He declared that the "dealocrats" at Washington are failing steadily and popular sentiment is turning against them.

"Members of the Young Republicans organization should take an interest in government," Glenn said, "because they and other young people ultimately must pay the heavy taxes the present administration is imposing. We must fight for reduction of burocracy and to save our constitutional guarantees. The judiciary, particularly the United States Supreme court, must be protected from the assaults against it."

MRS. SIMMONS, FARMWIFE, HERE FOR G. O. P. TALK

MRS. GEORGE B. SIMMONS.

Mrs. George B. Simmons of Marshall, Mo., whose speech at the Springfield Grass Roots conference was one of the events of that meeting, arrived in Chicago last night to bring a similar message of the farm woman's attitude toward the New Deal to the Republican Round Table luncheon at Henrici's restaurant at noon today.

Mrs. Simmons, accompanied by her husband and son-in-law, Lawrence Oster, motored to the city from their farm. Before leaving there Mrs. Simmons prepared the speech by means of which she hopes to open the eyes of some of the city folks to the meaning of the AAA and some of the other alphabetical units as they are understood by her.

During the afternoon Mrs. Simmons will be the guest of honor at a reception at the Hamilton club. Mrs. Silas H. Strawn is chairman of the committee in charge.

SPY TELLS HOW LOVE UPSET HER SECRET MISSION

BREST, France, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Lydia Oswald, beautiful German spy suspect, told a naval court today how love had upset a secret international mission.

The blonde faced her judges with smiling nonchalance as she told her story. Beside her, with bowed heads, sat Lieut. Jean de Forceville, her intended victim to whom she said she surrendered her heart instead, and Ensign Rene Guignard, De Forceville's friend.

The two French navigators were cleared of suspicion of treason, but must stand trial for alleged "conduct unbecoming officers and gentlemen" as a result of the episode which has brought the spy charge against Fraulein Oswald. The young woman admitted she intended victimizing De Forceville until she "fell" for him. The trial was secret, but a crowd thronged the streets.

MAN EATING SAND FLIES OFF LAKE SWARM IN LOOP

What had at first been believed to be a plague of mosquitoes in the loop at Jackson boulevard and Wabash avenue was discovered yesterday by city health department officials to be an invasion of sand flies. Store and building tenants complained that the insects were swarming in basements and that many people in the vicinity were bitten. Joel Connolly of the engineering division of the health department reported after an investigation that the pests, a small variety of sand flies, apparently had been wafted in from the lake.

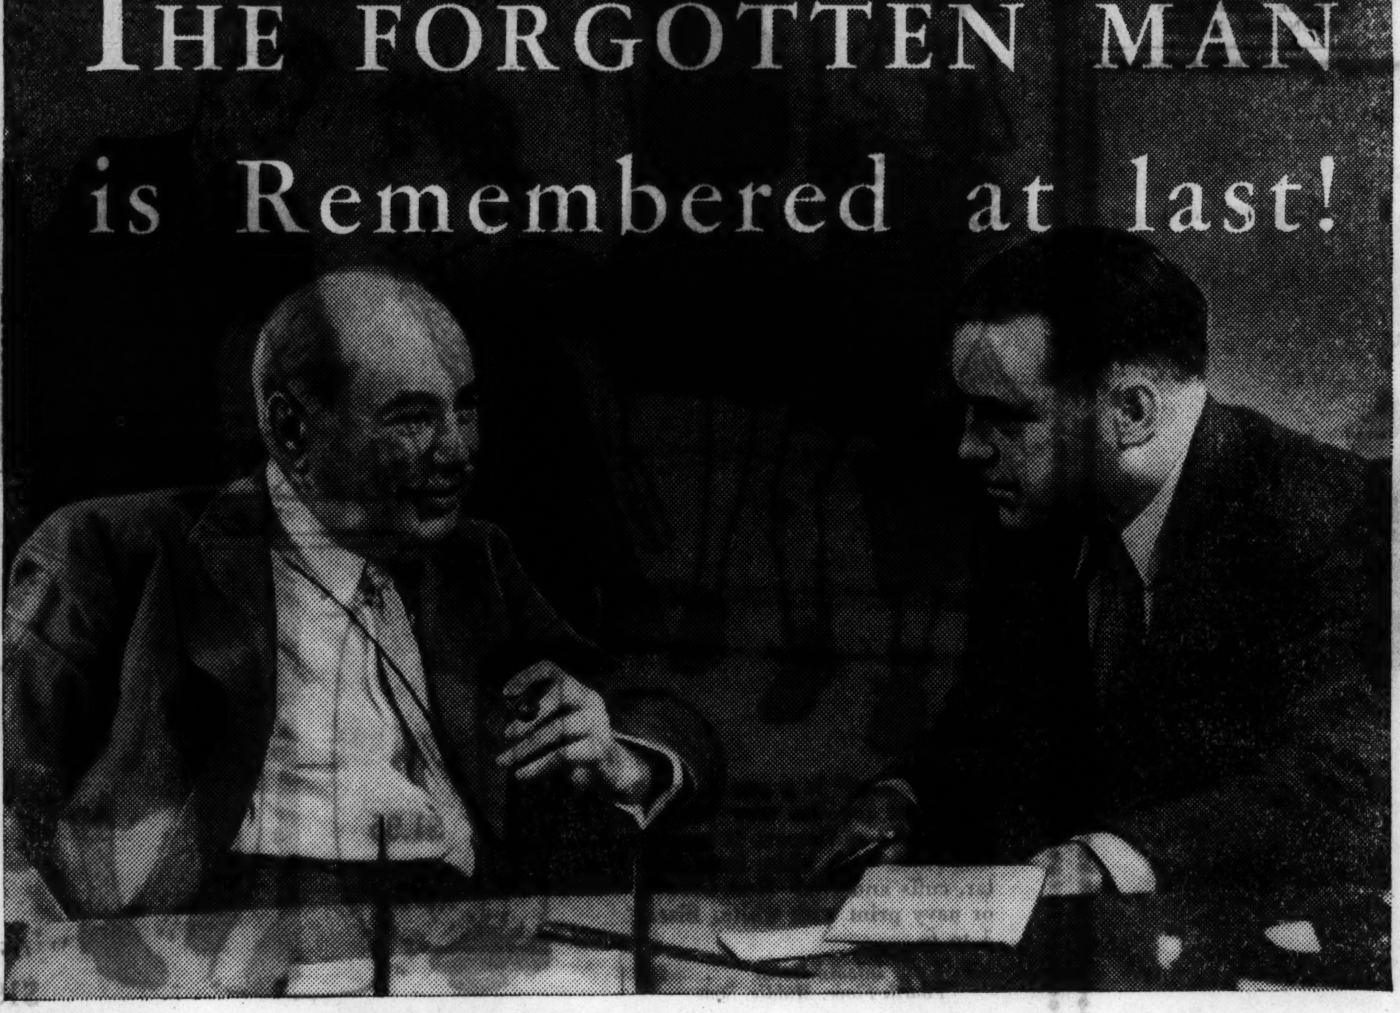
THE FORGOTTEN MAN is Remembered at last!



Julius Kessler . . . Dean of Distillers . . . gives Bill Corum the inside story of a "New Deal" in Low-Priced Whiskies!

A SPORTS WRITER deals in thrills. Seeing them and recounting them is his business. But he must get the bang himself before he can make others feel it. I got one out of this interview with Julius Kessler, 80-year-old dean of distillers.

A Remarkable Man

Mr. Kessler is a remarkable man. He's made and sold more whiskies than any man in history. He probably knows more about whiskies than any other living man.

We talked about the honey days of the Gay Nineties, when eating and drinking were among the fine arts. Then Mr. Kessler gave me some spot news.

Here's the News:

After nearly two years of patient tasting and testing, Kessler has at last perfected a whiskey formula that gives smoothness—mellowness—palatability in a low-priced whiskey.

"I had in mind", said Kessler, "the man who was forgotten in the rush to market whiskey after repeal. It is this forgotten man that I have remembered."

Which is exactly what Julius Kessler has done. I tasted his whiskey. I could tell. He's putting a really fine drink of whiskey within the reach of everyman's pocketbook.

But how about you tasting them and seeing for yourself. Then you'll know. And this I know, the Forgotten Man has been remembered at last.

Yours for thrills,
Bill Corum

CITY'S COLLEGES EXPECT INCREASE IN ATTENDANCE

N. U. and U. of C. Name Dates for Registration.

Officials of the universities in Chicago expressed the opinion yesterday that all would have increased attendance when they open their classrooms within the next few days. The institutions have improved their faculties and in many cases added new courses.

Freshman week will start next Monday at Northwestern university in Evanston. Registration begins Thursday of that week and classes will start the following Monday. Most of the attendance increase at Northwestern was expected in the college of liberal arts. On the McKinlock campus of the university in Chicago, forecasts were that student attendance would be about 50 per cent over that of last year when 1,857 were enrolled.

Offer New Courses at N. U.

Among new courses offered at Northwestern are those on current trends in the public service industry, social adjustment on personality, public health problems and methods and one on the sociological aspects of the American Indian.

Chief among newcomers to the faculty are Dr. Edwin Bray Place, formerly of the University of Colorado, who becomes chairman of the department of romance languages; Prof. Walter Wheeler Cook, formerly of Yale, Johns Hopkins, and Columbia, who takes the place in the law school, made vacant by the death of Prof. Andrew A. Bruce, and Prof. Max Krone, well known in choral work, who comes from Butler university to direct the A Cappella choir.

At the University of Chicago courses will start Oct. 2 with freshmen arriving for orientation beginning Sept. 25. About a 5 per cent increase in attendance is expected.

With the exception of the evening college of law, which opened last night and the downtown liberal arts classes which will open Tuesday, Sept. 17, all colleges and divisions of De Paul university will begin the fall term next Monday. Advance indications for enrollment were about the same as last year with a possibility of a slight increase. De Paul has a new president, the Rev. Dr. Michael J. O'Connell. He replaces the Rev. Dr. Francis V. Corcoran, who resigned recently because of ill health.

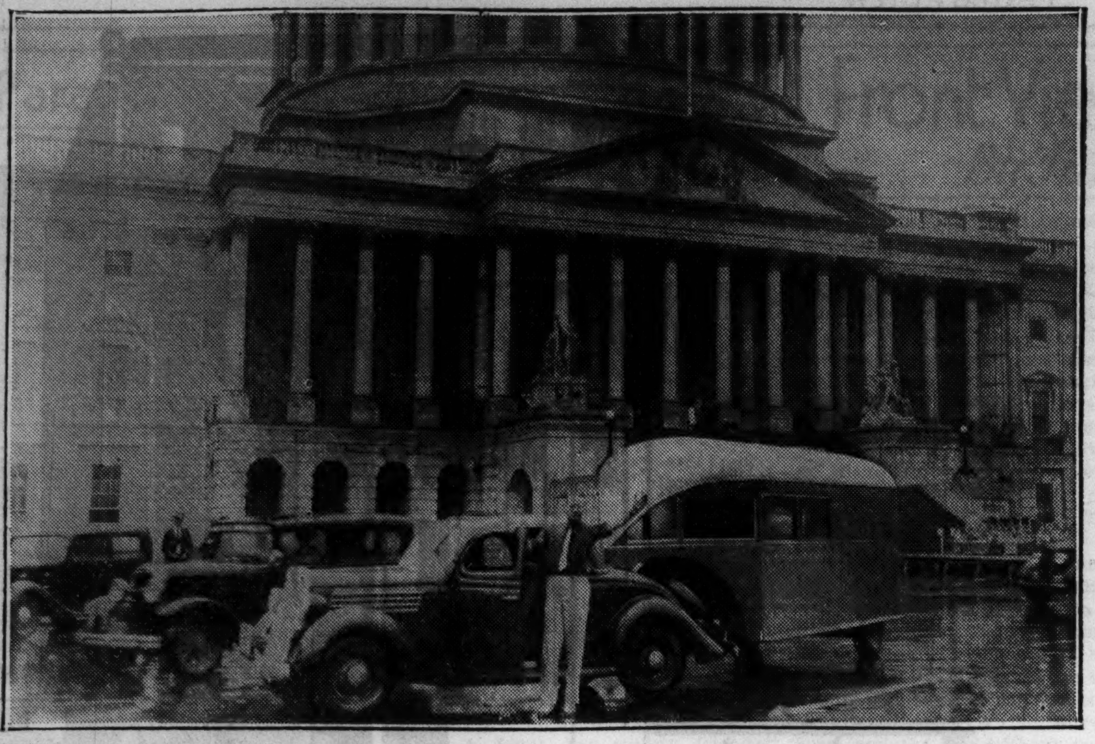
Loyola Expects 1,200.

More than 1,200 new students are expected to register in the ten divisions of Loyola university. Registration begins this week and most classes will start next Monday. The medical school of the university will open Sept. 25 and the dental school on Oct. 2.

The Central Y. M. C. A. College of Commerce not only is adding to its faculty, but will open a new day school of commerce to supplement evening courses previously given. The Chicago Labor college, sponsored by organized labor and dedicated to study of labor problems, concluded its first year's activities and issued a call for a convention at the Millinery Workers' hall, 60 East South Water street, on Sept. 23, to elect a new board of directors.

Dr. Willard T. Hotchkiss, president of Armour Institute of Technology, announced the appointment of four additional members to the faculty.

Senator Camps in Auto Trailer on Michigan Avenue



Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina with his auto trailer as he started tour from capitol in Washington. The senator spent the night in Chicago on Michigan avenue opposite the Stevens hotel. He is trying to make 9,000 mile trip on $100.

[Associated Press Photo.]

On Way Again

United States Senator Robert R. Reynolds [Dem., N. C.], stopped at the Stevens hotel, but he didn't sleep there.

To be entirely accurate, the senator and his companion, Col. Leo Cadison, stopped across the street from the hotel Monday night, parked their car and trailer and proceeded to pitch camp right along Michigan avenue.

Senator Reynolds cooked the bacon and eggs, and explained that he and the colonel were in the process of making a 9,000 mile automobile trip from coast to coast—on $100. To date, he said, they have crossed eleven states, visited President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, and have been received by four governors.

After spending a peaceful night in the trailer amid the trafic, the senator and the colonel pulled stakes early yesterday, and continued their westward trek.

SHE LAYS LONG LIFE TO ONIONS, NO HOUSEWORK

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 10. — [Special.] — Dr. Margaret Caldwell, Wisconsin's oldest woman physician, today ascribed her long life to the fact that she never has done any housework, but worked hard at her profession and ate plenty of food, especially onions. She observed her 90th birthday by recalling the many years she administered to the sick here.

Dr. Caldwell said she wasn't fooling about onions. "I truly believe a generous supply of them in the last few years has saved my life."

Although Dr. Caldwell retired from active practice many years ago, up until a few years ago she had maintained an office in her home for consultation with old patients.

Dr. Caldwell is extremely annoyed because she must spend all her time either in a wheel chair or in bed. "I think its horrid I can't do what I want to do," she said.

Known for being a witty conversationalist, Dr. Caldwell has many callers and entertained an unusual number today. She said she believes life must be taken serenely and without needless worry.

RESCUE FLYERS STRANDED 11 DAYS ON CANADIAN ISLE

McMURRAY, Alta., Sept. 10.—(AP)—After being marooned by lack of gas on an island far up the barrens of the northwest territories for 11 days, Pilot Con Farrell of Canadian Airways and his engineer, Frank Hartley, were safe here today.

Forced by a blizzard to land in the middle of Frye lake, the pair were unable to take off again with only five gallons of gasoline left in their tanks. They taxied the pontoon equipped ship to the island and remained there until rescued by Pilot Matt Berry.

They made their plight known "outside" by use of the radio with which Farrell's ship was equipped. Until rescued, they were forced to live on a diet of porridge and beans.

Aerial Speaker Advises Carolinan Lost in Swamp

Manning, S. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Lost for six days in the dense Santee river swamp near here, C. W. Coward, 60, was found by a party of rescuers tonight. He appeared in good condition, although weak from lack of food. Earlier in the day an airplane equipped with a loud speaker had flown over the swamp.

BID PLAN SAVES CITY $40,000 ON SCHOOL TEXTS

The board of education will save approximately $40,000 today when it places orders totaling $160,000 for 300,000 textbooks to be used by Chicago public school children during the fall term which begins on Monday, James B. McCahey, board president, announced yesterday. Mr. McCahey explained that the saving is being effected by buying textbooks on a competitive basis instead of using a list price issued by the state superintendent of public instruction as was previously done.

Laws passed at the last session of the legislature permit the Chicago school board to purchase books under competitive bids.

Tabulations of publishers' bids, compiled by Don C. Rogers, director of research for the board, showed that in several cases publishers entered bids to the board that were as much as 33⅓ per cent lower than the prices paid for the same books last year under the list price system. The average reduction in price is 19 per cent, he declared.

"The greatest savings were noticed in books used by commercial classes," Rogers said.

The board plans to set aside an obsolete unused school building as a warehouse and distributing point for textbooks, according to McCahey. Previously the books were ordered by principals and delivered directly to the schools by the publishers. The cost of books for elementary pupils has average $1.67 a pupil in the past, according to a survey last spring.

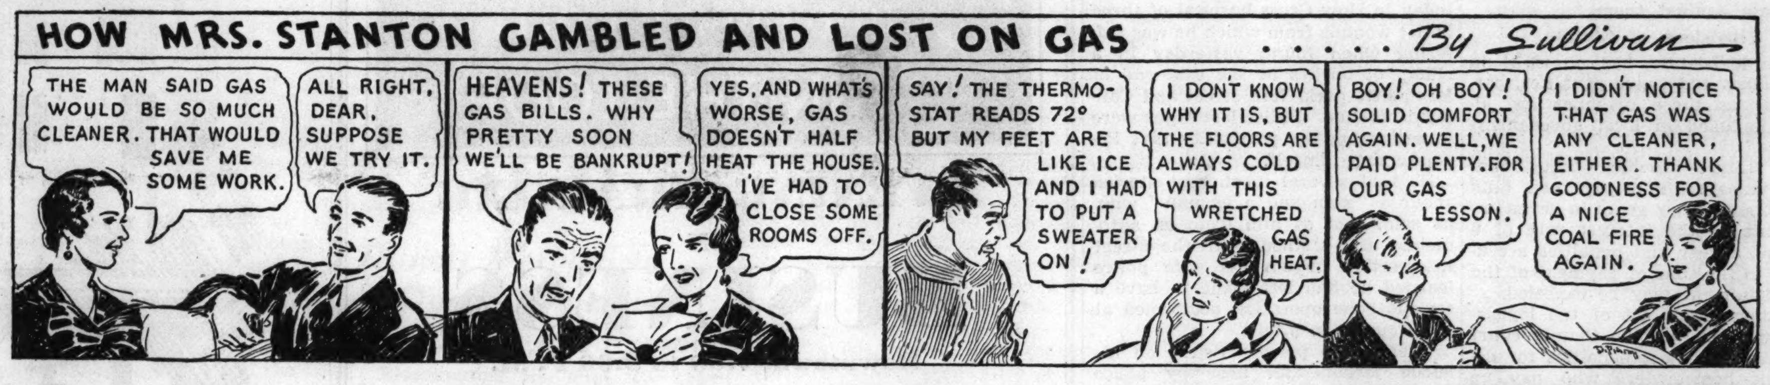
NO HOT WATER AFTER PUTTING IN GAS HEAT



HOW MRS. STANTON GAMBLED AND LOST ON GAS .... By Sullivan
THE MAN SAID GAS WOULD BE SO MUCH CLEANER. THAT WOULD SAVE ME SOME WORK.
ALL RIGHT, DEAR, SUPPOSE WE TRY IT.
HEAVENS! THESE GAS BILLS. WHY PRETTY SOON WE'LL BE BANKRUPT!
YES, AND WHAT'S WORSE, GAS DOESN'T HALF HEAT THE HOUSE. I'VE HAD TO CLOSE SOME ROOMS OFF.
SAY! THE THERMOSTAT READS 72° BUT MY FEET ARE LIKE ICE AND I HAD TO PUT A SWEATER ON!
I DON'T KNOW WHY IT IS, BUT THE FLOORS ARE ALWAYS COLD WITH THIS WRETCHED GAS HEAT.
BOY! OH BOY! SOLID COMFORT AGAIN. WELL, WE PAID PLENTY. FOR OUR GAS LESSON.
I DIDN'T NOTICE THAT GAS WAS ANY CLEANER, EITHER. THANK GOODNESS FOR A NICE COAL FIRE AGAIN.

Gas Cost $133.11—Coal Only $70 Over the Same Period of Time

Had to Shut Off Part of House When Using Gas

RETURNING TO COAL

Convinced Coal Is Least Expensive After 5 Months' Trial of Gas

CHICAGO, September 9—Sensational revelations of discomfort, dissatisfaction and unnecessary expense are contained in a letter received by the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, from Mrs. W. J. Stanton, 1027 N. Lombard Avenue, Oak Park, Illinois.

As depicted in the above picture series, Mrs. Stanton was induced to believe that gas might be a cleaner fuel and save her housework and cleaning bills as well. What was her dismay to discover that gas was not cleaner than coal, that it cost her almost twice as much, only partially heated her house, forced the family to sit around with sweaters on.

Warning to Citizens

The Association feels that it owes a civic duty to citizens of Chicago and suburbs to issue a warning against making the "gas experiment" which has cost so many householders time, money, worry, inconvenience and distress. If one simply cannot learn from experiences of others, he must be prepared to pay twice as much for his winter fuel, and to undergo many unpleasant surprises.

Coal or coke are the most suitable and economical fuels for the "Windy City" as thousands of practical tests in every section of Chicago and suburbs have proven. It only takes one strong North East storm to make the man who has changed to other fuels sorry, and often alarmed for the health and comfort of his family.

MRS. STANTON'S LETTER

Chicago Coal Merchants Association
30 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois
Gentlemen:

I am convinced coal is the least expensive fuel after my experience the past five months with gas heat.

Our coal bill for heating all of our home was $70.00 as against a gas bill of $133.11 including rental of burner for heating the same house over the same period of time with part of the house closed off.

While the thermostat was set at 72° the floors were cold and we sat with sweaters on.

We were led to believe "gas heat was cleaner" but we found no difference.

A convenience we enjoyed while burning coal was hot water all the time while even though a coil was installed in our boiler when the gas burner was put in we never had any hot water. Therefore, we are returning to coal, the most dependable of all fuels for heat, hot water and a warm basement for the children to play in.

(Signed) Mrs. W. J. Stanton
1027 N. Lombard Ave., Oak Park, Ill.

MRS. W. J. STANTON
1027 N. Lombard Ave., Oak Park, Ill.

CHICAGO PREFERS COAL

Coal or coke is the preferred fuel for Chicago homes and apartments. Here are the benefits which have been demonstrated over and over again in homes and apartments of every kind:

EVEN HEAT—No sudden stopping and starting of the furnace or boiler when you use coal or coke. No quickly fluctuating temperatures which are so bad for the health. With coal or coke you get a constant flow of warmth every minute of the day or night.

CLEAN HEAT—Coal or coke gives normal, clean and healthful heat. A natural fuel that you use in the way nature intended.

GENEROUS WARMTH—Coal or coke gives all the heat you can stand, whenever you want it. The amount of heat a good coal-fired furnace or boiler will deliver in a given time is far in excess of what you can endure; but it's a comfort to know the excess is there when a Chicago winter is doing its worst.

COSTS MUCH LESS—Coal or coke bills do not run as high as gas or oil bills. Sometimes the difference is almost half—in favor of coal or coke. Read Mrs. Stanton's evidence. Read also the evidence in "True Experiences."

AUTOMATIC COAL HEATING IF DESIRED—There is no required investment in essential equipment as with gas and oil. However, if automatic heat is desired, regulators are available as low as $19 installed. If self-feeding service is desired, an automatic coal or coke stoker provides this convenience at much less cost than for any other fuel.

TRUE STORIES

True Experiences

Ask any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association to show you his book of "True Experiences." This is a book of letters from homeowners in all sections of Chicago who have tried gas or oil fuel and gone back to coal or coke, giving the reasons why they did so.

INSTALMENT LAW FOR DELINQUENT TAXES HELD VOID

Injunction Keeps Officials from Enforcing Act.

Chief Justice Walter J. La Buy of the Circuit court yesterday held unconstitutional a recently enacted state law to waive penalties on delinquent real estate taxes and to permit payment in seven annual instalments. Judge La Buy said that such legislation would discriminate against persons who already have paid their taxes and penalties in full, would aggravate delays in tax collections and would injure the public credit.

Judge La Buy did not comment on the criticisms which have been leveled at the general assembly on the ground that from time to time it has passed measures affecting Cook county taxes in such a way as to impede prompt collections. He did observe, however, that the seven-year instalment act deprived property owners of an incentive to pay up at once and led them to "postpone payment in the hope of further relief."

Action Brought by Property Owner.

The judge's decision was given in a test case brought by Mrs. Mervyn W. Baum, owner of property at 1550 North State parkway. He granted her plan for an injunction restraining County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill from entering into contracts with delinquent taxpayers under the provisions of the new statute.

The state's attorney's office and the Illinois attorney general's office termed the legislation invalid and coöperated in the test case. County Judge Jarecki also said he believed the law unconstitutional. Treasurer Gill refused to enforce it.

An appeal from Judge La Buy's ruling will be taken to the Illinois Supreme court for final determination of the validity of the bill.

In issuing the injunction and declaring the law void, Judge La Buy said:

"Waiving of penalties as provided by this act of the legislature would give no relief to those who have paid taxes and penalties in full. The largest tax delinquents are big apartment buildings, hotels, and vacant commercial and industrial properties. The single residences and small apartments show comparatively little delinquency and this law would discriminate against them.

Provisions of Statute.

"The legislature has no right to remit taxes and waive penalties, particularly as these revenues are already included in local government budgets."

The statute provides that delinquent taxpayers may pay their bills for 1932 and prior years in seven instalments at the interest rate of 6 per cent a year and penalties accruing up to the time of payment of the first instalment may be canceled.

Another recent act of the legislature provides that the County court may waive all past penalties for delinquent homeowners who pay up their taxes in full. On other forms of real estate the act permits setting aside 50 per cent of accrued penalties. This law is now in operation.

HIS GUN FOR CITY 'SLICKERS' LANDS VISITOR IN CELL

Emil Terrell, 44 years old, of Shawnee, Okla., believes that city "slickers" in Chicago should get the same treatment as cattle rustlers back in the west. He registered at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue, on Monday, and yesterday was observed with a pistol on his hip.

Sergt. Peter Bernacchi of the Central police was called, but Terrell refused to turn over the weapon.

"I carry my gun in Oklahoma," he declared, "and I intend to carry it here. I ain't going to let any of these Chicago slickers rob me."

The gun was taken from him forcibly and he was taken to jail charged with disorderly conduct. He will be arraigned this morning before Judge Eugene Holland in the South State street court.

North Lockwood Av. Paving Caves In Due to Water Leak

A section of pavement 20 feet long and 4 feet wide caved in yesterday on Lockwood avenue near North avenue. Harry Eckland, superintendent of the Thirty-sixth ward offices of the department of public works, said the cave-in probably was caused by a leaking water main.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By BOB BECKER

Wild Life Abounds.

Sept. 10, 1935.

THERE is no telling what kind of an animal or bird one is likely to see here on THE TRIBUNE's experimental farms, judging by the variety that can be recorded in any one week. For example, a few days ago one of the men was inspecting an old hickory tree on the Wheaton farm. An examination showed that it was dead and therefore should be cut down.

Such a tree gets the fatal red mark on the trunk, indicating that it is condemned for firewood. One of the boys reached out to pull a piece of the shagbark from the trunk in order to have a smooth spot on the trunk for the red mark. While doing this he saw what appeared to be a mouse hanging head down close to the trunk.

It was a bat, sleeping through the daylight hourse as is the custom of these night flying animals. Having its hidden sleeping spot discovered, the animal flew away to find another hiding place. But this and other bats that are here on the farm won't be occupying crevices in the old trees much longer because it's time for them to migrate. While they are here, however, they are useful workers because they feed upon insects.

The Wheaton farm has been seeing the annual parade of hawks during the last few days. Most of these marauders are on their way south. Coming down the familiar flyways from the north country at this time of the year are thousands of these birds.

The recent north and northeast winds have been bringing the warblers, too. Some of these tiny, beautifully colored birds have long, dangerous journeys ahead of them before they reach the hot South America with its plentiful food. The migrating birds, robins traveling around in flocks, starlings banded together again, goldenrod in the fields, wild ducks on the ponds, ripe red apples in the orchards—autumn has many interesting ways of signaling its approach.

The boys on the Yorkville farm have been busy cutting and curing hay during the last few days. The cutting was much easier than the curing job because of the weather. There will be no third cutting this season because the wet weather and lack of sunshine early in the season gave the hay a slow start. It looks now as though cold weather will be here before a third cutting of hay can develop.

Clarence Thurow, manager of the Yorkville farm, was commenting yesterday on how slowly the corn is ripening. When I asked him the reason he said:

"We are getting a lot of cool weather now when we ought to have warm, sunshiny weather to ripen corn. If the sun would just pour plenty of heat on the fields for a while it would do the corn a world of good."

Certainly the corn out here doesn't need to grow any taller. The stalks are so high that some of the boys were kidding Clarence about having to put the corn cutters on stilts to make them high enough to cut down some of the skyscraping stalks.

BURNS, PRECINCT CAPTAIN, FREED IN POLLS SLUGGING

Municipal Judge N. J. Bonelli, after keeping a hundred persons waiting for him in the Des Plaines street court for two hours yesterday while he lunched, found John Burns, Democratic captain in the 53d precinct of the 27th ward, not guilty of slugging Ira J. Shipley, formerly a Republican election judge. His ruling was that Burns acted in self-defense.

Shipley, who is 55 years old and lives at 517 North Clark street, said the assault on him by Burns was unprovoked. Burns, who is 40 years old and lives at 1612 Adams street, produced two witnesses who corroborated his statement that Shipley swung a brief case at him before he struck Shipley.

The case was one of several involving election irregularities. Shipley is scheduled to testify today against the judges and clerks of Burns' precinct in a vote fraud case before County Judge Jarecki.

Yesterday Judge Jarecki continued until Friday the case involving other election officials of the 27th ward, and also the petition asking the removal of Fred V. Maguire as president of the board of election commissioners because he also holds appointment as master in chancery.

BULLET VICTIM FOUND IN PARK DIES OF WOUNDS

Matthew Pasinske, 29 years old, 4832 South Hermitage avenue, died early today in Holy Cross hospital of three bullet wounds from which he was suffering when found yesterday in a clump of bushes at the east end of Marquette park, 70th street and California avenue. Police last night were investigating the possibility that Pasinske shot himself.

He told several incoherent stories about a "man and a woman" who, he said, shot at him from an automobile as he stood near the street intersection. From his wife police learned he had left home to have a serious bone operation performed at the County hospital.

There were powder marks on his suede jacket, and near by police found a revolver from which three shots had been fired. Police also learned that Pasinske had recently lost his job of driving a meat truck.

PARALYSIS CASES BRING WARNING FOR ILLINOISANS

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—(AP)—With a warning that an epidemic outbreak of infantile paralysis in Illinois is possible, the state department of public health announced today that twenty-two new cases were reported during the week ending yesterday.

HUNT CASH BOX THIEF.

The central police were searching yesterday for a man who stole a cash box containing $15 from the offices of the Chicago Academy of Beauty Culture at 37 South Wabash avenue.

PREDICT ROOSEVELT VISIT TO CHICAGO LATE THIS MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt may visit Chicago, on his trip to the Pacific coast late this month, officials close to the chief executive disclosed here today.

Mr. Roosevelt plans to take the route through Chicago, Omaha, and Cheyenne, to Salt Lake City. There he will make a side trip to dedicate Boulder dam, and then continue to San Diego, it was learned.

Whether the President will speak in Chicago is not known, although it is certain that he will make one address of a political nature somewhere on the route and Chicago is the largest city he will pass through. The President probably will not accept the American Legion's invitation to address its convention in St. Louis.

MEXICANS FLEE FROM FLOOD.

NUEVA ROSITA, Coahuila, Mexico, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Inhabitants of this area abandoned their homes today and fled to higher ground as the waters of the Alamos river rose approximately 20 feet. Property damage was heavy, but no deaths were reported.

5 ROB CURRENCY EXCHANGE; FLEE AFTER BINDING 5

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Kelly, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Five masked gunmen yesterday raided the South Central Currency exchange, 11 East 79th street, and escaped with $1,000 and securities of undetermined value. They forced John Doig, the manager, and six other persons into a rear room, binding all but two of them with twine, and escaped.

With Doig when the robbers entered were his secretary, Miss Venora Passineau, 23 years old, 1341 Garfield boulevard, and Mrs. Theodore W. Brickman, 7 East 79th street, and her 3 year old son, Richard. Doig and Miss Passineau were forced to sit upon the floor and their hands were bound, but Mrs. Brickman was permitted to stand and hold her child in her arms.

As the robbery progressed Julius Horvath, 8004 Perry avenue; Elmer Politzer, 7948 Indiana avenue, and Henry Schmidt, whose address was not learned, entered and were bound. Five of twelve deposit boxes were forced open and their contents taken.

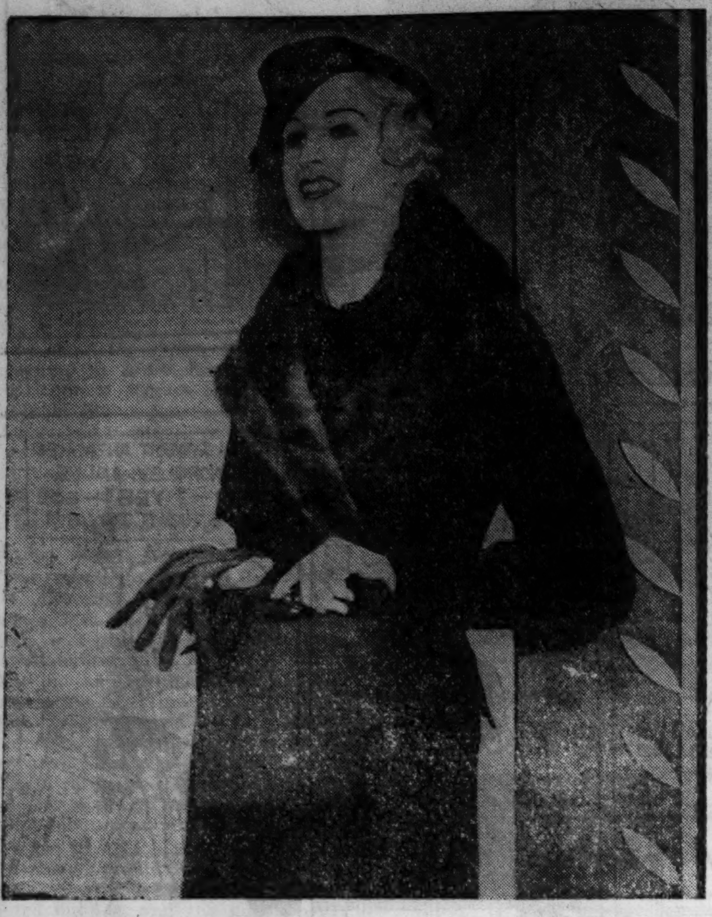
Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

For Dress Parade Wear



From a Chicago shop. Dress parade street costume of long fitted black wool coat trimmed with spicy brown flat fur. The collar and revers of fur accent the fitted silhouette of the coat with their sharply cut corners. This coat is worn over a companion dress of black dull wool fastened with braid frogs and contrasted with an emerald green satin scarf tied under these frogs. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo. Tweed Coats Offer Swank at Low Price

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Tweed topcoats, tailored to the last, smooth, sharp edge and seam and in some of the best looking colors you ever sought, can be found in one shop. The moderate price tags will make a hardened shopper gasp with the shock.

Some nice bright shades—a coral-red, a bright green and the always good, soft coffee-with-cream beige shade are available along with the others of a typical tweed mixture in soft blurred tones.

You'll find herringbone patterns in stunning chestnut brown shades, some knockout grays and black and whites, and a deep rich violet tone.

These topcoats, lined with a sleek, long wearing material, are made with raglan shoulders and the required number of deep pockets. The tweed is fine Harris tweed, warm, swanky and tailored to suit the most pernickity soul.

Checked models are perfect with simple one color wool tailored two piece suits, with plain knitted outfits and for separate skirts and sweaters.

These tweeds make perfect travel coats and gadabout tops and they'll wear practically forever. If you've longed for a tweed topcoat made with fine tailoring and fairly shrieking of English coat swank these are the coats, and the price will keep you gasping for days.

Dental Heatlh Campaign to Open Monday

BY MARCIA WINN.

An intensive campaign of dental education will be launched among the 700,000 school children of Chicago next Monday, coincident with the opening of the public schools, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, announced yesterday.

Dental health certificates will be issued to children whose teeth are in a "clean and healthy" condition. Three additional free dental clinics will be opened for the benefit of the "underprivileged" children.

Fourteen free dental clinics were in operation last year, Dr. Carl Greenwald, chief of the dental division staf, pointed out, but this number was not sufficient to care for the growing number of children whose parents are unable to provide dental care.

"Even with the three new clinics, we won't have facilities enough to care for all of them," Dr. Greenwald added, "but we can care for all the children under eight—and that is the important age for teeth."

"The sixth year molar, the first permanent molar, is the keystone of the dental arch," he explained. "That is why we focus our attention upon the younger children. Moreover, if you can start dental education along with elementary academic education, you'll gradually have tooth conscious schools."

The free dental clinics first were opened in 1929.

Miss Rodiger Will Be Given Dinner-Dance

Eastern Girl Is Guest of Starosselskys.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TOMORROW night Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas Starosselsky are entertaining for her niece, Miss Maribelle Rodiger, who arrived yesterday morning for a visit with her aunt and Mr. Starosselsky in Lake Forest. Miss Rodiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Rodiger of Greenwich, Conn., lived here as a child, so she has many friends here who are looking forward to seeing her.

Although Miss Rodiger has not made a debut, her eastern friends were presented to society last year, so that it is last year's debutantes of Chicago that Mr. and Mrs. Starosselsky will introduce her to while she is here. The Starosselskys have invited a small group of them and their beaux, a few older men, and several of their own friends, to have cocktails at their residence, 949 North Sheridan road, and then the party will adjourn to the Onwentsia club for dinner and dancing. Miss Rodiger will be here a week or two.

The club is continuing its Thursday night buffet dinner-dances through this month, although some of the country clubs that have had these popular "cook's night out" parties all summer already have stopped them, or will very soon.

The Glen View club will have its last one of the season tomorrow night when the menu will consist of sea food and corn and the other delectable foods that are included in a typical down east shore dinner. The Exmoor club had its last Thursday night party on Aug. 31, but it is continuing its Saturday dinner dances through this month. The Knollwood, which held its last Thursday party last week, will have its final Saturday one this week. It will be a harvest home party.

The match to decide who will be women's tennis champion of the Onwentsia club, that was postponed last Sunday because of rain, will be played next Sunday at 3 p. m. Miss Jean Schweppe and her cousin, Mrs. John P. Bent [Mary Reed] will be the contestants.

The harvest home dinner-dance at the Lake Geneva Country club on Sept. 28 will be about the last of the large affairs of this season at the Wisconsin resort.

Another Busy Day for Debutantes.

It would seem to be a pretty poor day for the debutantes and their beaux if there aren't three or four parties for them to attend, and although the young men are not included in the invitations to one party today—the Porter Allens' debut luncheon for their daughter, Ellen—they will join the buds at two teas and a dinner-dance.

This afternoon in Lake Forest from 4 until 7 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore and their daughter, Miss Frances, will receive their friends in their home at 301 North Sheridan road, to celebrate not only Miss Glore's formal appearance in adult society, but also Mr. and Mrs. Glore's 20th wedding anniversary.

The debutante, who attended Miss Porter's school at Farmington, Conn., and Miss Nixon's school in Florence, Italy, and who plans to study in a residential school in New York this winter, will have several friends, not all debutantes, assisting her. Among them are Miss Peggy Hixon, Miss Louise Forgan and Miss Betty Brooks who are post-debutantes; the Misses

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

KANDERSTEG, Switzerland.—This little clearing, at the end of a mountain valley a mile above the remote village of Kandersteg, is so like a stage set it is hard to believe it is real. The pension is a slightly overgrown Swiss chalet, with overhanging eaves, carved wooden balconies from which scarlet geraniums tumble, and a graveled terrace set with little tables covered with checked cloths from which one breakfasts in the sunshine. The small green amphitheater in front of it—for the pension clings to the mountainside rather than being in the valley—is walled in by high mountains. [I have learned their names. The ones with the glistening mantle of snow are the Blümisalp and the Doldenhorn; the jagged peak is the Birrenhorn, and the one without trees or snow is the Fisistocke.] To the right, visible and audible as one eats one's breakfast crescents with curls of butter and gooseberry jam, is the waterfall, a looped and rippled band that sparkles in the sunshine before it flings itself down the mountainside.

THE theatrical effect is enhanced by the walkers from the other hotels down in the village who ascend the path and disappear up the wooded slope behind the hotel. The women wear divided skirts and wool socks; the men lether shorts or plus fours; most of them have rucksacks containing picnic equipment strapped to their backs, and all of them carry walking sticks or Alpenstocks. They pass by with a nod or a friendly "morgen" to the loiterers at the tables in the sunshine, supes in an Alpine theatrical with no plot.

INSIDE the entrance door are two magnificent chamois, felled by a hunter's gun. The furniture is antique—and the chairs and divans look more like family pieces than hotel furniture. And perhaps they are, for the young woman who, with her husband, runs the establishment, inherited it from her father. She is not at all the Alpine landlady one might expect, with her main interest in the consistentcy of the dumplings in the soup, or in getting out a festival hat with gold tassels or brocade streamers for a village holiday, or for Sunday church.

Indeed, this is Sunday, and she appeared in a white tennis dress for a game with her husband before lunch. Her nails are enameled; her clothes are quiet, but chic, she speaks four languages with fluency, and a pretty little nurse in a white cap looks after her baby. Charming as she is, she is a little out of character for the stage production.

And I could prefer that the menu at luncheon and dinner read "Tiroler knödel" and "geröstete kartoffeln" and "bohnenkraut" rather than having the French names for the dishes to be served. But the food is good—even the "Meringue Chantilly" served for dessert today, which seemed sheer affectation printed on the menu, proved to be excellent.

American Cash Backs British Film Projects

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—In an effort to capture world movie supremacy from Hollywood, the British film industry, it is learned, has completed important plans for big capital and other new developments. Arrangements already completed suggest that at least $25,000,000 of new money will go this year into British films, which it is hoped within a few years will be in a position to rival the previously all powerful American industry.

A significant indication of the growth of British film influence is that much new money is said to be coming from the United States itself and it is further pointed out that there is American investment in the 10 year contract that Alexander Korda, managing director of the London Films corporation, has just signed with the United Artists corporation which will take the London films for release in America. Behind the London Films corporation financially is the Prudential Assurance company, which handles a larger amount of investment funds than any other organization in the world.

Another significant development is the announcement of the provision of $750,000 of fresh capital from Canadian sources for the British Lion Film corporation under a reconstruction scheme. Further big production developments are under consideration by several British film groups, including Gaumont and Associated British Pictures.

Pick 'Mephistopheles' with Pinza, Mason to Open Opera Season

The Chicago City Opera company's season will open on Saturday night, Nov. 2, with a revival of Boito's "Mephistopheles." Ezio Pinza of the Metropolitan Opera company will sing the leading rôle. Franco Forest will make his Chicago debut in the rôle of Faust; Edith Mason will be the Marguerite; Mari Barova will be the Martha, and Eleanor La Mance will be cast as Helen. Gennaro Papi will conduct.

"Mephistopheles is Pinza's best rôle," said Paul Longone, general manager of the company, in making the announcement. "The opera has not been heard in Chicago for at least ten years."

Illinois Methodists Open Convention; 2,000 Are Present

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The 112th Illinois convention of the Methodist Episcopal church opened here today with Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Chicago presiding. Five hundred ministers and 1,500 laymen are attending.

Virtually all outstanding social, political and educational problems of the day will be considered during the conference, Bishop Waldorf said. Committees will define the church's attitude on temperance, race relationship, war and peace, and industrial and social security legislation.

Good Morning!

"What! You haven't read the 'Jalna' series? Why, all the world and his wife have read it. Excepting you," said my friend scathingly.

Well, World and his Wife who are "Jalna" fans, I think you're going to like the picture that's been adapted from Mazo de la Roche's prize winning novel—pieced out, I take it—with this, that, and t'other of ensuing books of the series.

From cursory examination of "Jalna"—made since the conversation which showed me up as a stranger and an outcast so far as the works of Miss De la Roche were concerned—I feel that, save in one instance, the original story has been pretty faithfully adhered to, and that the casting is excellent.

The story concerns a family living on an estate—"Jalna"—in Canada, and the picture shows episodes dealing with the family life of these Whiteoaks whose existences are embittered and saddened by the just plain cussedness of Eden, the family weakling and poet.

The opening scenes discover Eden and his brother Piers introducing their brides, Alayne and Pheasant, into the old home. Renny, the oldest brother, according to the behests of his grandfather's will, possesses the estate, but is compelled to give his entire family and their dependents bed and board so long as they all shall live and whenever they shall desire. Gran, though, spicy old matriarch that she is! really holds the purse strings. . . .

Eden's unfortunate proclivities provide constant and bitter brew. . . .

"Jalna" fans will, I suppose, have no trouble keeping the characters straight in their minds. Others, I fear, will find this feat difficult at times. If the spotlight had been kept more persistently turned on Eden, and had he been allowed the tubercular death accorded him by the author, instead of chasing him off a cliff in ten, twent', thirt' fashion, I am sure the film would have proved better "box office."

The acting throughout is immense. Jessie Ralph is the absolute tops as Gran. Ian Hunter is a grave and compelling Renny. David Manners scores splendidly as the handsome, skunky Eden. Kay Johnson I thought adorable as Eden's wife. Good cast all the way through.

And now I reckon I'd better go get better acquainted with them thar "Jalna" books before they spring another one of the series on me. What say?

See you soon!

Reduced Consumption of Meat to Bring Higher Shoe Prices

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Americans are going to have to pay more for their shoes this winter because they don't eat enough meat, said a spokesman at the meeting of the tanners' council today. "The less meat consumed, the less hides we have, and the higher lether prices go," he said, estimating that a pair of shoes will cost about 25 cents more this winter than last. If America were only a goat eating nation, he continued, that would help matters a lot because many fine shoes are made from goat skin.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by her mother-in-law, Edith Heritage, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Dick knew nothing of this period in Nancy's life. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage is a friend of Mrs. Lane. Sylvia, who becomes interested in Dick, assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy had torn it up. Sylvia calls on Dick at the architect's office, where he is employed, and asks him to plan a house for her. They spend a great deal of time together. Mrs. Lane tells Edith Heritage Nancy's secret. Nancy confesses to Dick, who receives the story none too well, but threatens to obtain custody of his unborn child if she leaves him. Nancy seeks Digger for advice and finds him playing tennis. His partner is Doris Upmann, who had been Nancy's co-worker at the reformatory. Digger advises Nancy not to return to Dick. She moves in with Doris, who is engaged to Digger, and sends Dick a wire stating she is staying with an old friend. Dick breaks with Sylvia, though she continues to visit his mother. She is there one day when Digger calls.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

NANCY'S STORY.

Was Dick glad to hear that Nancy was in good health and spirits? He scowled at the jovial and altogether too familiar Sam Digger.

"If you have brought a message from my wife, I'd be obliged if you delivered it."

"Can't say it's a message exactly, because Nancy doesn't even know I'm here. But if you and Miss Lane will kindly sit down I'm going to ask you to listen to a little story. I'll make it as snappy as I can, but it's bound to interest both of you——"

"Where is my wife? I don't want to hear any stories. I want to see my wife and hear her story," Dick said angrily.

Sam Digger regarded him with a benevolence that was positively paternal.

"This is Nancy's story, sir—but you can take my word for it she'd never tell it to you herself. And she doesn't even know that I know the whole of it. She's rather set in her mind, is Mrs. Nancy—obstinate as a mule, I tell her. She says she's never coming back to live with you, sir, because she can't prove what she said about her being innocent."

Sylvia gave a derisive laugh in which one might have detected a note of relief, and turned to the chair she had vacated in such a hurry.

"This man is talking in circles," she said, "but he's just said something that makes sense. Have you got a match, Dick? I think I'll light up again and listen to him."

Before Dick could find a match Mr. Digger was ahead of him with a petrol lighter.

"Thanks," said Sylvia. "Now start your circle again."

Dick, ignoring this interlude, spoke anxiously to Sam. "I don't want my wife to prove anything," he said. His pride was beginning to wear a little thin, and knowing Nancy as he did he quite believed that if she took it into her head to do so she could be just as stubborn as the solicitor reported her to be.

"You see, it isn't what you want," Sam told him unctuously. "It's what Nancy has set her mind on. That's the sort of little lady she is. I've talked to her until I was black in the face——"

"And now you're talking us black in the face," Sylvia interrupted. "If you've got anything to say, why don't you get it over? Frankly, you are the most boring person I ever hope to encounter."

"Let him tell his story," said Edith Heritage.

"Sorry I'm so dull, Miss Lane. . . . Well, this tale of mine begins about seven years back, when you were sixteen years old and Nancy Akers, your governess-companion, a little older. Your family was living on the hopes of your inheriting a fortune from a certain rich old woman, a widow, whose name was Mrs. Bagge. Money was stolen from this Mrs. Bagge and marked notes were found in Nancy Akers' purse. The inference was plain enough. Nancy would not say how the notes got into her purse, but claimed that she was innocent of the thefts. She was arrested and taken before a magistrate, who committed her to a reformatory for four years."

"Now the circle is well started again," observed Sylvia.

Sam obliged her, but it did not interrupt the flow of his story.

"At this reformatory," he went on, "Nancy Akers almost at once attracted the sympathetic notice of a Miss Satchell, who was the lady governor, and she also became friends with a girl—one of the inmates—whom I will call Doris. Both Nancy and Doris worked together in Miss Satchell's private office.

"One winter's evening, when both these girls were feeling rather miserable—Christmas was coming on, I believe—they got to talking about things, as girls do whether they're locked up in a reformatory or not, and Nancy told Doris she was innocent of the charge they'd made against her and could prove it if she wanted to.

"These proofs, again!" murmured Sylvia. "When are we going to get them?"

"Presently," Sam Digger assured her.

Sylvia put out her cigaret and leaned forward, drumming with her fingertips on the arms of her chair. Somehow it was beginning to look like a trap.

"As I was saying . . . well, Doris said to Nancy, 'The more fool you, then'—or words to that effect. 'If you can prove it, you'd be out of here by Christmas.'

"And then Nancy said she was going to destroy the only proof she had, because it was a sort of temptation to her, and would implicate another girl that she'd been stupid enough to promise she would never give away."

Sylvia gave a sharp little laugh. "The girl being me, I suppose. So that's how the story goes. Not bad, really. And was this mysterious proof destroyed, Mr. Digger?"

"Yes, it was——" Sam admitted.

"I thought it would be. Such a pity, because——"

"Wait a minute, young lady. In a manner of speaking it was destroyed—and Nancy Akers doesn't even at this minute know to the contrary. But what really happened was this: Nancy took a piece of paper out of the inside of her dress, tore it across and threw the pieces on to the fire. And then she found she was crying and didn't want Doris to say anything to her, so she flew out of the room. The instant she was gone Doris pulled the scraps of paper off the coals and was fitting them together when Miss Satchell came into the office, wanting to know what Doris was doing and what had happened to upset Nancy Akers."

Sam broke off to mop his moist face and forehead with a gayly colored silk handkerchief while his audience regarded him with considerably mixed feelings.

Sylvia Lane looked like a pinched effigy in wax, and Edith Heritage was breathing as though she had just reached the top of a high hill.

"Go on, please," Dick said.

"Well, the upshot of it all was that Miss Satchell herself took possession of those scorched scraps of paper and told Doris she was never to mention the affair—that it was Nancy Akers' secret, and Nancy was entitled to act as she saw fit about it.

"But Miss Satchell carefully pieced the thing together and left it in an envelope among her papers, with a note to say that in case it might ever be needed it was to be restored to Nancy Akers. She also mentioned this girl I'm calling Doris as some one who could be cited as a witness. You see, Nancy always thought Miss Satchell believed in her innocence, but it happened that Miss Satchell all the time had this proof. That's why she left Nancy that handsome legacy. I guess she thought that taking it all around Nancy Akers was a thoroughly decent kid who'd had a pretty rough deal.

"Now this paper I've got is signed by your name, Miss Lane, and the handwriting is the same as the signature."

Mr. Digger was now searching in a pocket for his note case and taking out an envelope with an air of exaggerated care.

Sylvia jumped to her feet and dashed toward the door, but Dick caught her by the arms and held her firmly.

"O, no, you don't! . . . Read it, Digger."

"Let me go—let me go, you brute!" cried Sylvia, but Dick paid no attention to her until she bent down and fastened her teeth in his wrist. Then, perforce, he loosened his hold and she ducked under his arm and was out of the room like a shot.

"Yes, leave her go," said Sam Digger. "There it is, sir. Read it for yourself."

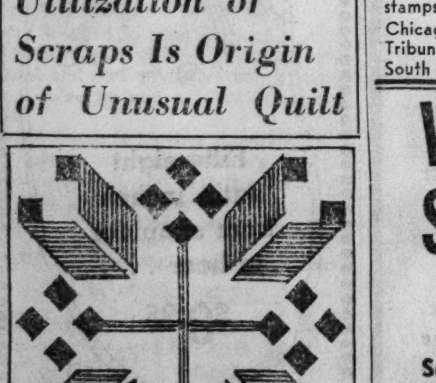
Utilization of Scraps Is Origin of Unusual Quilt



Weather Vane.

BY NANCY CABOT.

In the old days women derived far more satisfaction from making their own applique designs than from following patterns of others. "Weather Vane" is an example of an unusual and beautiful quilt block made by a New England woman when she found it necessary to utilize the remaining scraps of previous quilts. The entire coverlet requires 24 applique and 32 plain designs.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Children Are Spendthrifts with Energy

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Any one who has had much experience with children knows the importance of keeping them rested. Small children, older boys and girls, and even those in their teens are spendthrifts with their energy. Usually they don't even know they're tired—nor do they know what's the matter with them when, having encroached on their reserve supply of strength, they show their overfatigue indirectly in such ways as loss of appetite, inability to go to sleep or restlessness, short tempers, easy tears, and half a dozen other symptoms.

We parents are the ones who must watch, who must conserve their energy. But there is no absolute law that any one can lay down as to how much a child shall or shall not do, or how much sleep he needs. In detail, these things are determined by the individual child.

We forget too often that a child has less stamina than a grown person, and that consequently he tires more easily and more frequently. Where an adult keeps going from morning until night, a child needs breaks for rest and sleep, so that the energy, which is so quickly drained off by his perpetual motion, may accumulate again in the reservoir. Energy reserve should never be allowed to reach too low a level.

And always a mother must bear in mind that the tremendous function of growth is going on—a function which makes great demands upon the body—a function which, though it goes on more rapidly at some times than at others, always has to be taken into account.

We have a leaflet composed of reading references on the physical care of children which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self addressed envelope.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A cream you might keep handy for use on those occasions when you look and feel like the wrath of God and must pull yourself together to be charming and easy to look at on short notice is, of all colors, a pistachio green. The very sight of it is soothing, the touch of it seems pleasantly cool, and in some miraculous fashion a five minute session with it transforms your tired, sallow skin into a beautifully refreshed one.

This is on the mask principle, one of those creams designed to help the tired business woman. It offers relief from the day's wear and tear on your face and promotes the much to be desired radiance. It softens and refreshes the skin and does the job competently in five minutes.

This cream is to be applied after cleansing, of course. Remember, if you use cream for this the skin must be absolutely free of grease before the freshening cream is used. A dash of skin tonic will see to that. Then when the skin is quite dry spread the spongy, pretty green cream rather lavishly over your face and neck. Leave it on for five minutes, then remove with tissues. If you leave it longer it will dry and instead of wiping it off lazily you'll have to do a bit of scrubbing.

Your skin will respond in a surprising fashion. You won't be the haggard, mousey looking woman you were five minutes before—you'll look and feel pepped up. One grand advantage of this is its speed. When you're dashing to dinner, to lunch, or even when callers come unexpectedly the short, private session does the trick.

What To Eat To Get Strength-Building Iodine Into Blood and Glands
Science Says Regular Ration of NATURAL IODINE Is Needed To Build Up Weak, Rundown, Skinny Folks—Give Them New Energy, Endurance and Pep!
If you are weak, skinny and rundown—if you go around always tired, nervous, irritable, easily upset, the chances are your blood is thin, pale and watery and lacks the nourishment needed to build up your strength, endurance and the solid pounds of new flesh you need to feel right. Science has at last got right down to the real trouble with these conditions and explains a new, quick way to correct them.
Food and medicines can't help you much. The average person usually eats enough of the right kind of food to sustain the body. The real trouble is assimilation, the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, pep and energy. Tiny hidden glands control this body building process—glands which require a regular ration of NATURAL IODINE (not the ordinary toxic chemical iodine, but the iodine that is found in tiny quantities in spinach, lettuce, etc.). The simplest and quickest way to get this precious needed substance is Kelpamalt, the astonishing new mineral concentrate from the sea. Kelpamalt is 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, hitherto considered the best source. With Kelpamalt's iodine, you quickly normalize your weight and strength building glands, promote assimilation, enrich the blood and build up a source of enduring strength. Kelpamalt, too, contains twelve other precious, vitally needed body minerals without which good digestion is impossible.
Try Kelpamalt for a single week. Notice how much better you feel, how well you sleep, how your appetite improves, color comes back into your cheeks. And if it doesn't add 5 lbs. of good solid flesh the first week, the trial is free. Kelpamalt costs but little.

Miss Rodiger Will Be Given Dinner-Dance

Eastern Girl Is Guest of Starosselskys.

Clarice Hamill, Mary Wood, Barbara Stanley, and Barbara Morse, debutantes of the current season, and Miss Nancy Poole, who will not come out until next year.

Tonight Miss Glore, her assistants and their escorts will attend a dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Connors are giving in their Lake Forest home for Miss Morse, who will be presented at a tea by her parents, the Milton M. Morses, next Saturday. Another dinner-dance planned for Miss Morse is one at which Mr. and Mrs. Knight C. Cowles will be host and hostess tomorrow night at the Onwentsia club.

Give Tea Today for Mary Jean Bartelme.

The second tea today is that which Mrs. Dorothy Bartelme and her mother, Mrs. Ferdinand Eugene Bartelme, will give for their niece and granddaughter, Miss Mary Jean Bartelme, in the Bartelme home at 1293 Westmoor road, Winnetka. Miss Bartelme, who returned recently from a summer in Europe, is a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school and will return to Vassar for her second year on Sept. 19. Several Winnetka debutantes will assist at the Bartelme tea which, provided the day is pleasant, should be a lovely one, for Mrs. Bartelme has had a marquee erected outside, and the guests will be served outdoors. Among the assistants will be the Misses Anne Harding, Frances Price, Babbs Burton, and her houseguest, Miss Elizabeth Alexandre of Long Island; Julie Walcott, Elsie Earle, Esther and Elizabeth Buchen, Katherine Bulger, Josephine Zeiss, and Anne Burnham.

Tonight the debutante's aunt and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest William Teagle of Glencoe will take Miss Bartelme, her assistants and their escorts to the Palmer house to dine and dance. Tomorrow Mrs. William Ogden Green and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, are giving a luncheon for Miss Bartelme in Mrs. Green's home. Another party planned for the debutante will be given by her aunt, Mrs. Robert Cutting, and her father-in-law, Judge Charles Cutting, during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Allen and her daughter will receive all of the debutantes at 1 o'clock in their new home at 550 Cedar street, Winnetka. Miss Allen, who with her parents moved to Chicago only four or five years ago from Pennsylvania, attended the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr, and she will be at home this winter. Miss Margaret Brown of Greenwich, Conn., a classmate at Shipley, is Miss Allen's houseguest.

Margaret Bell Bows at Dinner-Dance.

At a gay dinner-dance in their home last night Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell presented their third daughter, Miss Margaret, to society. The debutante, who received with her parents, wore a lovely but simple gown of pink lamé made with a V neck trimmed with a ruffle, and her mother wore navy blue lace.

The young guests dined and danced around the swimming pool on the grounds of the hospitable Bell home on Tower road in Hubbard Woods. Miss Helen Bell and Miss Frances Bell are the bud's post-debutante sisters.

Miss Starr Taber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Taber of 190 East Chestnut street, has chosen Oct. 12 as the date for her wedding to Lawrence Y. Crump, son of William R. H. Crump of Chevy Chase, Md.

The ceremony is to take place at St. Chrysostom's church at 4:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a reception at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Philip Bradford Taber will be matron of honor, and Miss Mary Taber, the bride's sister, is to be the maid of honor. Roger Somers will be the best man.

The young couple will make their home in Chicago.

John J. Mitchell has returned to Chicago from El Mirador in Montecito, Cal., but Mrs. Mitchell and the children are remaining at their western home until later in the fall.

Tell Engagement of Miss Beth Gates.

The engagement is announced this morning of Miss Beth Gates, daughter of Mrs. Nell S. Gates and Errett Gates of Chicago, to Rowland V. Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Patrick of West Newton, Mass. Miss Gates was graduated from the University High school and attended the University of Chicago, where she was president of the Mortar Board club. Her fiancé was graduated from Amherst, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is a graduate of the Harvard law school and now practices law in Boston, where he and his bride will reside.

Miss Gates is leaving tomorrow for the east to visit Mr. Patrick's family. While she is in the east the bride-to-be will pick out her new home in Boston. The wedding will take place some time this fall.

When Salad Art Improves on Nature

A frosty "bunch o' grapes" salad proves that, in one instance at least, art can improve upon nature in the salad line.

WOMAN'S DRESS.

There are many things about this pretty dress that will be becoming to women with heavier figures. There is the length giving panel skirt, the bias lines of the raglan sleeves, and the interesting arrangement of the frilled collar, with its slenderizing effect. The pattern, No. 3312, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material with ⅞ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Autumn Beauty Program Asks Care of Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

There are seasonal styles in hands, just as there are seasonal styles in frocks, in the opinion of Dolores del Rio, glamorous movie star.

In the summer the hand that wields a tennis racket or golf club proficiently, and is healthily brown and competent, is the hand that wins praise. But when fall and winter set in, the browned and healthy hand looks a bit out of place against the festive finery of the entertainment season. The "pale hand, I love you" is the theme song then.

"That's why I have been working to get my hands into what I call winter condition," says the beauteous Dolores, whose hands, methinks, would be held fondly, pale or dark! The first thing Miss Del Rio does, we learn, is to give her hands more than the usual quota of oil to counteract the drying effects of the sun, wind, and water to which they've been exposed during the daily golf and tennis game and plunge.

"This means a daily massage with a rich nourishing cream, after which I wash them with a cold cream soap and rinse them thoroughly in cool water. I always am careful to dry my hands well, and to use a hand lotion after every washing.

"But, for the retoning work I massage a bleaching cream into my hands and put on especially prepared bleaching gloves, which I allow to remain on while I sleep. Then, first thing in the morning, I remove the gloves and, after whisking up a good lather with my cream soap and rinsing thoroughly, I dip my hands into a bowl of lemon juice and water, half and half, allowing them to soak for five minutes. This I follow with another rinsing in cool water and another application of hand lotion after the hands are dried."

Pear and Grape Salad Artful and Delicious

Frosted Fruits Combined for Flavor Hit.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Gilding the lily" is a practice which, we maintain, ought not to be generally applied in salad making. On the whole the fruits and vegetables which come to our tables defy the arts of woman to improve upon them, as salad materials, with any thing but the addition of a good dressing. There are all kinds of these casual salads, rich in native charm, which ask only a dash of salad dressing—and presto! There's a salad!

But in the case of a frosted pear and grape salad we beg leave to enter a minority report. Here's one example, say we, of how art can triumph over nature.

Pears in themselves are luscious things. Grapes, fresh from autumn vineyards, are practically perfection! But halves of pears with half-grapes clustering all over them are something of which Burbank never thought, a salad phenomenon not to be found in nature, and distinctly worth while.

These supernaturally handsome salads are made like this: Begin with a No. 2 can of medium sized, firm fleshed pears. If you prefer fresh pears, halve and pare them, and dip them in lemon juice before you proceed further. Then mix two 3 ounce packages of cream cheese with a fourth cup of milk. Spread this smooth cheese mixture over the backs of the pears—a double purpose trick which adds goodness to the salad and provides a sticking surface for the grapes.

A pound of seedless white grapes is then halved and arranged over the tops of the pears to resemble a fat bunch of grapes. These preposterously bulging grape bunches then go into the refrigerator until the first frosty bloom of chill is upon them. Caution: freezing dims their delicate flavor!

Each pear half is served on crisp lettuce, with a bit of grape stem in the small end to carry the idea to its logical conclusion. A bowl of salad dressing is served separately, so that each guest may first admire his salad in its full glory and then dress it to his taste.

2 Cl.	Pass	2 Di.	Dbl.
2 N.-T.	Pass	3 N.-T.	Pass

The attack:

In the first half of this analysis we ally ourselves with the declarer. North is not in the best spot, and his position does not become any more enviable when East opens the ten of diamonds. He covers with the jack. At this point West, after winning with the queen, could lay down the ace and give the dummy a trick with its king; but West doesn't do that. West returns the queen of clubs. East puts on a semi-encouraging four spot and North, finding himself in his own hand, plays the jack of spades. East dabbles with the thought of covering and finally abandons it. North cannot have three spades. He may hold only one. Therefore East ducks. Another spade finesse later, North cashes the ace of the suit, discarding a club from his own hand. West has parted with two diamonds, retaining five hearts. The king of hearts is played and the jack finessed. North then cashes the king of clubs and the ace of hearts and throws West in with another heart. West cashes his long heart, but finds himself eventually forced to give the declarer his king of diamonds and his ninth trick.

The defense:

The play admittedly does not proceed along precisely the same lines. North is not quite sure which opponent he will end play. Therefore, when West shows out on the second spade he does not cash his ace of spades. He retains the ten-ace and makes the same plays as before. However, when North attempts to throw West in with the heart he discovers that West has been rapidly unblocking in order to play the five of hearts under the six. North now finds that he is the proud possessor of four hearts, two spades, and two clubs, but he must put East in, and East and West together take the rest of the tricks.

New Meeting Might Cure a DreamRomance

Long Distance Love Often Clad in Illusion.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's a love problem, readers, to which it would please me to have you apply your mind and suggest what you think might be a happy solution.

The girl is 21 years old. She has known the boy for 12 years, practically grown up with him. Until recently it didn't dawn on "Pat" that theirs was anything but one of those brother-and-sister devotions. He always had a sort of protective attitude toward her, always took her places, and saw that she got home. His parents like her and are much liked in turn. But there never was talk of love between the two. "He treated me like a sister and I treated him like a brother," she tells.

Until lately, and now she realizes she is in love, exceedingly in love. What complicates the situation is this: "Ten years ago the boy went to visit an aunt out west. Next door was a little girl, the memory of whom the chap has never gotten over. They correspond by card occasionally, but the youth is determined that she's the dream girl of his life.

"How does he know he still will feel the same toward that girl? They've both changed. They must have done so during the long years. Meanwhile, I have to stand aside, not knowing what to do. He often remarks that he wonders why he is more open and confidential with me than with anyone else, even his mother. I just adore the fellow in spite of everything. What could I do?" Twenty-One.

We think it might not be a bad idea to be persuading party to his going west again and seeing the girl. It might be dangerous. It might not. At least, a decision would be reached. It's uncertainty that robs the cheeks of bloom. One recover from a blow. No one can predict Cupid's next move, but the girl who has become as ingrained a habit with a man as Twenty-One is apt to be missed. Comparison with her is apt to be the other-girl test.

Mme. Schumann-Heink Hopes Her Films Will Carry Music to All

Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who has just signed a movie contract, said here yesterday that her goal in her film work would be "to spread the message of great music to the man in the street." The 74 year old opera star is staying at the Parkway hotel, 2100 Lincoln Park West.

"I sang my last opera three years ago," she said, "but there's still plenty of voice left for the cinema. I'm probably the movies' oldest beginner but I want people to forget my age. I believe you are only as old as you feel."

Madame Schumann-Heink's movie contract goes into effect next January. It calls for 40 weeks of studio work each year for three years.

This Girl Quits Movies for a Career as Teacher

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 10.—Sally Brown would rather be principal of a grammar school than star of a movie studio. She said today she was dropping screen work after her one and only rôle before the camera to accept a school promotion at Hermosa Beach, Cal. Miss Brown, sister of Mrs. John D. Spreckels III. of Coronado, Cal., won a screen test recently when studio scouts saw her picture on a newspaper society page.

Goodman Puts Out Dunlap, 3 and 2.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10.—William Lawson Little Jr. of San Francisco today continued to march over the rolling ravines of the Country Club of Cleveland toward his goal of four consecutive major golf championships.

CHANDLER EGAN.

Little, winner of the British and American titles last year, and a repeater overseas this spring, won his 25th successive match in big time competition by eliminating Bill Lain of Chicago, 6 and 4, in the second round of the 39th national amateur tournament. To make it 26 he will have to put out Knox M. Young, 26 year old Pittsburgh insurance salesman, tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon, to make it 27, he must eliminate the winner of a battle between two young men named Robert Riegel and Rupert Friday.

Two days and 138 matches have reduced the original field of more than 200 to 64. After the two 18 hole rounds tomorrow will come two more on Thursday to discover which four players will go into Friday's 36 hole semi-finals.

Lain Gets Early Lead.

Little had a fairly easy time of it today, although Lain was two up on him at the fifth tee, and they were even on the seventh. Little may have no trouble with Riegel and Friday, but it is likely that ere the week is out he will run into a peck of trouble.

Doubtless Little is well aware of several of the remaining 63 parties. One of them is Sandy Somerville, the taciturn Canadian who won the title in 1932 and who lost out to Little in the quarter finals of 1935. Sandy has a problem of his own to face tomorrow in the person of young Walter Emery of Oklahoma City, the old intercollegiate champion, who shaded par for the second straight round today. Somerville prepared for this by being three under par for the 14 holes he needed to win his match against Douglas Hill of Cincinnati today.

Egan Still Tops.

Still another with whom Little may have to reckon is a slim and kindly gentleman from out of the west—H. Chandler Egan, formerly of the Chicago Egans, and at present of the Pebble Beach Egans. This afternoon Egan, 52 years old, who was champion in 1904 and 1905, scored the big victory in the second round when he eliminated Charles Becka, 23 year old radio inspector who is numbered among the best in the Chicago district, in a match which went 22 holes. It was no loose golf they played either, for Chandler and Chuck both reached the 18th even at par 72, and when it was all over the veteran was still tied with par for the 22 holes, and the blond Becka was just over it.

Little, the son of an army colonel, doubtless has mapped out a plan of battle for the next four days. Among others he may be forced to meet

WAKE MAIL BOX.

DEAR WAKE: While in Orlando, Fla., a couple of years ago I called at Joe Tinker's billiard room there. I had seen Joe play many times while I was a resident of Chicago, so of course we got to talking of the old days of Frank Chance, the Peerless Leader, and his Cubs championship teams of that time over at the old west side ball park.

Joe told me that Harry Steinfeldt never got the credit he deserved in helping to make the play which decided ultimately the championship of 1908, the famous Merkle "bonehead play."

As you remember, there was a hit which drove home the supposedly winning run, but in his excitement and exultation Merkle, who was on first, tore for the clubhouse, neglecting to touch second.

Joe McGinnity of the Giants got the ball as it came back from the outfield and tried to throw the sphere into the grandstand. Another Cub, however, pinioned McGinnity's arms and the ball was deflected into the vicinity of Steinfeldt. According to Tinker, Harry threw the ball to Evers at second for the force-out. At least it was so ruled by Umpire Hank O'Day, who passed away recently. He based his decision on a similar play which had occurred at Pittsburgh about a week before.

The game was ordered replayed and Chicago won. That meant the championship and the Cubs defeated Detroit in the world series for the second year in succession.

R. A. Anderson, Beverly Hills, Cal.

At this time when the Cubs are up there fighting so valiantly for first place my memory goes back to the prediction of Helper Philip A. Beaker, who early in the year opined the Cubs would be out of the first division by July 4 and later revised his estimate until some time in August. He said, in effect, the Cubs had only one player.

Has Mr. Beaker never heard of "team play"? That was what kept our Cubs fighting for the lead. This critic conceded the Cubs one good player. Well, young Augie Galan will do pretty well for an outfielder. Larry French is a reliable hurler, and Gabby Hartnett is a pretty sweet catcher, but it has been team morale, team play of every member of the squad which has carried the Cubs farther than most critics expected—perhaps yet to the title.

PATTY BERG GETS RECORD 77, TOPS DERBY GOLFERS

Patty Berg, 17 year old Minneapolis girl who lost to Glenna Collett Vare in the finals of the women's national golf tournament two weeks ago, set a competitive course record of 77 at Northmoor yesterday as she took the lead in the Women's Western Derby.

Five Strokes Back.

Sylvia Annenberg, New York state champion, and Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., the women's western champion, tied at 167 for second place, while Mrs. A. Austin Pardue of Indian Hill, with an 83 yesterday, had 168 for third. Rena Nelson of Exmoor, city champion, shot an 82, the second best round of the day, to be fourth with 169.

It was a raw, cold day with a strong wind off the lake and scores mounted high. The long hitting Marion McDougall, of Portland, Ore., who led the field the first day, with 81, turned in a 90 which sent her down to fifth place.

Starts with Birdie.

Miss Berg started with a birdie 4 on the first hole of her record round. She missed her second shot at the second hole and traps cost her strokes at the 4th, 6th and 7th. However, she salvaged two of those with birdies at the 8th and 9th, sinking a 20 foot putt at the latter hole. She reached the turn in 40, one over par. Coming home she got a birdie on the 10th after shooting from a trap, collected birdies on 13th and 14th and then ran pars to the 18th, where she sank a six foot uphill putt for her seventh birdie of the round.

Miss Berg—Out	455	456	434—40

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NONE of Joe Louis' last seven opponents has survived more than six rounds. . . . Following a ten round decision he won from Natie Brown in Detroit on March 28 he knocked out his next foemen in this fashion: Roy Lazer at Chicago [3], Biff Benton at Dayton [2], Roscoe Toles at Flint [6], Willie Davis, Peoria [2]; Gene Stanton, Kalamazoo [3]; Primo Carnera at New York [6], King Levinsky at Chicago [1]. . . . Since quitting the amateur ranks after the International Golden Glove bouts between the champions of Chicago and Poland in 1934, Louis has engaged in 24 professional fights. . . . He has won 20 by knockouts and four by decisions. . . . As an amateur Louis fought 54 times. . . . He had 43 knockouts and seven decisions to his credit. . . . He lost to Johnny Miler, Max Marek, Clinton Bridges, and Stanley Evans. . . . Spyros Louis, Greek shepherd, who won the marathon at the first modern Olympic games at Athens in 1896, will take part in the opening ceremonies of the 1936 games in Berlin. . . . One of the leading sophomore prospects for the University of Chicago football team is Fred Lehnhart, whose brother Bill was a back field man at Northwestern a few years ago.

Peter Peel, donor of the Peel soccer trophy, played half back on the Rush Medical football team. . . . That was in the days when the backs used to hurdle the line, occasionally landing both feet on the chest of a defending player. . . . Fortunately a hospital was near the field. . . . Ed Linke of Washington, included on an All-Slav baseball team, is of German descent. . . . The authority is his sister. . . . Joe Kurth, who was recognized as one of the best tackles in college football in his student days at Notre Dame, is playing with the La Crosse, Wis., Lager eleven this fall. . . . Doc Spears of Wisconsin isn't speaking to Gus Dorais of Detroit. . . . They were paired in a golf tournament at Albion, Mich., this summer and Dorais shot a 118, costing Spears $8.50. . . . Next day Spears traded off Dorais for a new partner and Gus shot an 83. . . . This cost Doc. $12.50. . . . When Nick Kearns, Big Ten football and basketball official, writes Jimmy Crowley of Fordham, an indifferent soul toward correspondence, he sends his message by express in a huge cardboard box labeled "Food Stuff—Rush."

In a north of England factory during the cricket season the following notice was posted: "Application for leave of absence on account of influenza, twins, measles, relatives' funerals, etc., must be handed to the foreman not later than 8 a. m. on the date of the match." . . . Ed Hall, Kansas university's great sprinter of the last three years, has been appointed to the football coaching staf at St. Louis university. . . . Channing Parmelee, young brother of the Giants' pitcher, completing his first year of professional baseball, has won 18 games and lost three for the Snow Hill, N. C., team in the Coastal Plain league since June 22. . . . One of his victories was a no-hit, no-run game. . . . He plays outfield when not pitching and is the league's fourth leading hitter. . . . Chicago's Catholic Youth organization boxers who earned scholarships by winning their way to the finals of the annual C. Y. O. tournament are preparing to leave for the school of their choice. . . . The group includes: Tom Kenneally, heavyweight, Campion academy, Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Phil Kenneally, lightweight, Notre Dame; Savior Canadeo, lightweight, St. Norbert college, West De Pere, Wis.; Chris Schuessler, light heavyweight, Campion academy; Mike Murphy, light heavyweight, Georgetown, and Johnny Noto, flyweight, Notre Dame.

Joe Medwick, first Hungarian to make good in major league baseball, sent his world series check to his mother last fall and he has promised her this year's cut if the Cardinals are in the series again. . . . When Big Ten football coaches and officials at their recent meeting doubted whether they could rush the band off the field at the expiration of the intermission period, Robert Zuppke of Illinois told the meeting that if he could order off Tito Schipa, opera singer, he thought an official wouldn't have much trouble with a college band. . . . "I didn't know who he was," Zuppke said, "and when he was ready to sing an encore over the loud speaker system at our Michigan game, I said to him: "Student, you sure can sing, but you are through." . . . G. Huff nearly died, according to Zuppke, but Schipa enjoyed it.

Ten Years Ago Today—Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams defeated Borota and Lacoste in straight sets to clinch the Davis cup for America for the sixth time. . . . Billy Evans, veteran American league umpire, was offered the presidency of the International league at a reported salary of $12,500 a year. . . . Paul Berlenbach retained his light heavyweight title by stopping Jimmy Slattery in the 11th round. . . . The Cubs bought Frank Lefty O'Doul, outfielder, from the Salt Lake City club.

GRANT'S SPINNER UPSETS BUDGE IN NATIONAL TENNIS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Bryan M. Grant Jr., who stands scarcely over five feet, completed the biggest tennis upset of the year today when he defeated towering Don Budge, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, and gained the semi-final round of the 54th United States singles tennis tournament.

Grant became a giant killer of prominence in 1933 when he whipped Ellsworth Vines in straight sets at a time when Vines was defending the national title. He's been taking periodic falls out of the big fellows ever since.

Easy Ones Fool Budge.

In subduing Budge he halted, temporarily at least, one of the most brilliant rises of a youngster in the history of the game. Budge, with victories over Bunny Austin and Baron Gottfried von Cramm at Wimbledon this summer, was seeded second among the American entrants and conceded as having the best chance of dethroning champion Fred Perry of England.

The Davis cup singles player actually lost to Grant yesterday when the contest was stopped because of rain with the Atlantan leading, 6-4, 6-4, 2-1. Budge thrives on speed—the harder an opponent hits the ball the better he likes it. Grant fed him nothing but soft spinners yesterday and continued these tactics when play was resumed this afternoon.

Meets Wood Today.

Grant's opponent tomorrow in the semi-finals will be Sidney B. Wood Jr., Davis cup alternate and former Wimbledon champion. The other semi-finalists are Champion Perry and Wilmer Allison. These contests will be played in advance of the match between Helen Hull Jacobs and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan for the women's championship, which Miss Jacobs has won the last three years.

Pitts Stars as Eagles Eleven Beats West Chester

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Alabama Pitts, former Sing Sing inmate, signed a contract today with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league. Later he was the defensive star in a practice game between the Eagles and West Chester State Teachers college. The professional team won, 33 to 0.

Injured Morton Captain in Serious Condition

Harold Bortman, captain of the Morton High school lightweight football team, who was injured in practice Saturday, was in a serious condition yesterday at St. Anthony's hospital. He is suffering from hemorrhage of the brain.

Grove Stops Sox; Boston Wins, 4 to 3

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—The White Sox managed to get ahead of the Red Sox for a little while this afternoon, but when the game was over they were on the short end of the score. The count was Boston, 4, Chicago, 3. It was the sixth whipping the White Sox have taken on their current shuffle through the east, as compared with one victory, and their record of three runs as their highest score in one game still goes unmarred, though they have high hopes of making maybe four runs off Rube Walberg in the final here tomorrow.

Les Tietje was plastered with his 13th defeat and but for the fact that he was able on occasions to manipulate his strikeout ball might have taken a worse trimming. Six strikeouts helped him out of several big jams. Five walks, however, put him in several others.

No. 17 for Grove.

In the sixth Dib Williams doubled with the bases full, scoring the tying and winning runs. In this session Tietje fanned three, getting Almada and Cronin after the two runs had scored and the bases again had been loaded. Grove had struck out earlier in the inning.

It was Grove's 17th victory of the season and although he allowed 10 hits, he was able to wade out of difficulties in every inning after the Sox concluded their day's scoring in the fifth inning. Nice fielding plays

CARDINALS WIN; BRUINS REMAIN 1 GAME BEHIND

Giants Gain with 2 Victories.

The New York Giants won a double header from Pittsburgh, 4-3 and 4-2, and the Cardinals beat the Phillies, 4-2, yesterday. (Details on Page 23.)

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The gay Cubs, pennant-minded but keeping their secret to themselves, sprinted some more yesterday toward the National league finish line. With practically no effort aside from a few base hits, a few snappy double plays and some machine-like pitching from the arm of Old Man Charley Root, they steamrollered over their cousin team, Boston's eighth place Braves, in the third of the series. The score was 4 to 0, making the seventh triumph in a row for the second placers, the 18th of 21 played with the tailenders, and Root's 13th victory of the season.

CHARLEY ROOT.

The day's developments brought no alteration in the Cubs' gallant pursuit of the top place Cardinals. The world champions, with a belated spurt, rose up and knocked off the Phillies, thus keeping themselves one game ahead of the Chicagoans. But the third place Giants, with their twin triumph at Pittsburgh, edged closer to the two other contenders. There's a gap of only five points between the Cubs and the New Yorkers, who trail the champions by 2½ games. The standing now is:

St. Louis	85	49	.634

Cantwell Gets 22d Beating.

Ben Cantwell, the long boy who recently shaded Root, 2 to 1, didn't give the Cubs much annoyance on this occasion so far as hits were concerned, but he was fairly tough in the pinches. They nicked him for a run on one hit in the fourth and then sewed up the decision for themselves with a three run fifth inning drive. But they had outside assistance in this happening. They earned one of the runs, but the two others were the gift of Bill Urbanski, who thus made sure that the luckless Cantwell wouldn't be delayed in reaching his 22d defeat of the year. Barber Bill made his presentation in shape of a wild throw on an attempted force play.

Behind Root the Cubs provided more of the dashing support that has been a big item in the building up of their seven game winning streak in which the starting pitcher has gone the route each time. Root yielded only six hits, four of them being opening shots in that many innings. One other inning got under way with a pass. But with all these chances the Braves could get only one man to second base, partly because Root stopped them cold or because his infielding helpers stepped in with double plays. Three of them were accomplished.

Root Hits a Couple, Too.

The 36 year old Root did just a little more than pitch. Recalling that his mates usually are reluctant to support him with runs, he hit two singles. One of them went to waste, but his second effort drove in the only run earned in the fifth. The

PRINCE PEST IS CONSISTENT, SO HE WINS AGAIN

Scores in Stretch Run at Hawthorne.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A new candidate for the consistency prize among horses that have raced in Chicago this season came to the front at Hawthorne yesterday when Prince Pest galloped up from behind and won the Highland Park claiming purse.

It was Prince Pest's third straight victory and the sixth triumph he has registered in his last nine starts. During that busy campaign he was second, beaten narrowly by inches on two occasions, and third in his other attempt.

He's One to Rely On.

Prince Pest isn't a stake horse. He associates with selling platers, which makes his record all the more remarkable. Selling platers, even though they are in the top flight, beat one another regularly, turf records show. Not so with Prince Pest.

Neither do they have to haul around a tailor made track for the Prince to do his running over. His amazing campaign has carried him from Arlington Park to Lincoln Fields and now to Hawthorne. He won two at Arlington, two at Lincoln Fields and his triumph in the Highland Park was the second he has rolled up at Hawthorne.

Any Track Will Do.

Three of his victories were scored on lightning fast tracks, two in the mud and the other on a drying out lumpy running strip that was called good. He also has won at all sorts of prices, ranging from 10 to 1 down to 7 to 10, the odds at which he rewarded his backers in the Highland Park yesterday. He ran to be claimed for $2,500 at Arlington, but he's worth more than that nowadays. It would have cost $4,000 to get him yesterday.

Prince Pest gave those that backed him in yesterday's mile and a sixteenth contest little to be encouraged about in the early stages of the race. Five horses made up the field, and Prince ran next to last for the first seven-eighths of a mile and appeared to be losing ground rather than gaining.

Takes Shortest Way Home.

When the Prince hit the head of the stretch he immediately became anxious to get home in a hurry. He galloped past My Dandy and Dokas, two of those that had been leading him; then he rushed on past Vanita, on which there had been a late plunge. Once in front, he was content to win by the width of his head. Vanita finished second and 10 year old My Dandy, which in the early stages had enjoyed a lead of five lengths, at this time was floundering, but able to save third money.

When Jocky Paul Keester couldn't do better than 117 pounds yesterday morning after a hard week of road work and gymnasium drills he told friends that he probably would never ride again.

Keester expects to become a horse trainer or a prize fighter. His father, who died a year ago, excelled as a boxer. Last year Keester was one of America's leading riders. Increased weight has kept him idle most of this season.

OHIO SOFTBALL TEAMS CAPTURE NATIONAL TITLE

Teams from Ohio yesterday carried off both men and women's titles in the National Softball tournament at Lincoln park. Toledo succeeded Kenosha, Wis., as men's champion and Cleveland took the women's title from Chicago.

Toledo turned a pair of home runs into a 3 to 1 triumph over Rochester, N. Y., and Cleveland overwhelmed Hart Motors of Chicago, defending titleholders in the women's division, 8 to 3.

In reaching the final round, Toledo eliminated Peoria, Ill., 7 to 2, in the semi-finals while Harold Gears, Rochester pitching ace, was shutting out Pheonix, 3 to 0.

When Gears faced Toledo in the championship contest, he had not been scored upon in five tournament games. Toledo was able to get only two hits off him, but both were home runs, Johnny Gwardinski hitting one in the second and Francis Lengle scoring a runner ahead of him with another in the seventh.

The Cleveland girls' team had an easy time in both its semi-final and final games. Detroit fell, 7 to 2, in the morning and a five run rally in the fifth broke a 3 to 3 deadlock in the championship game with Chicago.

Winner trained by W. J. Hirsch. Went to post at 2:16. At post four minutes. Start fair from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

MIDNIGHT FLYER, rushed into command, was given a short breathing spell entering stretch, and came away when lightly shaken up in final eighth. HARMONESSA, away slowly and raced wide throughout, was much used in early stages, but held on fairly well. OUR PATTY saved much ground in her even effort.

Winner trained by B. S. Michell. Went to post at 2:49. Off at once. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

ALBERT D., quick to get going and saving ground throughout, was under mild restraint until reaching final quarter and, after easily shaking off BENEDICTION, withstood PREFERRED'S rush. The latter, probably much the best and away slowly, lost much ground, particularly on the turn, and, closing an immense gap, might have won had he not bore over badly soon after reaching the final eighth. BENEDICTION, under energetic riding throughout, weakened slightly in late stages.

NO MORE, raced around the leaders with a big loss of ground on the turn, came away after reaching stretch and swerved badly in final eighth, but was not endangered. MINTOGEE, well up from the start and forced wide on stretch turn, stood a drive gamely. FIRE STAR, away fast, displayed speed in spots and was going well in closing stages.

Winner trained by J. W. Smith. Went to post at 3:44½. At post 3¼ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

QUIET PLEASE, quickest to begin and displaying good speed from the start, lost the lead through racing wide on the turn and, withstanding a long drive, gamely outfinished LOOK OUT BELOW in closing strides. The latter, on inside throughout and also having speed from the start, was under severe pressure the final three-sixteenths and faltered slightly in late stages. DORAN, well up throughout, lost much ground, but held on with good courage.

Winner trained by S. Furnival. Went to post at 4:14. At post one minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

PRINCE PEST, well in hand for three-quarters, made up ground gradually while racing wide thereafter and was well up in closing strides. VANITA, also under restraint for about three-quarters, responded well when called upon and held on with good courage, but was not good enough. MY DANDY cut out a slow pace under stout restraint the first three-quarters, then continued well to final eighth before faltering.

Winner trained by A. B. Gordon. Went to post at 4:41. At post two minutes. Start good. Won handily; place driving.

NECTARINE, under a confident ride and steadied along for three-quarters, came around BROWNEYED PAT without need of strong pressure and was going away fast in late stages. BROWNEYED PAT made an easy pace for five-eighths, increased her advantage on stretch turn, and, though failing to hold the winner, continued well to last sixteenth before weakening. MISS VINCE, away slowly and raced wide, finished well in a good effort.

BATTLING GIRL, going in her best form and reserved off the pace, raced to the front fast when called upon and, continuing well when placed to pressure in final eighth, held TINY KITTY safe. The latter, taken back slightly after a quarter and also responding well when urged, secured room on inside the final three-eighths and fought it out courageously. WILCO, on inside for three-quarters, raced wide when making up ground gradually thereafter.

LET HER PLAY, under snug restraint for three-quarters and raced wide the final half mile, disposed of ULUNIU gradually and had something left. The latter, rated along under restraint early, could not withstand winner, but held on well. JACK BIENER weakened after reaching the last five-sixteenths, but held the others safe.

Guthrie Enters Sparta Auto Race Events Friday

72 PLAYERS SEEK PLACES ON N. U. TEAM; SET MARK

Maroons Hold Two Drills on Midway.

Seventy-two players, the largest squad in Northwestern's history, reported to Coach Lynn Waldorf for the opening football practice yesterday. A morning and afternoon workout constituted the first day's drill, a procedure that will be followed until school opens Sept. 23.

Waldorf, starting his first season with the Wildcats, was pleased with the turnout which exceeded anticipations. In a talk with reporters Waldorf weighed the possibilities of the squad.

Big But Slow.

"Judging from today's turnout we will have numbers and plenty of weight," he said. "The squad also possesses an unusually fine spirit. Our difficulties center around a general lack of team speed and the necessity of coördination in a back field that will have offensive and defensive balance. We lack backs who can do several things well.

"The line, from tackle to tackle, measures up well. There is a definite weakness at end, where only three letter men are available. A problem that looms above all, however, is the schedule which calls upon us to meet our strongest opponents in the early games."

45 OUT ON MIDWAY

Cutting the customary amenities to a minimum, Coach Clark Shaughnessy jumped the University of Chicago football candidates into immediate action yesterday morning as the first day's practice opened on the Midway. After the medical examiner had declared the candidates physically fit, Shaughnessy promptly named two teams, presumably a first and second eleven, and ran them through a rehearsal of last spring's plays.

By afternoon, 45 candidates had been examined and turned loose on the field, including all of those who had been counted upon. The men were attired in track suits, the garb they will wear this week while the conditioning and non-contact exercises continue.

Meigs at Guard.

The first team, which worked as a unit most of the day, was manned, in accordance with predictions, by ten of the eleven returning letter men. Harmon Meigs, a reserve guard last year, worked with the first string group, which was composed of Bob Perretz and Gordon Petersen at ends, Merritt Bush and Clarence Wright at tackles; Prescott Jordan and Meigs at guards, Sam Whiteside at center, Ewald Nyquist at quarter back, Jay Berwanger and Ned Bartlett at the half backs, and Warren Skoning at full back. Berwanger called signals from left half. Earl Sappington, the eleventh letter man, also worked with the first team at tackle.

The squad is being housed at Judson Court, men's residence hall, south of the Midway, during the period before classes open. Part of each evening will be devoted to skull practice. Double practice during the day is scheduled for the coming three weeks, in anticipation of a hard opening game against Nebraska at Lincoln Sept. 28.

ZUPPKE'S 23D YEAR

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Seventy-eight candidates, including 11 letter men, reported to Bob Zuppke today as he began his 23d season as coach at Illinois.

Capt. Galbreath and Antilla, tackles; Sayre, center; Gryboski, guard; Nelson, Cantwell and Dykstra, ends; Henry, quarter back; Lindberg, half back, and Carson and Theodore, full backs, were the letter men around whom the team will be built.

Cliff Kuhn, guard in 1933, and Tom Wilson, end in 1930, also letter men, reported.

Zuppke used one back field consisting of Henry, quarter back; Lindberg and Grieve, half backs, and Carson, full back. Nelson appeared at half back in another combination, indicating that he may be shifted from end to back field.

GOPHERS UNDER WAY

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Bernie Bierman, University of Minnesota coach, mailed out fifty-eight invitations to practice late in August, but seventy-three players, led by Capt. Glenn Seidel, reported for the opening workouts today.

Bierman immediately named two squads for signal drill. The first squad included Antil and Krezowski at the ends; Dick Smith and Widseth, tackles; Oech and Wilkinson, guards; Rennebohm, center; Ring, quarter back; Roscoe and Alfonse, half backs, and Beise, full back.

49 BUCKEYES REPORT

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Ohio State opened practice today with the smallest group of candidates in years, forty-nine athletes appearing. Two practices were held, one in the morning, which was a limbering-up session, and another this afternoon, during which the team was divided into back field and linemen for instruction by Coach Schmidt and his assistants. Two practices a day will continue until school opens Oct. 1.

16 MARQUETTE LETTERMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—Sixteen letter winners, with one or more available for each position, were among the forty-five varsity players who appeared today for first football practice at Marquette university. Workouts were held during the morning and afternoon in accordance with a schedule that will be followed until the resumption of classes on Sept. 26.

Absent but accounted for were seven others who won letters last season.

BY BOB BECKER.

Inasmuch as some regulations governing waterfowl shooting this fall are rather puzzling to hunters because of several angles involved, we asked the biological survey some weeks ago to give us an interpretation on the question of feeding a refuge which is fairly close to shooting grounds, and one or two other problems of this type.

Here is the answer to our letter as written by H. B. Bell, acting chief:

Here Is the Ruling.

"The regulations do not forbid any one to feed migratory waterfowl. But the regulations do very distinctly forbid any one to shoot over baited ground, or to take advantage of the flight caused by the feeding operations. That the waterfowl are fed in one area of grounds or premises does not in our judgment prohibit shooting on another part of the grounds or premises when the effect of the baiting does not influence the stooling of the birds. In other words, the regulation does not permit the shooting of migratory waterfowl attracted to the hunter by the feed put out somewhere else and to which the birds are headed."

So much for the feeding angle. If we read this part correctly it would be illegal for any one to shoot a duck anywhere near a feeding grounds because of the possibility that the duck likely wouldn't fly in that vicinity were it not going to or coming from the feeding area. Inasmuch as one cannot ask a duck whether it is on its way to the feeding area before shooting, the difficulty is increased!

This Concerns Live Ducks.

Here is the interpretation on live ducks. "Neither the law nor regulations forbid any person to own live ducks or geese whether they call them decoys or not. But it is unlawful to employ such ducks and geese, directly or indirectly, in attracting wild waterfowl to be shot. It is, therefore, incumbent upon the owner of live ducks or geese, whether domesticated or only semi-domesticated, to put them in such a position so that the ducks or geese which he proposes to shoot will not be attracted by him by such decoys."

First reports on our annual survey of places to hunt along the Illinois indicate that some of the boys operating day shooting places again will be in business this season.

IOWA CAPTAIN SAYS SIMMONS FEUD IS FABLE

Crayne Tells Radio Fans Ozzie Is Good.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Smaller in number, but larger in size than any squad in recent years, 50 University of Iowa football candidates went through two workouts today. Two hours of blocking and tackling featured the afternoon drill.

The squad included all the available 19 lettermen except Lloyd Hoffman, senior tackle, who did not report. Wilbur Page, promising sophomore quarter back, was added to the list of ineligibles.

Celebrating the season opening, more than 2,000 alumni and fans held luncheon rallies in 53 cities in the state. Capt. Dick Crayne, full back, told the alumni in a special radio broadcast over a statewide network that Ozzie Simmons will be back this year.

"I want to settle the question in the minds of every football fan in the state right now, that Ozzie has plenty of ability and plenty of courage," Crayne said, referring to the accusation that members of last year's team failed to coöperate with the colored half back. "Nobody has been or will be laying down in blocking or tackling," Crayne told the radio listeners.

INDIANA SCRIMMAGES

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Fifty-five candidates reported to Coach Bo McMillin for the opening football practice at Indiana university today. Lengthy sessions were held in the morning and afternoon and will continue the rest of the week. Included in the squad were 17 letter men and 27 sophomores.

Cool, sunny weather greeted the players and a brief scrimmage topped off the day's drill. Leading the squad was Reed Kelso, center and place kicker, whose workouts this summer while studying law at the university have kept him in condition. Vernon Huffman, the leading quarter back prospect, worked out, his broken left ankle having healed completely. The fracture kept him out all last season.

Other veteran back field men available are Wendel Walker, Corby Avis, Ray Fox, Bob Keck, and Chuck Burton. Supplementing them are a number of promising sophomore backs including Donald Hiestant, Edwin Clasen, and Bill Dileo.

59 AT WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Fifty-nine Wisconsin players reported to Coach Clarence W. Spears at Camp Randall today. Less than an hour after the forenoon drill started the squad was divided into five teams and hustled through signal drill.

The eleven which probably will start against South Dakota State Sept. 28 was made up of nine veterans and two sophomores. It included Bob Null and Russ Callahan, ends; Ed Christianson and John Golomgeske, tackles; Capt. Ray Davis and George Lanphear, guards; Allen Mahnke, center; Bill Parrott, quarter back; Clarence Tommerson and Gene Zinser, half backs, and Eddie Jankowski, full back. Lanphear and Zinser were sophomores. The former is from Beloit and the latter from Milwaukee.

PURDUE TO REBUILD

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The task of rebuilding Purdue's eleven was launched today as an enthusiastic squad reported to Coach Noble Kizer for morning and afternoon practice.

Realizing Purdue, because of the early opening of classes on Thursday morning, will have less practice than any Big Ten eleven before its first game, with Northwestern on Oct. 5, the coaching staf wasted little time in preliminaries. Before the day was over six teams were running signals and starting to polish up plays learned in spring practice.

MICHIGAN LINE HUSKY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A squad of 54 men, including the makings of a line likely to be no better than last year's and a back field that will be much stronger, reported to Coach Harry Kipke at Michigan today.

The seven men expected to form the first line, all veterans but one, averaged 214 pounds. Included were Tiny Wright, center, 247; John Viergever, tackle, 231; Mike Savage, end, 222. Of the men regarded as the first five backs, three are sophomores. The backs are Capt. Bill Renner, quarter back; Bob Cooper, Stark Ritchie, and John Smithers, half backs, and Cedric Sweet, full back. All are punters and Ritchie and Cooper are nearly in a class with Renner as passers. First scrimmage is planned for Saturday.

85 Report for First Practice at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's football practice opened today with a double drill, one this morning for the coaches, and another this afternoon for the newsreels and newspaper cameramen.

The only difference was that Coach Elmer Layden, his assistants, and the players worked harder this afternoon than they did this morning, repeating plays, exercises, mass punting, and other demands of the cameramen for retakes.

The proceedings were broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System for half an hour.

More Men to Report Soon.

Perhaps the most significant bit of news to be gleaned from the day's activity was the fact that Layden will be able to put more than 100 men in uniform for the opener here Sept. 28 against Kansas. He had 85 men in suits today. They will be joined next week by another 20 or 30 players of the B squad.

Mike Layden to Get Chance.

Millner, Michuta, Fromhart and Elser were regulars last year, while Pilney and Shakespeare alternated with the varsity. Mike Layden was a utility back last season, but made a bid to win the varsity right half back job when he replaced George Melinkovich and scored both touchdowns to defeat Southern California last fall.

SYKES KNOCKS OUT CALMES IN 3D ROUND

Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight, knocked out Baxter Calmes in the third round of a schedule ten rounder last night at the Western stadium. Sykes dropped Calmes in the first round for a six count and twice in the second round. The third was two minutes and forty seconds old when Sykes' right hand caught Calmes flush on the jaw and he went down for the count.

VAN DER HEYDEN BEATS SHARKEY IN 10 ROUND BOUT

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—George Van Der Heyden, South Bend, Ind., lightweight, tonight gave Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis, Minn., a ten round beating.

Two of Chicago's Golden Gloves champions, Al Nettlow and Lorenzo Lovings, scored easy victories. Nettlow won an eight round decision over Billy Locks, South Bend, Ind., and Lovings knocked out Howard Meredith, South Bend, Ind., in the first round.

MOON MULLINS—CHANGE IN MODEL

WHY, MRS BEERBUCKET, AS I LIVE AND BREATHE!
WHERE IS YOUR HUSBAND'S OFFICE, LADY PLUSHBOTTOM?
NOW, ISN'T THAT FUNNY? THAT'S JUST WHAT I'VE BEEN TRYING TO FIND OUT. WHY?
WELL, MR. BEERBUCKET'S OFFICE BOY SAYS THAT IS WHERE MR. BEERBUCKET HAS GONE.
AND JUST THE OTHER DAY WITH MY OWN EARS I HEARD THAT MR. MULLINS AND LORD PLUSHBOTTOM INVITE MR. BEERBUCKET OVER TO SEE THEIR STENOGRAPHER'S FRIEND.
MR. BEERBUCKET SAID AT THE TIME THAT HE WOULDN'T BE BOTHERED WITH SUCH DUMBBELLS—BUT WHEN HIS OFFICE BOY TOLD ME HE'D GONE OVER TO SEE LORD PLUSHBOTTOM'S NEW MODELS, I JUST—
THEY WON'T BE MODELS. WHEN I FIND THEM THEY'LL BE HORRIBLE EXAMPLES!

CARDINALS RALLY IN 8TH TO DEFEAT PHILLIES, 4 TO 2

Bowman Yields One Hit Until Blowup.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—(AP)—A three run rally in the eighth inning, after Joe Bowman had held them to one hit and one run, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4 to 2 victory over Philadelphia today.

The victory, coming after two straight defeats at the hands of the Phils, enabled the Cards to maintain their one game lead over the Chicago Cubs.

Bowman issued six passes, but was just wild enough to be good until the eighth.

The Cardinals and Phillies will be idle tomorrow, the scheduled game having been moved up to last Sunday to make a double-header.

Red Sox Take Lead.

In Boston's second inning Johnson walked with one out and R. Ferrell furnished the second out with a fly to Tauby. Dahlgren doubled off the scoreboard, Johnson scoring the first run of the game. Tietje walked Melillo and Grove, filling the bases, then steadied and struck out Williams.

The White Sox scored the tying run in the fourth. Appling got a triple when Almada made a foolish try for a shoestring catch. Luke scored on Hayes' fly to Almada. Washington knocked his second single to right, but Sewell hit into a double play.

In their fourth inning, the Red Sox again took the lead. A single by Melillo, a sacrifice by Grove, and a single by Cooke produced a run and the score became 2 to 1.

White Sox Take Lead.

The White Sox took over the leadership in the fifth. Tietje opened with a double off the wall in left center and moved up on Tauby's sacrifice. Tietje held third while Grove came in fast on Simmons' grounder for the out at first, but scored the tying run on Dykes' single over second. Bonura singled off Cronin's glove, Dykes stopping at second. Appling singled to center, Dykes scoring and Bonura reaching third. Then Hayes popped to Melillo.

Although Tietje struck out the side in the Boston sixth, it was quite a mess. Berg, who had relieved R. Ferrell earlier in the game, opened with a single to center and stopped at second on Dahlgren's single to right. Melillo's bunt caught Tietje flatfooted and it went for a single, filling the bases. Grove fanned, but Williams doubled off the left field wall, Berg and Dahlgren scoring and Melillo stopping at third. Cooke was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Almada and Cronin then fanned.

The White Sox and Red Sox will play their season final tomorrow. Sam Jones will seek to join Ted Lyons as a winning pitcher on this trip. Rube Walberg is scheduled to pitch for Boston.

The Sox will leave for Philadelphia early tomorrow evening, where on Thursday they open a series of seven games to be played in four days. The tailenders are one team the collapsed White Sox think they can beat, at least in the game pitched by their winning pitcher, Ted Lyons.

Cubs Defeat Braves, 4 to 0; 7th Straight

picking up of the three other runs was almost exclusively a Freddy Lindstrom stunt. His hit in the fourth, the only safety of the inning, led to the first run and he hit again in the fifth to shove home two after Urbanski had erred.

The Braves were so quiet during the first four innings that only two hits were notched against Root. One of these was by Fletcher in the second inning, but it didn't show up until after two were out. The other was the work of Spohrer. He singled to center to start the third and Cantwell tried to sacrifice but, instead, forced Spohrer at second. Urbanski then bounced into a speedy double play engineered by Jurges, Herman, and Cavarretta.

The Cubs were restricted to four hits in the first four innings, but one of them was good for the initial run of the game. The first of the safe drives was a double to left by Hartnett with none gone in the second. His teammates couldn't move him off second. In the third Root and Galan frisked Cantwell for singles with one out, but Herman bounced to Mallon and a double play was fabricated. Then Lindstrom led off in the fourth with a dinky pop behind third base and nobody could reach it, so the ball dropped just inside the foul line for a double. Lindy went to third on Hartnett's long fly and scored on Demaree's fly to Berger.

Well, Well, Two Hits.

The Braves stirred up enough energy in the fifth to promote two hits, but this caused no excitement. Fletcher started this mild protest by singling to right for his second hit off Root. Mowry fouled to Cavarretta and Spohrer bounced to Hack for a force of Fletcher at second. Cantwell then stepped in with the other hit, a single through short, but was forced by Urbanski and that was the finish of the threat.

Hack singled to left in the fifth to start the three run episode that put Root on easy street. After Jurges had sacrificed Hack to second, Root looped a single over short and Hack skipped home. Galan flied to Moore and Herman's roller to Urbanski should have concluded the inning, but Barber Bill threw the ball past Whitney. The error put Root on third and Hack on second. Both registered on Lindstrom's single to left, after which Hartnett forced Lindy.

Gen. Bill Lee, winner of 16 and loser in six battles, will try to lead the Cubs to victory today in the final of the season with the lowly Braves. Bill McKechnie, the hapless boss of the tailenders, will trust his luck to Bob Smith or Danny MacFayden.

Johnny Gill, a veteran outfielder recently purchased by the Cubs from Minneapolis, may be called in for employment during the last two weeks of the season. Gill has had a couple of trials in the American league.

The Cub fans apparently are remaining skeptical about the team's chances to finish ahead of the Cardinals. About 4,500 were present yesterday.

The Cubs profited to some extent by some clumsiness on the part of Mowry in left field. He could have caught a liner by Hartnett to start the second, but kept his hands down and told Berger to get it. Berger couldn't, so Gabby profited to the extent of a double but didn't score. Then Mowry took what seemed like ten minutes before throwing to the plate in the fifth when Hack was scoring on Root's short single.

The Braves now are the possessors of a ten game losing streak, but prefer that it be kept a secret.

BLOOD RETURNS TO GREEN BAY; FACES CARDINALS

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Johnny Blood, high scoring half back of the Green Bay Packers, was added to the injury battered backfield of the Packers today after playing with La Crosse and Chippewa Falls in practice games against the local eleven. Blood's pass-catching ability enabled him to set a league scoring record a few years ago. He also is a good punter. Blood will play against the Chicago Cardinals in the National league opener here Sunday.

Announcement that Clark Hinkle, full back, and Hank Bruder, half back, will be out of the Cardinal games because of injuries was partially compensated for by the news that Cal Hubbard, giant tackle, will report tomorrow after finishing his umpiring duties in the International league.

BERWYN SIGNS PLAYER.

The Berwyn Parrot semi-pro football team yesterday signed Joe Stirck, a guard. Berwyn has scheduled a night game for Oct. 2 with the Chicago Spokes at Spencer Coal field.

Campbell, Yates Dangerous.

Albert [Scotty] Campbell of Seattle, twice Canadian champion, who was even par for 14 holes for the second time in the tournament.

Charley Yates, the young Atlantan who holds the Western amateur title and won the intercollegiate last year. Charley, who was 22 yesterday, continued celebrating this morning when he defeated Mike Parco of Buffalo, N. Y. Yates was four down on the 11th tee, but won the next seven holes to take the match, 3 and 1.

Willie Turnesa of the golfing Turnesas, who would like to show those five of his brothers who are professionals that he can lick Little, as he was in a fair way of doing at Brookline last year.

Rodney Bliss of Omaha, twice western runnerup, who today squared his match with Horace Williams of St. Petersburg, Fla., with a birdie on the 18th and then won it with still another on the 19th.

Dave [Spec] Goldman of Dallas, runnerup to Little last year, and very much around this tournament also.

Jack Westland of Chicago, runnerup for the 1931 championship and a Walker cup player in the last two series.

Gus Moreland, the one time western champion, who also has appeared on the last two Walker cup casts. Gus today was forced to score a birdie on the 18th to beat out Johnny Lehman of Chicago, who himself might easily have been hard for Little to handle.

Fischer, Eaton Out.

These are a mere handful of names out of the 63 who remain to dispute with Little his right to a double pair of amateur golf's greatest titles. One thing the champion is assured of, and that is the absence of three names which might have caused him no end of bother had they not been scratched off the scoreboard today.

One is that of Johnny Fischer, the Big Ten champion and Walker cup star, who fell before the shots of Eddie Hogan of Beaverton, Ore., 2 and 1. Another is Zell Eaton, the Oklahoman who won last year's Western tournament, but today encountered Morton McCarthy, a 20 year old from Norfolk, Va., who squared his match with Eaton by sinking a 20 footer on the 18th and then won the match with a par on the 19th. Still another is Leland Hamman of Paris, Tex., who lost to Tom Bloch of the Wheeling, W. Va., tobacco Blochs, 1 up.

Little was one over par for the 14 holes he required to defeat Lain. Little was two up after the ninth, and won four of the five next holes with pars. Little's card:

Par—Out ....454 434 453—36
Par—In ....435 434 544—36—72
Little—Out ....554 434 542—36
Lain—Out ....553 345 553—38
Little—In 445 43
Lain—In 546 54

Chicago's delegation in the Amateur was trimmed to six, including Westland, Moreland, Bill Chambers of Butterfield, John [Pick] Wagner of Kildeer, Chuck Boywid of Big Oaks, and Ray Croslin of Oak Park. Aside from Becka's 22 hole defeat, the toughest losses were suffered by Al Andereggen and Art Doering of Big Oaks, both of whom were not eliminated until the 20th hole.

LOUIS PICKS CUBS TO MEET TIGERS IN WORLD SERIES

Baer Doesn't Worry Joe, but Baseball Does.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Ready now to fight Max Baer in the Yankee stadium, though the engagement doesn't take place until Sept. 24, Joe Louis has just about given up fight preparations for the more pressing present duty of rooting home the Detroit Tigers.

"They're just about in, I guess," he decided today after a short workout devoted only to limbering up exercises. "But I'm going to see them play the Yankees Thursday in New York. I think the Cubs will be the team they'll have to lick in the world series."

Joe Isn't Worried.

Louis doesn't know how to worry, but he is learning how to talk to reporters without pulling into a shell; to meet the crowds that come to his camp to watch him and demand autographs; to laugh and smile once in a while. Hs is absolutely unconcerned about the threat of Max Baer.

"I'll fight him like I've fought every one," he said casually as he strolled about his training quarters. "From what they tell me, Baer knocks people out only when they back away from him. I'm not going to back away. I'm not going to give him any free punches at my chin. I'm going to make him miss me, then I'll hit him."

Look Out, Sparmates!

Louis will turn his terrific hitting power loose on his sparring partners tomorrow, and after Thursday's ball game will lay off Friday. He will box again on Saturday.

Concerning reports that a fighter named Mickey Patrick knocked him out in a Chicago gymnasium Louis said: "He shook me with a right, so I knocked him out."

BAER PICKS BAER IN 2D.

Speculator, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—"Joe Louis is in for a rough evening on Sept. 24," prophesied Max Baer this afternoon after laboring at road work and woodchopping with Brother Buddy for a couple of hours. "I don't expect to see him on his feet after the second round; and if he is, he'll be doing some awful funny things standing up."

The former playboy, gone serious for his bout with Louis, admitted today that he had spent yesterday afternoon studying the ring technique of Louis in his fight with Primo Carnera. Max was moved to derisive laughter after viewing the picture.

Let's Wait and See.

"Short puncher, eh?" chuckled the former champion. "Well, he tossed a couple of right-handers at poor Primo that would make my wildest roundhouser look like a jab. Why, he can't use his right without winding up like a baseball pitcher. If he winds up like that against me he'll never complete the pitch."

Miller, Christy Bout Approved by State Board

The Chicago Stadium corporation's application yesterday for permission to promote a 15 round featherweight championship bout between Champion Freddy Miller, Cincinnati, O., and Jimmy Christy, Chicago, Oct. 18, was approved by the Illinois boxing commission.

Harry Carlton, Jersey City, who was awarded a disputed decision over Bobby Pacho in the ten round windup fight at Marigold Gardens the other day, has refused a return bout with Pacho at Marigold next Monday. Co-Promoter Irving Schoenwald had offered Carlton a $200 guarantee and a privilege of 20 per cent of the net gate receipts. The eastern junior welterweight was paid $200 flat for Monday's encounter.

Frank Malcewicz, Utica, N. Y., and George Dusette, Boston wrestler, tonight will clash in the main bout at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Young Lewis will tackle Walter Logan, Pat Newman will face Jack Gacek, Dale Haddock is matched with Ernie Peterson, and Ed Van Herrick will oppose Bobby Pearce in supporting encounters.

BRITAIN STUDIES PLAN TO BOOST LIVING STANDARD

Scientists Hear Scheme to Increase Diet.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A vast national food program designed to raise British living standards and aid agriculture is under consideration by various government departments, it was learned tonight.

The plan was outlined at today's meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Norwich by Sir John Orr, member of the nutrition committee of the ministry of health. It provides for the creation of a "food department" which would form a link between the ministries of health and agriculture. The new department would have at its disposal a government subsidy and would use the money for the reduction of essential food prices.

$5 a Week for Food.

Orr estimated that the average person needs $5 a week for food. About 20,000,000 of the population live below this level, he asserted. To raise the diet of these millions to the required standard would involve an increased national consumption of about 10 per cent, representing about $500,000,000 annually in increased trade, he said.

Sir Kingsley Wood, minister of health, and Earl de La Warr, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of health, both indicated their approval of the scheme.

Stellar Blast of High Importance.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

NORWICH, England, Sept. 10.—The terrific stellar explosion that revealed a nova, or "new" star, in the constellation Hercules last winter was declared today to have been perhaps the most important from the scientific standpoint of any of these mighty convulsions studied in modern times.

After almost ten months of constant observation of this new star astronomers continue to find its behavior so unusual that, according to those who addressed the British Association for the Advancement of Science today, it may disclose the causes of such explosions and thus clear up one of the greatest riddles of astronomy.

May Solve Mystery Soon.

Ever since the days of Tycho Brahe, the great Danish astronomer of the sixteenth century, scientists have watched so-called new stars flare up in the sky and have wondered what the cause might be. But the mystery may be solved soon, Prof. Frederick J. M. Stratton of Cambridge university suggested today, for this new star, "Nova Herculis," has been unlike any other and has been observed more closely than any of its predecessors.

For one thing, Nova Herculis is the first new star whose spectrum was photographed on the same night it was discovered and before the star reached its most intense brightness. For another, it was slower than most other new stars in flaring up.

Moreover, its gas shell behaved peculiarly in its outward flight, moving first about 200 miles a second, then slowing down in the first week to 100, then speeding up again to 270. At this stage came a second outburst of gas, at a speed of almost 600 miles a second.

At present the nova is still brightening while going through its later stage and it is changing in a more leisurely way than most novæ.

SERGT. GAPINSKI DEAD AS RESULT OF CAR INJURIES

Funeral services for Sergt. John S. Gapinski, 40 years old, a detective bureau squad leader who died on Monday in his home at 1054 South Mayfield avenue, will be held at 9:15 a. m. Friday from the home to Our Lady of Sorrows church, Albany avenue and Jackson boulevard.

Sergt. Gapinski died of an infection said to have resulted from injuries he received in a triple automobile collision at Jackson boulevard and Campbell avenue on Sept. 30, 1934. Sergt. Gapinski and two other policemen in a squad car were pursuing three youths fleeing in another automobile when the two machines crashed into a third car.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Improbable though it sounds, a new wrinkle in the "amateur hour" business has been figured out. A "Collegiate Amateur night" is being developed at the Edgewater Beach hotel, the winners to be presented over WBBM-CBS. The promoters claim that this will be the first amateur hour originating outside studios.

TRUMAN BRADLEY.

Each Tuesday afternoon, beginning next week, college and high school students will assemble at the ballroom of the hotel to demonstrate their talents before Johnny Hamp, orchestra leader, and a board of judges. On Wednesday evenings, with Truman Bradley, CBS announcer, as master of ceremonies, eight winners will perform before guests in the dining room. The best individual boy and girl entertainers will be chosen each week.

After four weeks two finalists will be chosen and they will be given a week's contract at the hotel. And they also will get a chance to perform on the network. If they are good it may mean a regular job on the airways for them.

Uncle Charlie's tent show will fold up next Sunday evening. The sponsor is replacing it with the serial, "The O'Neills," which will be heard five times a week. . . . Eddie Guest's Welcome Valley show is embarking on a permanent policy of using outstanding guest talent each week. The Dixiana Show Boat troupe will be on next Tuesday. . . . Larry Holcomb, who handled Mrs. Roosevelt's NBC commercial series last year, is the new continuity chief at Chicago NBC offices. He succeeded Willis Cooper, who resigned to devote his time to his own shows—"Flying Time" and "Lights Out."

NBS's "Big Broadcast" at 7 p. m. next Saturday is rolling up an impressive array of entertainers. Among them are Bing Crosby, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Joe Penner, Willie Howard, Ethel Merman, Frances Langford, Joe Morrison, with about a dozen others yet to be signed.

In addition to Bernie, the Dorsey Brothers from New York, Luigi Romanelli from Toronto, Ozzie Nelson from Los Angeles, Meredith Willson from San Francisco, and a tango band from Buenos Aires will play.

CORN CROP CUT 88 MILLION BU. IN U. S. ESTIMATE

Adverse Weather in August Blamed.

(Statistics on page 27.)

Adverse growing weather took a toll of 88 million bushels from the nation's corn crop during August, official government figures disclosed yesterday. As a result the United States will raise a crop of 2,183,755,000 bushels this year if estimates of federal analysis, based on the condition existing Sept. 1, are borne out.

Some decline had been expected from the total predicted on Aug. 1—2,272,000,000 bushels—but grain producers and traders had not looked for so large a shrinkage. A few days ago Chicago's five leading crop statisticians estimated the crop as of Sept. 1 at 2,251,000,000 bushels, or only 20 millions under the government's Aug. 1 prognostication. The report was given out two hours after the grain market had closed and thus had no effect on yesterday's price trend.

Corn Crop Below Average.

Production of corn in the United States last year totaled 1,387,000,000 bushels, while the 1928-'32 average was 2,562,000,000, or considerably higher than indicated output for 1935.

A slight loss was shown in indicated production of wheat, reducing still further the probability of the United States growing enough this year to fill domestic needs. The department placed the output of all wheat at 594,615,000 bushels. This country normally uses 625 to 650 million bushels.

Production a month ago was placed at 607,678,000 bushels, last year's crop amounted to 496 million bushels, and the 1928-'32 average was 861 millions. Private forecasters on Sept. 1 predicted 568 million bushels, or considerably under the official forecast.

Estimate Winter and Spring Wheat.

The federal crop reporting agency estimated winter wheat production at 431,709,000 bushels, compared with 405,552,000 last year and 618,186,000 for the five year period. Production of all spring wheat was indicated at 162,906,000 bushels, against 176 million a month ago, 91,400,000 last year, and the 1928-'32 average of 242,000,000 bushels.

Condition of the corn crop was estimated at 67.9 per cent of normal. No change was made in the condition figure on winter wheat from Aug. 1, but spring wheat was dropped from 49.4 per cent to 44.4 per cent, and oats were placed at 75.2 per cent.

An oats crop of 1,181,692,000 bushels was estimated, compared with 1,187,000,000 a month ago, 526,000,000 last year and the five year average of 1,218,000,000 bushels.

Deny Food or Feed Shortages.

Despite the reductions the agricultural department foresaw no shortage of either food or feed supplies. It said ample stocks of most food crops seemed assured, with wheat showing the only exception. The board said the domestic supply of hard red spring wheat of milling quality would be below requirements.

Changes may be made this month, the department indicated, for the report emphasized that widespread rains and storms occurred in the early part of September. Citrus crops were damaged by the hurricane in the extreme south and southwest sections of Florida, with the greatest loss to grapefruit. However, it added, the total production of the state will not be reduced seriously.

CONGRESS TRUST STOCKHOLDERS TO GET PAYMENT

Stockholders who advanced $200,000 so depositors could be paid off in full when the Congress Trust and Savings bank closed will receive their first 10 per cent return shortly.

Receiver William L. O'Connell and Deputy Receiver Clement A. Nance yesterday asked State Auditor Barrett's authorization to make the payment, and assent is expected as a formality. The receivership also is ready to pay out $40,000 in final settlement of a rent claim.

These disbursements will leave the receivership with no debts other than obligations to stockholders. Remaining assets have a book value of approximately $600,000. Although considerable shrinkage is expected in conversion of the assets to cash, they are expected eventually to yield enough for a substantial repayment of the advance made by shareholders. Doubt exists, however, as to whether there will be anything left over for a general stockholder distribution after the advance is repaid.

HONEYWELL WILL REDEEM BLOCK OF PREFERRED

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company announced yesterday that 5,000 shares of the outstanding 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock will be called for redemption on Oct. 31 at $105 a share plus accrued dividends. The stock to be called will be determined by lot from stockholders of record Sept. 20.

Directors declared a dividend of 50 cents a share yesterday on the preferred stock to be called for redemption, payable Oct. 31 to stock of record Sept. 20, and also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the preferred stock to be outstanding after the redemption on Oct. 31, the latter payment to be made Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 15.

Cotton Subsidy Recalls Grain Board Fiasco

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Because of the latest New Deal attempt to "peg" the price of cotton by lending the cotton planter 10 cents per pound and giving him in addition a direct handout of 2 cents per pound the senate agriculture committee's report on the federal farm board fiasco, which has just been published, makes interesting reading.

Just as the government now subsidizes the cotton planters by dealing out taxpayers' money from the public trough, so did the federal farm board six years ago milk the public treasury for millions in a futile effort to maintain prices of cotton, wheat and other commodities above their natural levels.

The farm board spent the millions, but it didn't keep prices up. In October, 1929, when the farm board began operating, the price of wheat at Chicago, for example, was $1.12. In the following 13 months the farm board's Grain Stabilization corporation bought 65 million bushels of wheat and spent 90 million dollars, and the price of wheat dropped to 73 cents. Later it fell below 45 cents.

Perusal of the committee's report discloses that the only individuals who benefited in these operations were payrollers, who got fat salaries, and political insiders, who used their connections with the farm board for their own personal profit. The farmer lost in three ways. The price of his produce went down. Pegged prices curtailed exports. And tremendous surpluses were accumulated, which prevented price recovery.

The taxpayers lost through the dissipation of 69 cents out of every dollar of the 500 million dollar revolving fund appropriated by congress for the farm board to play with.

"It can now be seen," says the senate committee's official report, "that the stabilization activities were foredoomed to failure; but the farm board made its loans for price pegging without the benefit of the certainties which experience since has taught.

"The board set up its stabilization program in response to urgent public demand, and acted, when it did proceed, on assurance from respected advisers that there was no alternative to price pegging and no strong likelihood of its failure.

"Inability to halt the decline of commodity prices led to severe losses. The coöperatives and the stabilization corporation accumulated stocks of wheat and cotton for which no market appeared.

"By acts of congress, large portions of these stocks were donated to the Red Cross for use in relief of distress, at a loss to the revolving fund of 197 million dollars. Other cotton was taken over by the department of agriculture under the terms of the agricultural adjustment act, and in this settlement the revolving fund has sustained a further loss of 45 million dollars.

"Failure to halt the decline of commodity prices was responsible also for losses incurred in settlement of some of the loans made by the board to the coöperatives.

"Actual and prospective losses to the revolving fund, at the end of the last fiscal year, amounted to 344 million dollars—equivalent to 69 cents out of every dollar appropriated by congress to the principal of the fund."

But bad economics and bad business methods were not the only causes of these vast losses of public funds.

"Inexperience, extravagance, avarice, and in a few cases dishonesty on the part of officials and employés of some of the coöperatives, increased these losses," says the senate committee.

There follows a recitation of connivings, pay roll padding, trickery, and greed that rivals anything that has been disclosed by congressional committees investigating the sins of private enterprises.

By recounting specific cases the committee shows how the Grain Stabilization corporation's appropriations from the treasury were milked by the Farmers National crowd. The doings recounted in the press at the time are explained in detail.

"Though technically separate," says the committee report, "the Grain Stabilization corporation and Farmers National were instruments in the same hands. . . .

"For Farmers National, however, a profit made or an expense saved accrued to the benefit of the stockholders; but a gain or loss to the Grain Stabilization corporation was a gain or loss to the treasury of the United Staes.

"With remarkable accuracy of foresight, transactions that turned out profitable were undertaken by the Farmers National, while those that eventuated unprofitably either were relegated to Grain Stabilization corporation or were undertaken by Farmers National under some special arrangement with the farm board which limited the coöperative's liability for losses."

Machine Tool Show Is Omen of Prosperity

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10.—The first national machine tool show since 1929 opened this afternoon with a pre-view of hundreds of mechanical "depression" devices designed to stimulate the durable goods industries and to raise American living standards.

First look at the $4,000,000 worth of displays—comprising the "largest machine shop in the world"—was had by 800 invited guests, leaders in industry, finance, and government. The formal opening of the show tomorrow will bring the vanguard of 30,000 expected visitors. They will be mechanical executives, shop superintendents, works managers, bankers, financiers, engineers, government officials, educators, and students. The show is not open to the public.

Depression Inventions Shown.

Most of the 900 machines and accessories spread over five acres of floor space in the public auditorium building here can be called "depression babies" because they were born in the minds of designers during the five year "study period" following 1929. With orders falling to a point as low as 4 per cent of a one-time peak, machine tool manufacturers set their experts to work on new equipment.

But even machines perfected during the early part of the depression have only been put on the market recently or are being made public now because formerly there were virtually no buyers. Confronted by both depression conditions and unpredicable New Deal policies manufacturers of consumers' goods could not risk the tie-up and possible loss of dwindling cash in new machinery. Now the factors that froze the durable goods market are operating to guarantee the "biggest market ever."

Plants Need New Equipment.

Plant equipment in use throughout the country is obsolete, or at least uneconomical, in view of the progress revealed at the show. The attitude of the manufacturers inspecting the new equipment indicates they are ready to buy as soon as they decide what is best for their purpose.

When hundreds of millions of dollars worth of this new equipment has been installed in factories, the public can begin to realize how living standards may be improved beyond any known before. Not one of the machines on display but improves the quality of an article, reduces its cost, or both. This means the public will buy goods that is both better and cheaper.

It also means the public will buy more of the better and cheaper goods than it is buying now. Then, and only then, industry will be able to absorb the jobless, in the opinion of most business men.

British Firms Are Warned Against Shipments to Italy

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A warning to British firms against sending certain goods to Italy was contained in a statement issued today by the department for overseas trade. The British embassy at Rome has advised that many Italian firms have been placing orders before obtaining the necessary import license or customs clearance. To avoid trouble British exporters therefore are warned not to dispatch goods to Italy until assurance is received that import permits are in the hands of the Italian customer.

U. S. STEEL REPORTS AUGUST SHIPMENTS FAR AHEAD OF 1934

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—August shipments of finished steel products by the United States Steel corporation of 624,497 tons were 76,703 tons above July and 246,474 tons above August a year ago, the company reported today. Shipments in July were 547,794, and in August last year they totaled 378,023 tons.

Total shipments for the first eight months of 1935 were 4,726,290 tons, compared with 4,426,856 tons recorded in the corresponding period a year ago.

The sharp gain in August shipments of the corporation was foreshadowed by the contraseasonal expansion in steel ingot production reported by the industry as a whole. Ingot production last month averaged 48.84 per cent, 9.4 points above the 39.44 per cent rate shown in July.

The August average for shipments was 23,129 tons per day, compared with 21,069 for July.

REPUBLIC STEEL BOND OFFERING IS BROUGHT OUT

The proceeds of this issue will be used to redeem on Jan. 1 the company's $6,419,000 refunding and general mortgage 5½s; to pay at maturity $1,881,000 Trumbull Steel company 7 per cent debentures, due Nov. 1, 1935, and $619,000 first and purchase money mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Donner Steel company, due Dec. 1, 1935; to pay $2,846,000 first mortgage 7 per cent bonds of the Newton Steel company, which matured Jan. 1, 1935, and the payment of $2,000,000 unsecured bank loans of the company.

The balance of the funds will furnish the company with working capital for the enlarged operations resulting from the acquisition of the business of the Corrigan McKinney Steel company and control of the Truscon Steel company and for other purposes.

AM. ROLLING MILL TO PAY COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

The American Rolling Mill company yesterday resumed payments on the common stock with the declaration of a 30-cent dividend payable Oct. 15. The last previous distribution on this stock was a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on Jan. 15, 1931.

Howe Sound voted an extra dividend of 30 cents besides the usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents. Both are payable Sept. 30.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber of Canada declared initial quarterly dividends of 62½ cents on the 5 per cent preferred and 62 cents on the common stocks, payable Oct. 1.

National Gypsum declared an initial quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the 5 per cent second preferred stock, payable Oct. 1.

Abraham & Straus voted an extra dividend of 15 cents on the common stock, payable Sept. 30.

Air Concerns' Records Catch Eye of Public

Because of the increased public interest in aviation companies, stimulated by the fact that transport companies have been scoring new all-time records in number of passengers carried in recent months, THE TRIBUNE will start tomorrow a series of articles analyzing the financial positions and earnings of the leading aviation companies. These articles will appear in the finance and commerce section.

In July air lines in the United States carried 85,193 passengers. This was the fifth consecutive month in which a new high record for passenger miles flown was established. In June 73,896 passengers were carried.

Fly 34 Million Passenger Miles.

Passenger miles flown in July totaled 34,040,925. Prior to 1935 the high record was established in August, 1933, when the total was 22,797,942 passenger miles. A passenger mile is the equivalent of one passenger flown one mile.

Official figures for last month are not yet available, but preliminary announcements indicate there was no let-up in August, usually the peak month of the year.

The manufacturing division of the business has also scored substantial gains. Last July the Boeing Aircraft company announced completion of a 250 mile an hour bomber for the United States army, which is believed to be a forerunner of a new type of commercial plane to be produced by that company.

This airplane has a reported cruising range of 3,000 miles with a pay load of from twenty-two to twenty-six passengers. The bomber is powered by four 750 horse power Hornet motors.

New Curtiss-Wright Plane.

The Curtiss-Wright Airplane company recently announced a new all-metal plane, powered by four 1,000 horse power motors, with a reported speed of 270 to 280 miles an hour. This plane is to be sealed and air conditioned.

Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., has come out with a plane capable of carrying forty-two passengers, compared with the capacity of fourteen in present Douglas planes, and powered by two Wright Cyclone 1,000 horse power motors. It will cruise at 160 to 170 miles an hour for approximately 1,000 miles. Its advantage lies in the fact that it is expected to more than double the pay load with only a 50 per cent power increase.

[An article on United Aircraft corporation will appear tomorrow.]

TELEPHONE RATE HEARING IS SET FOR DECEMBER 10

The hearing on the petition of Illinois Bell Telephone company to raise its rates by an amount equal to the sales tax was continued yesterday until Dec. 10 by the Illinois commerce commission.

Leslie N. Jones, attorney for the company, explained that the company was attacking the constitutionality of the provision of the law assessing utility companies and that he did not expect a decision on that phase for several months.

STOCKS SURGE UPWARD AFTER WABBLY START

Auto and Accessory Groups Lead Rise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—Bullish operations continued to dominate activity on the stock exchange today. Some nervousness was in evidence in the early dealings due, in the opinion of some brokers, to a feeling that the market technical position had become impaired by the steady rise and the belief of others that the death of Senator Huey Long had removed an obstacle to the reëlection of President Roosevelt and a continuation of the New Deal order of things.

In the afternoon, however, the whole list turned upward under the leadership of the motor and automobile accessory shares, and the final tables showed net gains of fractions to a point or so in nearly all departments. Volume was again comparatively heavy, falling only a little below the 2,000,000 share mark.

Little News to Cause Buying.

Outside of the American Rolling Mill dividend declaration, the first for that corporation since January, 1931, there was little in the news to stimulate buying. The American Rolling Mill payment was credited with some fresh activity that came into the steel sector in the afternoon, although that group as a whole fared no better than some others. U. S. Steel showed a fractional loss on the day and so did American Rolling Mill and Inland Steel. Bethlehem Steel and A. M. Byers gained major fractions on a little better volume.

Automobile issues dominated the scene in the final half hour or so of trading. Chrysler and General Motors climbed to new high prices for the year or longer and Hudson jumped a point to a new top.

Heavy Trading in Packard.

Packard was turned over on a heavy scale, blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares coming out at frequent intervals. Studebaker also found favor.

Some miscellaneous stocks to attract attention were Burroughs Adding Machine and National Cash Register. Both sold at new high levels. Gotham and Real Silk Hosiery also went up in good style; other members of the textile group to show more activity were Kayser, Phoenix, and Munsingwear. Motor accessories were strong and active, and their leaders. Budd, Murray, and Briggs were the features.

Owens-Illinois Glass, which lost 7½ points yesterday, recovered more than half of it today. The stock eased afresh toward the last, but finished the day with a net gain of nearly 3 points.

An extra dividend distribution helped Howe Sound among the mining group, and some of the farm implements found new friends. J. I. Case rose nearly two points and the preferred stock of International Harvester finished 4½ points higher.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES MIXED; TRADING SLOW

Chicago stocks moved in a narrow range yesterday, with trends mixed. Trading was slow, only 46,000 shares changing hands. Of the 104 issues traded, 33 advanced, 32 were unchanged, and 39 declined in price. Six issues made new highs and a dozen others were near their best 1935 prices.

Interest continued to center in motor shares, with a trade of 7,150 shares in Houdaille B topping the day for a single issue. The stock sold down ⅝ on news of placing it on a $1 annual basis. Hope had been held for slightly more generous treatment. Noblitt-Sparks regained nearly a point of the drop which occurred after a dividend announcement Monday. Bendix advanced an eighth and Automatic Products was up a quarter to a new high of 10½. Cord was steady.

Commonwealth Edison closed up 1½ at a new top of 87. Utilities generally were fairly steady, though Public Service shares were off fractionally. Illinois Northern Utilities preferred was up 2½ to 96.

Others making new highs were A. M. Castle, Elgin Watch, General Candy, Parker Pen, and Standard Dredge preferred, the latter picking up a full point in unusually active trading.

The sale of a membership on the Chicago Stock exchange for $4,500, off $500 from the last sale, was arranged yesterday.

Living Costs Move Higher During August

New York, Sept. 10.—The cost of living for wage earners in the United States in August was one-half of 1 per cent higher than in July, according to the National Industrial Conference board. The rise marked the end of a three months' decline, and was caused principally by increases in rent, food, and coal prices.

The figures, furnished by the conference board, place the index of the cost of living at 83 as compared with 82.6 in July and 100 in 1923. The purchasing power of the dollar was 120.5 cents last month, compared with 121.1 cents in July, 125.6 cents in August, 1934, 99.3 cents in August, 1929, and 100 cents in 1923. Translating this into percentages, the board reported the cost of living in August as 4.3 per cent more than in August, 1934, but 17.6 per cent lower than in August, 1929.

Food Prices Increase.

Food prices rose 0.5 per cent from July to August, lifting them to a level 9.4 per cent above the preceding August. They were 23.7 per cent under August, 1929.

The sharpest rise was in rents, which were up 1.4 during the month. They were 9.3 per cent higher than August, 1934, though 22.3 per cent lower than in August, 1929.

Coal prices were up seasonally for a gain of 0.5 per cent. This level still was 3.7 per cent lower than the preceding August, and 9.1 per cent lower than August, 1929.

Men's Clothing Eases.

Men's clothing was the only principal item to decline. Women's clothing prices were unchanged. The entire clothing item showed a decline of 0.3 per cent from July to stand 3.9 per cent lower than August, 1934, levels and 25.4 per cent below August, 1929. The downward trend in clothing has been in evidence for some time, the board added.

The cost of sundries, credited with taking up 30 per cent of the family budget, remained the same as in July. This level was 0.9 per cent higher than the preceding August and 5.4 per cent lower than in August, 1929.

In computing the averages, food accounts for 33 per cent of the family budget, housing for 20 per cent, clothing for 12 per cent, and fuel and light for 5 per cent.

GET GOVERNMENT OUT OF BUSINESS, BANKER URGES

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Robert V. Flemming, first vice president on the American Bankers' association, appealed today to members of the Financial Advertisers' association, in convention here, to "make it possible for the government to get out of business."

Pointing out that the federal government had found it necessary to take over certain functions of banks during the present emergency, he urged members of the banking profession to acquaint themselves thoroughly with the enlarged services which the new banking law permits banks to render to the public. He emphasized, too, that advertising was essential to good banking.

Fleming asserted recent statistics showed the federal government is extending credit in a volume in excess of one-fourth of the total loans of all banks in the country.

BIDS UP TO TWO PER CENT MADE ON ILLINOIS CASH

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Illinois banks today made bids ranging from one-quarter of 1 to 2 per cent for the deposit of state funds held by State Treasurer John Stelle.

The bids, which will not be classified and acted upon for more than a week, were from one-quarter of 1 to 2 per cent on the active funds, subject to immediate call, and from 1 to 2 per cent on the inactive funds. Stelle said 343 banks offered to act as state depositories. The number was about the same as last year.

Plans to increase from $8,689,000 to approximately $16,000,000 the inactive deposits were announced by Stelle in an effort to increase the interest earnings of the treasurer's office. At present, the active funds aggregate $48,000,000. The state's income from deposited funds has been greatly reduced during recent years because banks have been hampered by lack of investment.

8 ROADS OFFER PLAN TO DIVIDE M. & ST. L. LINES

Affects 1,647 Miles in Middle West.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—After six failures to sell the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad on the auction block, dismemberment and division of the road among eight other lines was proposed today by the Associated Railways company in an application to the interstate commerce commission. The line operates 1,647 miles of track, mainly in Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, and Illinois. According to its balance sheet the road has assets of 78 million dollars.

The roads which presented the offer are: Burlington, Great Northern, Great Western, Illinois Central, Milwaukee, North Western, Rock Island, and Soo Line. George W. Hand, assistant to President Sargent of the North Western, is president of the Associated Railways company.

Plan to Divide Up System.

Under the plan the Minneapolis and St. Louis, which has been in receivership since 1923, would be divided mainly among the interested roads, with some of its track abandoned because of inability to operate it profitably. In all over 500 miles would be abandoned.

Shortly after the original proposal was suggested objection was made by territories in the northwest which would be affected by track abandonment and by employés of the road, who were reported preparing a plan to buy the line. Nothing ever came of the employés' plan for purchase.

In addition to its own right of way the road has trackage rights which afford entry to a number of important middle western cities. The proposal for dismemberment submitted to the interstate commerce commission said the road operates from Minneapolis to St. Louis, Peoria, and Chicago, with branches in Iowa and Minnesota.

Trackage Rights Into Chicago.

The road reaches Chicago and St. Louis by trackage rights over other roads. The main line extends from Minneapolis to Oskaloosa, Ia., thence to Peoria; from Albert Lea, Minn., to Des Moines, Ia., and from Hopkins, Minn., to Leola and Alaska, S. D.

Under the proposal the North Western would pay $1,189,000; Burlington, $1,259,000; Great Western or the Milwaukee, $1,664,000 for the interest in the terminals at Oskaloosa and Mason City; Rock Island, $1,087,000; Great Northern, $107,000; Illinois Central, $1,123,000; Great Western, $257,000; Milwaukee, $257,000, and Soo Line, $257,000.

The plan gives the maximum cost to the purchasing roads as $7,200,000, plus amounts which may be necessary to meet existing equipment trust certificates of the road. Several of the roads participating in the plan have applied to the court for aid under section 77 of the bankruptcy act, including the North Western, Great Western, Milwaukee, and Rock Island.

Will Substitute Motor Service.

It was stated towns on the abandoned lines would get truck and bus service. The interested roads hope to salvage $2,000,000 worth of old rail, track material, lands, etc.

In addition to the division of right of way the plan calls for the Mason City, Ia., terminal to be given the Rock Island, North Western and Great Western or the Milwaukee; the Oskaloosa terminal to the Burlington and the Great Western or the Milwaukee, and the Minneapolis terminal may be retained as the joint property of Associated Railways. However, there is an alternative plan under which the Minneapolis terminal may be given to the Great Western, North Western, Milwaukee, Rock Island, Illinois Central, Burlington and Soo Line.

Roads to Pay with Bonds.

The Associated Railways would issue $7,200,000 of ten year 4 per cent bonds to pay for the various properties. The capitalization of the company would consist of 80,000 shares of nonassessable $1 par common stock divided equally between the North Western, Burlington, Rock Island, Illinois Central and the Great Western or the Milwaukee.

8 ROADS OFFER PLAN TO DIVIDE M. & ST. L. LINES

Proposal to Affect 1,647 Miles in Midwest.

The Minneapolis and St. Louis system was formed July 1, 1916, during the world war "boom days." Four months ago, the federal court at Minneapolis ordered its sale. The sale would have left scores of communities without railroad transportation, so the government stepped in and through the Reconstruction Finance corporation asked the eight railroads to devise some plan to save transportation for as many communities as possible. The RFC offered to lend $8,000,000 with which to take over the system. The roads worked out the plan which was submitted today to the commission for its approval.

Congressmen Opposed Plan.

Dismemberment of the Minneapolis and St. Louis has been opposed by congressmen from the states affected by the proposal, as well as by employés of the system and the Railway Executive association.

The congressmen held a series of meetings during the recent congressional session to plan steps to block parceling out of the road and left the capital after receiving assurances no action would be taken without full hearings before the ICC.

Representative Fred H. Hildebrandt of Watertown, S. D., led the movement and was chairman of the congressional committee organized to lead the move against dismemberment. He and others contended parceling out of the road would force many railroad workers out of employment, deprive others of their seniority rights and result in abandonment of road to the detriment of many communities.

COTTON RISES ON LIVERPOOL STRENGTH AND BUYING HERE

Strength in Liverpool and a better run of speculative and trade buying orders lifted cotton futures in leading markets yesterday, Chicago closing at net gains of 5 to 11 points. New York and New Orleans were 9 to 14 points higher. Heavy rains in parts of Texas and in the eastern belt, it was believed, would delay the movement of the new crop to some extent. At the same time the trade fears that hedging pressure will increase on any material upturn in prices, as the producer has nothing to gain by holding back his cotton in view of the government guarantee of 12 cents per pound. Spot cotton closed 10 to 15 points higher, with New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston 10.70 cents, and New York 10.85 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude futures closed firm, 5 to 13 points higher. September, 11.59c per lb; October, 11.64c per lb nominal; December, 11.74@11.76c per lb. Smoked ribbed spot, 11.57c per lb nominal.

PRICES OF BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES DECLINE ¼ CENT

While about 700,000 pounds of spot butter have been bought in the open market during the last two days by interests presumably acting for the Federal Emergency Relief corporation, there has been no official confirmation of the report that the buying was for government accounts. Uncertainty as to whether the buying would continue or not and the probable amount to be taken caused profit realizing to develop in butter futures, and the November delivery closed ¼ cent lower at 26⅛ cents per pound. Withdrawals of butter at the four leading markets Monday were 500,000 pounds in excess of a year ago.

Selling of egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange by longs caused a decline of ¼ cent in the October delivery, with the close at 25¾ cents per dozen. The four markets reported 5,000 more cases of eggs withdrawn from storage than a year ago. Sales of butter were 54 cars and eggs 148 cars. Prices follow:

GOLD SHIPMENTS TO U. S. STEADY FOREIGN MONEY

Bank of Italy Shows Loss in Metal Reserve.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Gold exports from Europe served to improve the position of the leading European currencies against the dollar today, with most of these moneys closing unchanged to slightly higher.

The New York reserve bank reported $12,750,000 in gold from all sources was in sight. With $8,588,000 in gold previously reported as en route to this country from Europe, new engagements amounting to $4,162,000 announced today included two shipments totaling $1,012,000 from Great Britain. India is sending $1,800,000 here while France lost the smallest amount for the day, a shipment of $1,350,000. The first actual gold shipments were reported late yesterday, totaling $3,358,000.

Bank of Italy Loses Gold.

A statement released by the Bank of Italy today showed another sharp loss in gold reserves, used to purchase war materials. In the period from Aug. 20 to Aug. 31 the bank's gold stocks were reduced 197,140,000 lire [$16,166,910], placing total holdings on Aug. 31. at 4,704,476,000 lire, compared with 4,901,616,000 lire on Aug. 20. Since July 31 the country has lost 553,158,000 lire, equal to $45,082,377. Today the officially controled lira advanced ½ point to 8.15½ cents.

French francs were unchanged at 6.59¼ cents above the gold export point, at which price the dollar was equivalent to $1.62 against francs, and based upon the old parity of the franc was worth 59.43 cents.

Sterling Gains; Guilder Weak.

The pound sterling gained ⅝ cent to $4.94⅛ and Scandanavian currencies improved 3 to 6 points. Canadian dollars were the only leading currency to decline, being 3⅛ points lower at 99.75 cents.

The guilder was weak at the opening today at 67.54 cents, off 3 points, but improved in later trading to close unchanged at 67.57 cents, still 7½ points below the level at which it is profitable to ship gold bullion out of Holland to New York.

Figures of gold shipments in August, released today by the department of commerce, revealed that gold has been coming here from Holland despite the fact that the guilder was well above the gold point most of the month. Out of $46,084,999 in gold imports last month $28,000,000 came from Holland.

NEW YORK BANKS VOTE DIVIDENDS; SHARES FIRMER

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Declaration of regular quarterly dividends by two more large banks today—First National bank and Bank of New York and Trust company—had a reassuring effect upon the market for bank stocks and issues which generally were lower at the opening moved up to show slight gains on the day.

The First National bank voted the regular $25 quarterly dividend. The Bank of New York and Trust company declared the usual quarterly of $5. Late yesterday the Manufacturers' Trust company voted the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents.

CHICAGO BANK DIVIDEND.

The Merchandise Bank and Trust company yesterday voted payment of $1, payable Oct. 1. This is the second quarterly dividend—declared since the stock was placed on a $4 annual basis. George B. Everitt, chairman, said deposits continue to increase "on a very satisfactory basis," standing at $8,000,000 currently, compared with $6,800,000 at the beginning of 1935.

BUYERS, SALES AT MERCHANDISE MART INCREASE

Amount of sales and number of buyers in the Merchandise Mart during the first eight months of 1935 have shown substantial increases over 1934 and 1933, with the best months of the year still to come, Mart officials said yesterday.

The monthly average of buyers visiting the Mart during the period Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 of this year was 1,045, which was 83.87 per cent ahead of the monthly average for the full 1934 year. In 1934 an average of 601 buyers a month was listed, which was 6½ per cent ahead of 1933.

This increase in number of buyers has greatly increased sales, according to T. J. Reed, general manager of the Mart. Actual figures are not available, because each manufacturer represented keeps his own books.

Newspaper Circulation Gain Seen Recovery Sign

Substantially improved newspaper circulation figures since 1932, the year in which they reached their depression low, are another indication of improved business conditions, George B. Moffett of the Milwaukee Sentinel said yesterday at the semi-annual meeting of the Central States Circulation Managers association at the Palmer house. Moffett, president of the association, said that nearly every daily newspaper in the central states has made impressive gains on circulation figures in the last three years.

New York and Chicago Bond Syndicates Dissolve

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Dissolution of the offering syndicates on two important municipal bond issues was reported in bond circles today. The largest was that which marketed the $38,000,000 New York City issue in mid-July and the other which more recently offered the $9,647,000 City of Chicago 3½s. Bonds left in the account were distributed to the syndicate members. The new issue of $4,262,000 Detroit 3½ and 3¼ per cent water bonds, offered today, were all sold within a few hours, according to the syndicate managers.

WHEAT DALLIES; TRADERS AWAIT FEDERAL REPORT

Belated Rally Results in Fractional Gain.

Wheat dallied within a one cent range here yesterday, dominated by the inertia usually preceding issuance of the government's monthly crop report, which was due after the close of trading. Prices hovered around previous quotations most of the session, although a last hour rally, while feeble, was sufficient to offset pressure and final prices were fractionally higher, except for May wheat, which ended unchanged.

Similar conditions were found in other pits, with corn, oats, and rye extending their improvement farther than wheat but confining advances to less than a cent a bushel. Considerable evening up was in evidence in all grains. Wheat was subjected to modest hedging pressure, millers purchased small quantities and public interest remained at low ebb.

Minneapolis Weak, Winnipeg Strong.

Early in the session Chicago wheat was adversely affected by easiness in Minneapolis, while in later trading pronounced strength in Winnipeg produced the opposite result. The Canadian market was outstandingly strong throughout the session, ruling about a cent a bushel higher part of the day, and closing near the best level of the day.

Other foreign markets failed to furnish the inspiration they have had recently, but this was not surprising in view of the backwardness of Chicago to follow their advance, coupled with the fact that price enhancement has been rapid and a technical reaction usually follows such a movement. Liverpool was ⅝ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher at the close, Rotterdam lost ⅞ to 1⅞ cents and Buenos Aires was little changed.

Closing prices of principal December futures in Chicago follow:

Corn	.57	.55⅞	.56⅛
Oats	.27	.26¼	.25⅝

Fears for crops in Argentina are growing daily because of prolonged drouth, although sufficient time still exists for an excellent outturn if adequate rains are received. Broomhall, world crop reporting agency, said yesterday that temperatures in the South American country are low, but that rain is threatening and may occur any time.

December corn was aided to some extent by modest buying against sales of wheat, said to be predicted on fears that a squeeze in the yellow cereal is possible.

Reports of the best shipping demand for some time stimulated trading in oats. The September delivery displayed independent firmness because of purchases credited to processors. A fairly liberal truck movement was reported from central Illinois.

PULLMAN SHOWS LOSS DESPITE A GAIN IN REVENUE

The Pullman company, sleeping car affiliate of Pullman, Inc., yesterday announced deficits for July and the first seven months of 1935 despite increased gross earnings. The net loss for July amounted to $21,602, compared with a net profit of $112,180 in July, 1934, and gross earnings for the month totaled $4,209,978, against $3,710,106 a year ago.

For the seven months' period the deficit was $2,263,541, compared with a net loss of $60,142 in the corresponding 1934 period. Gross earnings were $27,702,567, against $25,356,502.

Continuation of the expanded car maintenance program and increased pay roll costs following restoration of pre-depression wages on April 1 were said to be the principal reasons for the less favorable showing this year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—Selected bonds moved into higher ground today under impetus furnished chiefly by the stock market. Utilities and industrials were particularly prominent, while United States government loans were firmer.

Transactions were somewhat under those of previous session with volume of trading amounting to $12,789,000, par value, against $13,881,000 Monday.

Industrial Liens Fare Best.

Best performance was given by the industrial group as better earnings reports for many concerns served to attract attention to their bonds. Outstanding favorites of the day included Manati Sugar 7½s, which rose 5¾ points; Murray Body 6½s, up 3¾; Studebaker 6s, up 1¼, and Lautaro Nitrate 6s, up 1⅛ points.

Government bonds turned in gains of one to seven thirty-seconds point but activity dropped considerably from that of Monday. Volume approximated $2,500,000.

New York Tractions in Demand.

Another buying run on New York traction bonds, based on reports that unification is near, lifted that group substantially. Interborough 5s and 6s and Manhattan Railway 4s and second 4s were buoyant.

Advances of fractions to around a point were shown by Utility Power and Light 5s, Columbia Gas 5s, Federal Light 5s, Western Union 4½s, Bethlehem Steel refunding 5s, International Paper 5s, Remington-Rand 4½s, Louisville and Nashville 4½s, M-K-T 5s, Pere Marquette 5s and Southern Railway consolidated 5s.

HIDE FUTURES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A fairly active trade was on in hide futures with the close 3@10 points higher. Sales were 47 lots or 1,880,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per pound: September, 10.96c; December, 11.22c; March, 11.53c; June, 11.85c; September, 1936, 12.15c.

Solvency of Life Companies.

Investors' Guide: Will the large life insurance companies be able to meet the annuity policies in the face of the low interest rates which prevail and which are likely to stay for some time?—R. H. J.

Answer: We believe that the large life insurance companies will have no difficulty in meeting their contractual requirements despite currently low interest rates. It is still possible to obtain conservative investments yielding an average of more than 3 per cent. Most of the life companies today base their rates on the assumption that they will realize only 3 per cent on their investments.

There is another source of income that these companies enjoy. Mortality tables which the companies use in computing rates are conservatively set up. We know of no legal reserve company that does not make money on the mortality savings.

Furthermore, life companies have a tremendous backlog of investments of excellent quality acquired at a time when interest rates were higher. This offsets in some degree the current low interest rate.

Low interest rates now prevailing would not continue in the event of business recovery.

Northern Electric-Paper Mills 5s.

Investors' Guide: Any information on Northern Electric or Northern Paper Mills 5s, due 1948, will be greatly appreciated.—S. L. D.

Answer: The $3,765,000 of Northern Electric company and Northern Paper Mills joint first mortgage serial 5s, due serially to 1948, are secured by a first mortgage on all assets of the two companies. Northern Electric is a wholly owned subsidiary of Northern Paper Mills. The bonds are the obligations of both corporations.

About 90 per cent of gross, ordinarily, is derived from operations of the Green Bay, Wis., paper mills, the remainder coming from the Green Bay hydroelectric plant.

Net sales, on a consolidated basis, were $4,451,000 in 1934, against $3,817,000 in 1933 and $3,675,000 in 1932. In 1934 fixed charges were earned 1.44 times. In 1933 only 87 per cent of charges was earned, against 71 per cent in 1932. In 1931 fixed charges were covered 1.31 times, while in 1930 they were earned 2.12 times.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1934, including $58,000 cash, totaled $1,812,000 and current liabilities, including $311,000 notes and current bond interest plus $65,000 current funded debt, were $837,000.

The first mortgage bonds are speculative.

REALTY 'RULED FROM GRAVE' IS FORECLOSED

Wacker Corner Returned to Dunham Heirs.

BY AL CHASE.

Conveyance of title to a quarter interest in the southwest corner of State street and Wacker drive by William Waller Jr. and Washington Porter II. by master's deed yesterday to Miss Lucy Belle Dunham recalls one of Chicago's most bizarre real estate situations—the management of a $1,000,000 estate from the grave of John H. Dunham.

For 35 years after Dunham's death in 1893 the property he left, which included the State-Wacker corner, was operated according to his will, which prohibited its sale while his daughter, Miss Mary Virginia Dunham, lived.

Upon the death of this last surviving child, who passed away at the age of 80, several valuable properties were conveyed to grandchildren and to Miss Lucy Belle Dunham. The latter, a much younger cousin, had lived with Miss Mary Virginia Dunham for 20 years in the old Dunham residence at Michigan avenue and Harrison street, adjoining the Congress hotel, since wrecked to make way for a parking station.

South Side Tract.

These properties included a tract of ten acres at 50th street and Dorchester avenue, in the heart of the Kenwood residential district, which had been the Dunham country estate; the Dunham Michigan avenue residence, and the southwest corner of Wacker drive and State street, where the old Dunham store once stood.

Miss Mary Virginia Dunham was the last of the pioneer's three children. Mrs. LeVanche Dunham Roloson died in 1878 and Mrs. Elizabeth Dunham Hawes, wife of Judge Kirk Hawes, passed away several years after. John H. Dunham not only was a large owner of realty and a sugar merchant but he was a founder of the Merchants Loan and Trust company, now a part of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company through merger.

His will gave his daughters authority to dispose of their interest in the real estate by will only and the bequests were not to be effective until after the last survivor had died.

Faith in Himself.

"He had faith in the growth of the city," a relative explained following the death of his daughter Mary Virginia. "For the good of his children he wanted to make them hold the real estate. The rise in valuations, increasing many times since his death in 1893, has proved his foresight."

In 1927 Waller and Porter assembled a site for a huge theater and office building to occupy the entire Wacker drive frontage from State to within fifty feet of Dearborn. They purchased the southwest corner of State and Wacker from Miss Lucy Belle Dunham and three of Dunham's grandchildren, the late Robert M. Roloson, Mrs. LeVanche Dunham, Hawes Boyd of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Fanny Virginia Dunham Shaw of Chicago.

Default of interest payments on four mortgages against this property brought about foreclosure proceedings from the four former owners and yesterday's conveyance of one fourth interest to Lucy Belle Dunham was to satisfy a $120,000 mortgage and accrued interest. Foreclosure proceedings have been started on the other three mortgages.

LARD UNDERTONE FIRMER; PRICES UP 2½ TO 7½ CENTS

Lard futures showed a firmer undertone yesterday on buying induced by the strength in cottonseed oil, hogs, and grain, and the close was at net gains of 2½ to 7½ cents. Longs and trade interests were sellers on the advance. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally 5 cents higher. Reports indicated a slow shipping demand.

There has been a gradual narrowing of the spread in prices between lard futures and cottonseed oil of late. In the middle of August, December lard was selling around 4¼ cents per pound over cottonseed oil, while yesterday the difference was down to around 3½ cents. Cash interests report that competition of oils is still a factor in reducing the demand for lard. Cash lard closed at $15.90; loose, $16.15; leaf, $16, and bellies at $18.50 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today, and with buyers and sellers still apart no sales were reported. The former were believed to be interested at 3.50c pr lb. but only for suitable positions, with these generally held at from 3.55@3.60c.

The announcement by the AAA that 3,998,910 short tons of the offshore quota had already been filled, leaving a balance of 442,514 tons still to come forward was about in line with expectations and had little effect in the sugar futures market here today, where trading was quiet and price changes narrow and unimportant. Prices closed net unchanged to 2 points lower for No. 3 contracts. Sales were only 5,750 tons. The No. 1 contract closed unchanged to 2 points higher with no sales.

Say They Will Not Submit to Law or Its Code.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Sixteen coal companies operating in Harlan county condemned the Guffey soft coal act as the vehicle of five different kinds of unconstitutionality in a suit for injunction against its enforcement, which they filed in federal court here late today.

The companies declared they would refuse to submit to the act and the code it authorizes. The plaintifs listed average sales, which totaled $654,750 a month, on which the act would impose a 15 per cent tax, amounting to $92,000. They contended the tax would practically bankrupt them before they could recover in the ordinary manner the levies they claim are unconstitutional.

Former Judge Files Suit.

Former Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson filed the action as counsel for the sixteen plaintifs. Judge Dawson recently left the bench to reenter private law practice after declaring unconstitutional the NRA, the slum clearance condemnation proceedings, the taxes imposed by the Kerr-Smith tobacco act, and other New Deal measures.

Selden R. Glenn, United States internal revenue collector for the district of Kentucky, was named as defendant, both personally and in his official capacity.

Five Main Attacks.

The action—believed the first mass attack on the Guffey act—charged that it went contrary to the constitution in these ways:

1. It violated the fifth amendment, which forbids taking property without due process of law.
2. It violated the tenth amendment, which reserves to the states, or to the people, all rights not granted the federal government or forbidden the states.
3. It attempts to delegate legislative power.
4. The section levying a 15 per cent tax on all coal production, with a 90 per cent refund to producers submitting to the code provided by the act, is "an unconstitutional attempt on the part of congress, under the guise of taxation, to punish those producers of bituminous coal who are unwilling to surrender their constitutional rights."
5. Congress has no jurisdiction over and no power to legislate upon certain matters covered by the act or the code.

Position of Congress.

Specifically condemned as beyond the power of congress were:

1. The provision for fixing maximum prices.
2. The requirement that producers sell to all customers similarly circumstanced at the same price.
3. The declaring invalid of contracts previously made which conflict with the act and the limiting of contracts made before the code is completed to 30 days duration.
4. The regulation of labor-employer relations and the fixing of wages and hours.

The plaintiffs said none of them intends to accept the code or submit to the commission provided by the Guffey act, but that each "intends to exercise its constitutional right to conduct its business of producing and selling coal, which business is a strictly private one and not affected with a public interest, the declaration of congress to the contrary notwithstanding."

Strategy of U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The government planned tonight to reply to present court assaults on the constitutionality of the Guffey coal control law with the argument that they are "premature."

Justice department spokesmen said that John Dickinson, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust cases, will not directly argue the law's constitutionality when he files an answer Monday to an earlier suit in District of Columbia courts.

Instead, he will contend that because the coal administration has not yet been appointed, an injunction to halt collection of taxes and enforcement of the administration's rules would be premature.

Friend of the Coal User

The Friend of the Coal User will supply information on economical use of coal in an attempt to enable users to meet with less loss the added expense which the Guffey coal law is to load on the Chicagoland public. Inquiries should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Items of general interest will be published.

Hard to Heat.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Due to the probable increase in price of coal soon, I am seeking advice in order to save the extra cost. Have two flats, eleven rooms, with one hot water furnace. The building is brick and 38 years old. I use an average of 16 tons of Pocahontas mine run yearly. I fire the furnace with a minimum waste of fuel. The house faces east, with storm windows on windows facing west only. Recently I found openings around windows and doors between bricks and frame from a quarter to half an inch wide. I find it impossible to maintain a proper temperature in cold and windy weather. Would elimination of these openings help the situation? If so, how is this best done? Are 16 tons too much to use to heat this building? H. J. A.

Answer—It would be very much worth your while to stop the leakage through these openings. Get some one to caulk them. Or else do it yourself with specially prepared caulking materials obtainable in any department store or paint shop and shot into the holes with a caulking gun. You're doing well if you can heat your building with 16 tons of coal.

Seeks Economical Fuel.

Evanston, Sept. 7.—I am heating a small six room cottage with ten foot ceilings with a furnace. Have been using petroleum carbon coke. Will you advise me as to what may be most economical? I don't want to use soft coal. Please tell me how to bank a fire. R. S.

Answer—We recommend range coke as most economical. The coke people will be glad to furnish you with a demonstration of how to bank a fire without charge.

HOG SLAUGHTER DURING AUGUST HITS NEW LOW

Cattle, Sheep Killing Shows Increase.

The nation's hog packing industry operated at a new low point during August when only 1,667,540 head were slaughtered in plants under federal inspection. This compares with 1,712,311 in July, the previous low, with 3,047,033 in January and with 2,641,187 in August a year ago.

During the first eight months of 1935 the nation's packers killed only 17,172,630 hogs, compared with 29,220,482 during the corresponding period in 1934 and 32,099,344 two years ago. These figures indicate the smallest numbers killed under federal inspection in more than 30 years. However, it is believed that for the country as a whole the slaughter goes back much farther than that for a low because of the fact that prior to 1910 many packing plants were not under federal inspection and figures back that far are not comparable.

Cattle and Sheep Gain.

Slaughtering of both cattle and sheep increased during August. The cattle slaughter at 875,070 was the largest since January, comparing with 744,900 in July, and with 669,253 in June. Barring a year ago it is the largest August slaughter since 1918, contrary to the expectations of the trade. A year ago last month the country slaughtered 1,576,204, but of this total 675,787 were killed for the account of the government.

Two years ago the August slaughter was 840,262 and three years ago 632,515 were killed in that month. The number of cattle slaughtered during the first eight months of 1935 at 5,858,573 compared with 7,648,600 a year ago, which included 1,127,240 owned by the government. Two years ago the eight months' total was 5,475,137 and three years ago 5,018,656.

August Calf Slaughter.

Calves slaughtered in August at 472,184 compared with 970,000 a year ago, including governments, but barring a year ago it stands as the largest August slaughter on record.

Slaughtering of sheep and lambs increased to 1,665,449, a new all-time record for August, notwithstanding the fact that the government killed off 3,600,000 head to reduce the supply last fall. The eight months' sheep slaughter at 11,555,149 is only 400,000 short of the all-time record for that period and compares with 10,292,371 in 1934.

PRICES OF LAMBS BREAK AS SALE OF MEAT FALLS

Lamb prices fell fully 25 cents yesterday, the first decline since Aug. 28. The rise in this branch of the live stock market has been sharper than in other meat animals and packers report a falling off of retail buying of lamb meat as a result. Reports from the wholesale lamb trade were not as favorable yesterday and packers demanded lower live costs.

The setback in slaughter lambs did not arrest buying of replacement stock. Farmers searched the yards, paying some of the highest prices in recent years for anything that can be used to utilize some of the bumper crop of hay and other rough feeds produced this year.

Lively competition among farmers for stockers and feeders was a feature of the cattle trade yesterday, and contributed to the support of the general market for thin stock.

Slaughter steers at $10.00 and under and hefers at $9.00 and below as well as beef cows were in demand at stronger rates.

Calves were 15 cents to 25 cents higher, selected vealers at $11.25 equaling the highest point since January.

The rise in wholesale markets for fresh pork was halted abruptly yesterday, due to a sluggish trade resulting from the recent increase in prices, packers reported. However, hogs ruled strong to 15 cents higher, some heavy sows showing 25 cents gain.

MERGER OF TWO GYPSUM FIRMS IS COMPLETED

The National Gypsum company yesterday announced completion of the final step in its acquisition of controling stock of the Universal Gypsum and Lime company. It closed a contract on the stock with the First National bank, with which a substantial majority of the Universal stock was deposited.

Universal for the present will be operated as a subsidiary, and plans now are being made for consolidation of the sales and manufacturing direction of the two concerns into one organization. Melvin H. Baker, president of National Gypsum, has been elected president of Universal and added to its board.
